Welcome to DeadBase 50

This special commemorative edition of DeadBase celebrates the 50th anniversary of the most enduring, unique and influential American rock band in history – the Grateful Dead. Continuing the tradition of providing the most complete collection of data regarding Grateful Dead concerts, both from a statistical perspective and more personal experiential recollections, DeadBase 50 is a mixed bag of a reference book. In response to the countless requests we've received to reprint the last complete edition, this anniversary edition contains a reprint of DeadBase XI plus updates to the master list of Grateful Dead shows, updates to GarciaBase and WeirBase, and new sections for NedBase, Phil Lesh and Friends, The Dead, and Furthur. Along with new reviews, analysis and a brand new discography, we also include a number of new photos.

Due to technical difficulties and the passage of time, we were not able to resurrect the old programs and incorporate the multitude of changes and updates directly into the previous databases. So we've done the next best thing. We've reprinted the last edition (592 pages) and added all the new material (over 400 new pages) into one huge volume.

With a little help from our friends…

As in previous editions, this latest addition to the DeadBase series is the result of the contributions of many people. Mike Dolgushkin was responsible for coordinating all the updates to the Grateful Dead (DeadBase) lists and he would like to thank Scott Stevens, Mark Terry, and especially Charlie Miller for their help in adding to and revising the Grateful Dead lists. Based on the current data that we have available, we estimate that there were approximately 2,333 total live shows by the Grateful Dead over the span of their half century of performing together, although this number is likely to change as more new discoveries come to light over time.

With the support of Ryan Shriver, Stu Nixon compared the last version of GarciaBase from DeadBase XI with the setlists on The Jerry Site and prepared the list of updates to GarciaBase that are included here. Ruth Allison provided several dozen missing setlists to WeirBase. Dave Rosenberg (ratdog.org) took over where we left off with Ratdog and generously provided updates to the setlists from Ratdog, The Other Ones, and The Dead. Bret Heisler (philzone.com) sent us all the setlists from Phil Lesh and Friends (zillions of them!) and all the other combinations of musicians that Phil played with over the years. Thanks to both Dave and Bret we can also present the full collection of shows from Furthur from their 5+ years of touring. We are very grateful to Dave and Bret (and The Zoners too) for their enormous contribution of data for this volume. As you can see from the size of these updates, Bob and Phil have remained very active performing publicly in the years following Jerry's passing and we are honored to provide a forum for their legacies to be documented. On the other hand we must apologize to Mickey and Billy for not being able to provide similar catalogues for them. We have made several attempts to identify sources of information on their musical activities but unfortunately we have not yet been successful.

This edition of DeadBase also includes the new section NedBase which contains a detailed chronology of Ned Lagin's musical adventures with the Grateful Dead in the era from 1970-75. Thanks to Ned and Ihor Slabicky for permission to reprint this material. Major thanks also goes to Ihor for updating his exhaustive Grateful Dead discography and allowing us to include that work here as well.

The Grateful Dead community is also blessed with many excellent writers and we would like to thank and acknowledge the following for their contributions to this book: John Ammons, David Beckwith, David Dodd, Rob Eaton, David Gans, Blair Jackson, J.C. Juanis, Rob Koritz, David Lemieux, Dennis McNally, Nicholas Meriwether and George Prescott.

We would also like to thank the photographers who have contributed their work to DeadBase 50, including: Jay Blakesberg (blakesberg.com), Herbie Greene (herbgreenefoto.com), Rosie McGee (rosiemcgee.com), Susana Millman (mamarazi.com), Stephen Dorian Miner (www.sdmphotography.net), Bob Minkin (minkindesign.com), Joe Ryan (ryanfoto.com), J.C. Juanis, Monika May, Norman Meislich, Robin Nixon, and Alan Sheckter. Photo credits are also given on the page where each photograph appears.

Many sincere thanks go to our printing coordinator and layout editor Freddy Hahne, without whose hours of laborious work this book would not have been possible. Thanks also go to Geoff Nixon for his contributions on the computing side of things.

And finally we would like to express our most sincere appreciation to Robin Nixon and Beth Holzman, whose support and TLC have kept us going during the long hours of this project.

Many thanks to you all!

A portion of the proceeds from the sale of DeadBase 50 will be donated to the Rex Foundation, continuing a charitable tradition that goes back to the very first DeadBase in 1987.

In the early days of the Haight-Ashbury, the Dead used to say that "every place we play is church." If Dead shows were religious services, then DeadBase was our bible. And if every show courted devotion, then the songs were incantations, and set lists were spells—recipes and formulas that showed how the Dead's restless experimentations could combine and recombine musical elements to invoke mystery, conjure magic, and create alchemy.

DeadBase recorded it all. While the project's lasting achievement is a detailed performing history of the band, DeadBase is much more than just that record: part dictionary, part encyclopedia, and part statistical analysis, DeadBase is the Deadhead's Swiss Army knife of reference works, providing a dazzling array of tools for approaching and appreciating the Dead's achievement.

No wonder DeadBase stands as one of the great accomplishments in Deadhead scholarship. Without it, every scholar and writer who has written about the band would tread fearfully: the chronology and performance history and atlas DeadBase provides are the building blocks of any understanding of the Dead. The information compiled in these pages is more than just a sure foundation for assessing the Dead, it is a skeleton key to decoding the band's enduring artistic achievement and cultural impact.

Like so many aspects of the Dead phenomenon, we can see much deeper cultural antecedents behind the creation and evolution of DeadBase. It was not only the first major piece of Deadhead scholarship, it remains one of the most powerful examples of how easily the Grateful Dead experience fit into an academic context. Like the Oxford English Dictionary, which was also the product of thousands of volunteers, DeadBase knit together the collective wisdom of the far-flung world of Deadhead tapers and traders and eventually drew in members of the band's organization, who recognized the importance of the project. In later years, even band members consulted DeadBase to refresh their memory and revisit their past. Deadheads created magic at shows, but what underlay that profound and mystical alchemy was community, and DeadBase is as much an expression of that ethos as the musical legacy that continues to unfold today, as the Vault divulges new treasures, and the remaining members continue to create, alone and together.

In the foreword to DeadBase XI, Steve Silberman memorably wrote that "Because it is about the Dead, there's poetry in the data." The poetry in DeadBase spans every genre, from sonnet to epic, haiku to limerick; it is poetry that goes deep, to the heart of the language that the Dead and Deadheads spoke together. In that way, DeadBase is the ultimate dictionary of the Dead, for its set lists present the foundational vocabulary of the Grateful Dead experience: the songs in context, how they emerged and evolved in performance, their place and their meaning in the history of the band, and in the lives of those who listened, then and now.

That makes this book far more than a fascinating example of modern lexicography, the creation of dictionaries: it is a work of philology, the love of learning and literature on a wide scale. When you read the level of detail and care in these entries, when you peruse the statistical maps that make the daunting accessible, when you sift together the charts and lists and tables and reviews that all describe the "mammoth epiphanies" that a Dead show distilled—this is an expression of the ideals of the Grateful Dead phenomenon. In "Help on the Way," Robert Hunter wrote, "Without love in the dream / It'll never come true." DeadBase is one of those dreams.

DeadBase, in all its Roman-Numeraled glory, is a remarkable piece of popular culture scholarship. The fact that the band played such a variety of songs and thus justified keeping lists is interesting enough; the fact that people started doing so at least as early as 1969 (Judy Parry, a friend of Weir's and an early Dead Head, shared with me lists that she and her sister Jannis made then) is even more interesting.

But list making can be tedious and arduous, and to produce something as complex as DeadBase you need serious motivation. And that is passion – the love for the music that is at the heart of being a Dead Head. The folks that made up the DeadBase team had that in spades, and I hope that you'll keep that in mind as you wallow in the minutiae.

One of my first steps in trying to write a history of the Grateful Dead was to suggest to Rock Scully, their first manager, that it would be interesting to see a list of all the concerts; it was 1980, and nothing like that existed in public. He said sure, and gave me a list that the office staff had prepared from contracts. I noticed it had no Bill Graham Presents shows – evidently, they never bothered with a formal contract – and I went through BGP's list of shows that they'd prepared for the Fillmore box set and added in the Dead ones.

Then it got interesting. I started going through newspaper clippings that Eileen Law showed me, and then Willy Legate (this was before Dick Latvala became the vault guy) let me go through the tape vault looking for dates. And bit-by-bit, a coherent list – even with some obvious gaps – emerged.

In the middle of all that, Garcia invited me to be the biographer, and when I quit celebrating and set to work, I realized that the research job of building the list was a separate challenge. Fortunately, just about that time I heard from John Scott, a computer programmer at Dartmouth, who wanted to assemble a list of shows and songs played. Mike Dolgushkin was doing the same job, by hand (I think it was even a manual typewriter), and my friend Stu Nixon seemed to round out the team nicely with full marks for computer wisdom and Dead Headedness. I gladly gave them my notes and turned them loose. They did – and continued over the succeeding decades doing – a splendid job.

Enjoy!

Thank You For A Real Good Book…

Every job has its manuals, whether it's medical books for doctors or car part listings for mechanics. For my job, it's DeadBase. I distinctly recall being a young Dead Head in the tapers' section at Autzen Stadium in Eugene, Oregon, in June, 1990, when along comes someone selling big, pink books, called "DeadBase II." He let us all look through it, and everyone around me bought one. I almost missed the music, unable to put the book down when the band returned to play their second set. I mean, I'd heard of DeadBase I, and even had DeadBase '88, but this was everything! It was then, as now, a stunning piece of work: not just a listing of every Grateful Dead show ever played, but the setlists to most every show! And little notations of "first time played" (and "first time played since…"!!), all of the minutia of our hobby that Dead Heads are so proud to be able to dictate. All in one handy reference book. A book that predates the age of being able to look up everything at anytime anywhere through the Internet; and a book that has not been supplanted by the Internet as the best and easiest way to look up what we need to know. And DeadBase never crashes, nor loses its connection. This is truly our encyclopedia, and non-believers just never understood how we could just sift over page after page of Grateful Dead song lists. Ya, but, just look at how different every show is! It's all right here in black and white!

Fastforward a decade since that Eugene show and I found myself working under the tutelage of Dick Latvala, who always seemed to have DeadBase in his hands. One time while we were driving from the GD's vault to his house, at a red light, Dick (who was driving), reached under his car's seat to grab DeadBase Jr. to look something up to settle a discussion we were having. By the time he'd found the setlist he was looking for, we'd driven a half mile; Dick Latvala, the man who could drive while reading DeadBase. A few months after this, Dick was gone and I was entrusted with the keys to the vault. With loads of help from Dead Head tapers and scholars, the music releases continued, and I can say with certainty that DeadBase was used in the studio by Jeffrey Norman and myself during the production of each and every Dick's Pick, DVD and vault release. Truly, an invaluable tool. The first time I met Stu Nixon at the Grateful Dead's offices, he asked if I was familiar with DeadBase. I didn't know how to answer, and short of bowing down to Stu and his colleagues with a huge thank you, I told him that, yes, I was familiar, and in fact, I don't think a day goes by that I don't refer to DeadBase. Several times, usually.

We've been fortunate as Dead Heads to watch DeadBase evolve to the stage where it has not only all of the basics (most every setlist, every time played listings, etc) but more specific and detailed things as well (GarciaBase, WeirBase, show reviews and stories, hilarious anagrams, etc). And now, we're lucky to have yet another publication of the first, and still most important, resource for our passion. Thanks, DeadBase guys!

Sometime in early 1988, when I was still in my infancy of discovering the Grateful Dead, I saw my first copy of DeadBase. Seeing the incredible attention to detail and all of the minutiae that went along with it, helped open my eyes to how important the Grateful Dead was, and is, to so many people. The fact there was folks out there devoted enough to this music to compile a book like this told me that I was on to something good and was definitely in the right place. Little did I know at the time, how important this information would become in my professional career.

I remember the days of sitting around with my friends, popping in the cassettes and being turned on to some great shows for the very first time. There was always a copy of DeadBase, tattered and dog-eared floating around the room, filling our heads with the kind of information that make Grateful Dead fans the best, most knowledgeable fans out there.

In 1999, I joined Dark Star Orchestra. I remember talking on the phone to one of our founding members, the late Scott Larned. He told me to make sure I have a copy of DeadBase when I come out for my first tour. That copy is still on the bus, yellowing, with the binding falling off. That book comes out every day.

We literally couldn't do our job without it. The set lists alone are invaluable. It is used to help construct every tour we do. All of the other information helps tremendously in so many ways, and much of it is just plain fun. On an almost daily basis, a question will come up and consulting DeadBase will provide the answer."When was the first time they played this? Who originally wrote and recorded this song? What is the longest version of this song they ever played?" It is not unlike those days when the cassettes were rolling.

DeadBase is an icon all on its own. Something that started out as the passion of some earnest fans has become a mandatory volume in every Deadhead's library. The authors should be proud of what they have accomplished, and we, the fan base, should be filled with gratitude.

Thank you DeadBase.

It's an obsession, but it's pleasin'...

Gather round, kids. I want to tell you a story about a world before the Internet and cell phones and Google and instant access to All the Knowledge in the Universe at your fingertips. A world without DeadBase. That's right, the Dark Ages of Grateful Dead scholarship.

Long before DeadBase was first published in 1987, there was a small cadre of folks—some working independently, some together—who scrupulously collected Grateful Dead set lists, gathering information from tapes, eyewitness accounts and God-knows-where-else: "A friend of a friend of mine was at that show, and he says they definitely played 'Cosmic Charlie' as an encore." There were various people making master lists of the accumulated knowledge; maybe you knew someone who had a version. I don't personally recall encountering any of those lists until the mid-'80s, as I was not that well connected back in the day.

For me, the first big breakthrough in Grateful Dead listology was the appearance of what was billed as a complete show list printed in the back of Paul Grushkin's superb Official Book of the Deadheads back in 1983. Even though I'd been a rabid fan of the band since early 1970, and I could probably rattle off all the shows I'd been to, generally speaking, I didn't have that Grateful Dead List Consciousness yet—I knew places but not many exact dates of shows I'd attended. That Grushkin list, compiled with the help of people in the Dead organization, provided the first opportunity for me to trace my Deadhead history up to that point: "Yes, I saw the Dead at the Fillmore East in May and July and September of '70, and two of those Manhattan Center shows; and I see that Gaelic Park was late August '71," and so on. That list was also the first linear view I got of the Dead's travels through the years, and it gave me more context for shows in what was then my rapidly expanding tape collection. There were no set lists included, but it was a still a big deal to me and many others.

In the winter of 1984, my wife (Regan McMahon) and I started our humble little fanzine, The Golden Road, and in the very first issue, we published the complete set lists for all of the Dead's 1983 shows, assembled from a few different sources. There were a bunch of mistakes, which our readers gently corrected for the next issue, but in general folks seemed to like having the lists, so we continued to have that as a feature in our magazine. And we continued to make mistakes, though fewer in number as time went on: "No, 'Tennessee Jed' was before 'Mama-Mexicali,' and after 'Rooster.'" I never wrote down set lists during a show. The fun part was trying to reconstruct it during the still-psychedelicized car ride home with friends—"Let's see, I know they played something before 'drums'..." and we'd laugh and slowly piece it together. "There was an 'Althea' in there somewhere." "No, that was last night." Good times.

Very early on in The Golden Road's nine-year run, I remember we got a letter asking us if we were going to print set lists from earlier years, and I wrote something along the lines of, "It's my understanding that there are a bunch of different people working on comprehensive collections of Dead set lists, so we'll leave it to them." Phew! Buck successfully passed. "We don't have to do it!"

And sure enough, in 1987, John Scott, Mike Dolgushkin and Stu Nixon published the first DeadBase. Yay! I think we might have put in a few bucks to help it get started, and we gave them free advertising in The Golden Road once they were ready to go. Stu was a friend, Mike became one (and a faithful member of the Golden Road envelope-stuffing army), and I got to know John from afar. Great guys all, and what a fantastic book! Now I could see what the band actually played at the shows I'd attended, and it allowed me to zero-in on which shows in a given series in 1970 and '71 (or later) I'd been to—"Since I never saw them play 'Attics' back in '70, I was at the show the night before that." Or, "Right, it was the 10/2/80 Warfield show where they opened the second set with 'Drums' into 'Comes a Time.' I thought I hallucinated that!" It also became an essential tool for tape collecting—pick out what look like the hot set lists and search for those.

I used to only half-jokingly call DeadBase "The Bible for our age," because it instantly became my Number One reference book for my Dead writings. I referred to it constantly for this, that or the other thing—the date some song was introduced, how often a particular tune was played on a tour, you name it. And with each new edition there would be MORE STUFF, more glorious arcana. Off the top of my head, I can't recall which edition first had the "Every Time Played" listings, or the geographical breakdown of cities and venues, or some of the other cool features which turned out to be indispensable to me as historian and chronicler of the scene. Later editions had reviews, which were always fun to read, even when they were more accounts of getting to the show and meeting up with friends, than about the music—hey, totally valid! And what a score it was when "GarciaBase" made its first appearance in DeadBase, 'cause I really had no memory of most of those shows (and to be honest, seeing lists of 35 Keystone Berkeley shows in a certain year didn't jog my memory of being there some odd Wednesday night, maybe in October—or was it November? I just never had a head for Garcia lists.) Again, the book proved invaluable to me. I also dug the DeadBase annuals (devoted intensively to a particular year) and still consult them from time to time, mostly for the reviews and song timings.

By the time Jerry died in 1995, DeadBase was up to its eighth edition; three more followed—DeadBase XI came out at the end of 1999, and a very seriously dog-eared copy of that still sits by my desk at home, a faithful companion to me for the million-plus words I've written about the band since Jerry's passing in various books, articles and liner notes. (Should've bought the hardcover instead of the paperback!) I'm well aware that there are other list sources that have cropped up online through the years that are maybe more up-to-date or thorough than ol' DeadBase XI. And yes, I would consult those and cross-check some factoids (as well as refer to the multivolume Deadhead's Taping Compendium on occasion), but I just loved, loved, loved DeadBase, and I could fly though it at lightning speed to find out when and where the band first played in Virginia, or to have the entire Europe '81 tour on just two pages for handy reference. I still consult DeadBase often, for many different reasons, and these days, too, I keep a discreet copy of the 5½ x 8½ DeadBase, Jr. on my bookshelf at work. What can I say—I'll always be a print guy at heart.

So I, for one, am thrilled to see the return of DeadBase after so many years. I'll be anxious to dive into the lists of the post-Jerry years, and check out the many updates/changes/corrections the best brains of the Deadhead world have agreed upon to make sure the historical record is as close being "exactly perfect" as it can be.

One last point: Just as Deadhead tapers spread out far beyond the Grateful Dead to capture shows by every act imaginable—setting high standards for audience-made recordings in the process—DeadBase effectively pioneered the concept of comprehensive and exhaustive lists dedicated to one band (OK, there was some serious list-making in Dylan World predating DeadBase), and it has been hugely influential. So many thanks to John, Mike and Stu for all you have contributed through your hard work over the years. We are smarter and happier because of your selfless Deadication!

The Grateful Dead were legendary for never playing the same set list twice. That's one of the ways they built and retained a devoted audience: it really was different every time.

In 1984, while I was working on Playing in the Band: An Oral and Visual History of the Grateful Dead, I wondered how many different songs had been connected to "Dark Star." I called my friend, the master taper Bob Menke, and asked him if he could help me with this question. He invited me to his house and showed me a thick pile of papers: a photocopied collection of set lists, given to him by Mike Dolgushkin. I was astonished and delighted to find that the tedious work of combing through all those tape boxes had already been done!

This was my first encounter with the amazing document that grew into DeadBase. While the Grateful Dead were touring and as this culture of collecting and trading recordings grew, the set lists were a great way to get a handle on which shows to seek out – an unusual combination of songs, a rarely-heard oldie, a brand-new song, etc. This work had been done by individuals following their own obsessions. When Stu Nixon, Mike Dolgushkin, and John W. Scott got together to publish this information, it was a service to the entire community. We welcomed each annual edition, and we cherish the large books that included reviews of shows as well as statistical abstracts. I can easily find out when a given song was introduced, who wrote it, etc.

To this day, I keep DeadBase handy in my studio at all times. When I'm planning The Grateful Dead Hour, I'll scan the lists for a given tour or year in search of an unusual pattern or event that will help me zero in on likely shows to audition. When I'm on the air on SiriusXM's Tales from the Golden Road on a Sunday afternoon, a listener might call with a question or story about a show he had attended; DeadBase will help us pinpoint the date.

It's a fascinating culture in so many ways DeadBase is an invaluable road map of this sprawling musical territory.

When I first came across DeadBase, the book was in its fourth edition: DeadBase IV. Its yellow covers became quite worn over the years—I loved that book practically to death. I remember thinking of the book as an endless treasure trove of information—not just statistics, but a sense of the weight of the body of work being documented by these obviously utterly crazy people. It was so reassuring to realize that there were people crazier about this band than I had ever been, and it sort of goaded me on to become more intense. There's a book about jazz by Valerie Wilmer called As Serious as Your Life, and DeadBase allowed me to feel that way about Grateful Dead music. When I wrote my first paper about the band for a professional conference, I called it "Between Baseball and the Bible," and it was DeadBase, the corresponding book between The Encyclopedia of Baseball and a full biblical concordance, that gave me the thought. Over the course of subsequent editions, which I religiously purchased, I was always amazed by the features that accompanied the basic statistics—a thematic concordance, analyses of every aspect of the concerts, weird anagrams based on song titles…you name it, this crew was up for it! The book made me think that it might be possible to compile a listing of everything ever published about the band (The Grateful Dead and the Deadheads: An Annotated Bibliography), and to annotate all the lyrics (The Complete Annotated Grateful Dead Lyrics). So, it is with gratitude and admiration that I offer these few, utterly inadequate words of praise for the work of Mike Dolgushkin, Stu Nixon, and John W. Scott. You guys made so much good stuff happen through your work.

The Origins of DeadBase – Stu Nixon

While I had been seeing shows since the late 60's, my wife Robin and I started seeing shows together in the late 70's. We were married in New Hampshire in the summer of 1981 and like good Deadheads we spent our honeymoon on tour. We flew from Boston to Seattle and drove down the coast following the Dead's tour down to San Francisco. We never went back, literally.

We first met Dennis McNally through mutual friends soon after our arrival and it turned out we lived about a block apart in the Nob Hill section of San Francisco. Before he became the Grateful Dead's official biographer and publicist, Dennis worked as archivist for Bill Graham Presents, and I was fortunate to work with him on various little projects, most of which involved keeping lists of things like shows, posters, etc. One day in the early 80's Mike Dolgushkin contacted Dennis regarding the songlists he had been keeping over the years and Dennis introduced us. So Mike and I combined our various lists and brought in other sources as well. Sometime in 1986 John Scott contacted Dennis asking about getting the band's permission to publish a book containing GD concert songlists that he had put together on the East Coast and Dennis said that if John wanted to move forward he needed to "do it right" and that meant working together with Mike and myself. And so the partnership was born. Dennis made us promise that if anything ever came out of this project and it made any money, we would donate a portion of the profits to the Dead's charitable organization, the Rex Foundation, which we cheerfully agreed to.

Meanwhile, I had met Dick Latvala soon after he took over the band's vault archiving responsibilities from Willie Legate in the early 80's. Dick and I would often compare lists that came from the vault and his immense tape collection with our ever growing master DeadBase lists. This continued for several years, and setlists uncovered from the vault were added to each subsequent edition of DeadBase as the work evolved. This has continued under the leadership of David Lemieux, and as he continues to comb the vault for more hidden gems, David has generously shared with us his latest discoveries.

In early 1987 when the first edition of DeadBase was just about to go to press, we wanted to get the band's official blessing, so I asked Dick if he would present the project to the next band meeting. On his way to the meeting Dick was carrying a draft of the book when he ran into Phil Lesh. I had met Phil backstage at BCT back in 1985 and it turned out we had some mutual friends back East who were into computers. Phil had a reputation for being pretty computer savvy, and over the years used the handle "kilowatt" as his online persona, a nickname he was given back in the Acid Test era. According to Dick, when Phil saw what he was about to present at the meeting he said that he knew me and that he would present it to the band himself. At least that's the story that Dick liked to tell. Phil tells me he can't remember.

So the band approved, and the first edition of DeadBase was published in 1987 and continued each year until DeadBase XI was released in 1999. In addition to new editions that contained updates to previous releases, we put out annual year-book style books every year as well, from 1988 until 1994, entitled Deadbase 88, DeadBase 89, etc. These editions contained very in depth details on the shows from each year. One of my favorite parts of these books was the bibliography section. My job was to visit with Eileen Law in the Dead office and go through all the newspaper and magazine clippings that they received from their clipping service and copy down the titles, authors, etc. of all the articles from each tour and include them in the annual books. Spending time at the Dead office with Eileen was a real treat for me.

One footnote I often like to recall is a conversation I once had with Jerry Garcia backstage at Shoreline Amphitheater in 1989. I asked Jerry if he thought we were a little too compulsive putting out such a detailed book on the band's performances. He said he didn't mind it at all. As a matter of fact, he related a time when he was a big fan of live Bluegrass music and would keep lists of songs from the shows he attended. He even talked about traveling around with David Grisman recording concerts by Bill Monroe and other Bluegrass bands using their reel-to-reel tape recorder much the same way that Dead Head tapers recorded his concerts. I was very much relieved, well, actually thrilled to hear that.

2-24-71 – Capitol Theatre , Port Chester, NY – David Beckwth

I kind of saw this show. While technically I wasn't born yet when the show physically occurred, a copy of the show being blasted over The Capitol Theatre house speakers in 2013 was a worthy substitute. Dancing to the Grateful Dead – be it during shows, while at home or venues like this – is such a wonderful release. Nothing else matters during those precious moments. While those moments are much fewer these days, that makes a night like this all the more worthwhile.

I wasn't really sure what to expect when I headed over to the venue. How many people would be there? What type of people would be there? How would the sound come across? The floor in front of the soundboard was cleared of all chairs allowing ample dancing room. Around 35 minutes after the show said it would start (some things never change) Blair Jackson came onstage and provided some warm memories of The Cap and the band from that era. He also mentioned how the mix we would be hearing that night was the first time that particular mix was released. At some point this show was apparently considered a candidate for a Vault release. The crowd was surprisingly similar to an actual show: the old guard, high school kids, a dancing group of hippie chicks. The only thing missing was the taper's section. Onto the show.

Casey Jones started with a bang and it was immediately apparent that the sound was gooooood. For whatever reason the Me & My Uncle was not played, but Cumberland was a scorcher! The pace was frenzied and people were into it. I started out in the balcony, but regret not being on the floor for this one. I made sure to remedy that. The remainder of the first set was performed very, very well. The band was clearly having a good ol' time playing whatever they wanted. Pigpen was especially on fire this night and he belted out another strong Hard to Handle. The Good Lovin was ferocious. When Billy's drum solo kicked in, at some parts it really did sound like two dummers up there. I seriously wonder if Pigpen gave him some percussion help on this night to ease the transition process of Mickey's departure. As the song ended all I could do was shout out, "Best Good Lovin Ever!" much to the amusement of those around me.

I've always thought of 1971 as being one of their more mellow years, but the energy on display here has honestly made me rethink that. I've been going back to it more and more. The main thing I've found since is that the shows need to be played LOUD! Sometimes the mix on the 1971 shows can have too much air and warmth, but when full and crisp the energy really comes through.

The second set began with a fun yet somewhat sloppy Sugar Magnolia. The King Bee was dripping with classic blues. Slinky and sexy, Pigpen let no one forget who was in charge. The Minglewood that came later was massive. Bobby screamed out the lyrics and the whole band was a thick wall of sound. Awesome stuff. The Jam portion of the evening was more rock than space with a strong Truckin followed by an excellent NFA and then an even better GDTRFB. The ending of GDTRFB was stretched out much longer than usual and the ending jam was gorgeous. Very pretty and very unique. Then back into NFA followed up by a killer Lovelight. The rap was hilarious and Pigpen played a rugged matchmaker on this special night. The perfect ending to a lively show. I haven't yet re-listened to it on tape, but look forward to doing so. For now, I'll just enjoy the memories. Here's hoping this becomes a regular thing at The Cap.

4-8-72 – Wembley Empire Pool, London – David Beckwith

The Dead are on fire for this second show of its European adventure, delivering some of the finest moments of the tour. The Dark Star>Sugar Magnolia>Caution is a triumph and is something we've all had for quite some time courtesy of David Gans and the Grateful Dead Hour, but the rest of the show is not to be overlooked. Having this gem officially released along with all shows from this tour is a blessing.

Bertha kicks things into high gear with Jerry belting out the second stanza. The band is VERY tight from the get-go and you can immediately tell this show will be far superior to the previous night. It's no surprise they need to fix a string after this version. Some lively stage banter begins, which is a reoccurrence throughout this show – always a good sign in my opinion. Me & My Uncle comes next and Billy really starts to stretch his legs – and arms! I've always thought that this is the tour when Billy came into his own as a solo drummer. In fact, one might be able to pinpoint that it was this show specifically. The following Mr. Charlie is tight and funky, just as it should be. What a fun song and always a treat on a setlist. Deal was still in its country stage at this point and Black Throated Wind is particularly nice. It really is amazing they were able to play all these new songs with such gusto right off the bat. Next Time You See Me is pleasant and bouncy with strong vocals from Pigpen. Up next, the blistering Cumberland featured on the Europe 72 album. Not much new to say here except that it demands a listen in this exceptional sound quality upgrade. The comical Yellow Dog Story comes next and I have no idea how Bobby kept it all straight. Brown Eyed Women is diligently played until a minor vocal flub. Easily forgivable. The always welcome Beat it on Down the Line is up next and is nicely propelled by Billy. At the song's conclusion Phil states, "right on." Tennessee Jed is its usual funky self, played with a more upbeat tempo in this era. I wonder what all of the Europeans thought of all the Americana played in these first sets? I tend to think they ate it up. I find the versions of Playing in the Band from this tour to have the most delicate and beautiful intros. This song in particular gained so much on this tour which is evidenced by the length of the versions. This one clocks in around 11 minutes, but by the end of the tour 16 minutes was the norm. As the structure fades Jerry comes in with some mellow feedback that he plays around with for a minute as the band keeps things pulsing forward with high energy. The wah-wah pedal soon arrives and Jerry jumps in with the rest of the band. I really dig the frenzied pace of the Playin' jams from this tour. The energy stays lively with a tight Good Lovin', a song that was arguably never better than on this tour. Due to the Pigpen raps, I'm sure people at the time were saying how "Good Lovin is the new Lovelight." Looks Like Rain is sweet and tender with the cradling pace of the pedal steel; an excellent version that was also featured on the original Europe 72 album. The set closing Casey Jones has that classic vibe to it while having a steady locomotive of a finish.

I love the second set opening stand-alone Truckin's from this tour. Pigpen's organ adds a unique element. The jam must have had the whole theatre jumping up and down. The following Big RxR Blues is another lively rendition of this fun tune. I love the snap the versions from this era have. Hurts Me Too is as deep into the blues as they'll get in 72. It's also incredibly heartfelt and shows patience and excellent musicianship.

Next: arguably the finest Dark Star of the tour. A benchmark version. Jerry is constantly searching for new ideas at a dizzying, swift pace. The rest of the band is always there to pick right up on new themes and they weave an intricate tapestry of notes and moods. It's almost hard to keep up with them while listening. As they head back to the main theme it's as if the whole band breathes a sigh of relief. The space that follows the first verse is both delicate and dissonant. Very pretty with each note serving a textural purpose. It eventually turns darker although not a full Tiger Jam and right on its heels a glorious jam is born. It defies description, but it has elements of Mind Left Body Jam, China Cat Sunflower and Sugar Magnolia. Not bad! Dick Latvala once said it reminded him of Donovan's song "First there is a Mountain" and I can't disagree. Just as the jam begins to get a hair shaky Billy comes in with a snare beat that Jerry immediately latches on to and they're off and running. This is one of those moments the band and its fans live for - spontaneous improvisation that dances along the top of a pin. For good measure, Jerry throws in some heavenly notes a few moments before the official, smooth transition into Sugar Magnolia led by Bobby. At this point everyone on and off stage must have been in awe.

The Sugar Magnolia is as good as one would expect and as it winds down I envision Phil and Jerry leaning into each other saying, "Let's do fuckin' Caution!!!" This version is no-holds-barred / in-your-face from moment one. The band hasn't been this primal since mid-1970. The pace is frenzied while having incredible focus. After the first verse Jerry does some amazing slide guitar work before delving into new territories. There's so much going on here that it really needs to be heard to be believed. Eventually things wind down while featuring some nice harmonica from Pigpen before coming to a standstill. BUT! The best part of the song comes next - Phil drops these massive chords ushering the song back in and the pace is even more frantic than ever. They soon build it up to a boiling crescendo to finish off this monster jam. Wow. Just, wow. The One More Saturday Night encore Bobby dedicates "to tonight" and picks up where Caution left off as it's one of the more raucous versions they've done. Surprised they had the energy for that. All in all a tremendous, tremendous show. If you don't have it, get it.

Statistical Analysis of 1973 – John Ammons

Since I'll be attending the Phil & Friends " 1973"celebration at Terrapin Crossroads next Monday night (Stu Allen and Rob Eaton sitting in as Jerry and Bobby and Rob Barraco sitting in as Keith) I thought I'd do some custom analysis with my Deadbase. Since I'm a certifiable freak, it was inevitable that this would get a bit out of hand.

In this spirit, I offer the following, sure to make some eyes roll:

I wanted to get a statistical sense of where '73 fits in, songs played wise, with other years in the "modern era" which I will conveniently describe as 1972 forward. I think a good case can be made that said nebulous "modern era" began when Keith joined the band, but since the sample size is too small in '71 I'm defining it starting with '72. In addition to '73, I analyzed '77, '83, and '89 to look for a periodic evolution of song patterns. Part of the reason for including those years is none of them featured an inordinate amount of unusual one off stuff, like guest appearances, acoustic sets, etc. Also, the number of shows was somewhat consistent throughout these years, with a high of 73 shows in both '73 and '89, 66 shows in '83, and a low of 60 shows in '77. But for the purpose of this investigation, I'll conveniently overlook the slightly disparate show tsotals.

Obviously I went into this assuming more unique songs would be played in a given year as time went on, but I wanted to get the sense of a pattern (if there was one) of the percentage of songs that were in heavy rotation vs. those that were played more occasionally. The extent to which these numbers go to suggest "predictability" is a bit of a misnomer; in '73, for example, Morning Dew could open the show or show up late in set 2 while in the '80s it was highly unlikely to be anywhere but the ballad slot. In fact, many more song in '73 were likely to appear in either set vs. the later years.

So with the goal in mind to uncover the degree of less often played songs in these sample years, I randomly set the threshold of "not in heavy rotation" at 10 appearances of a given song. A somewhat arbitrary cut off point to be sure, but I think as reasonable as any, not to mention easy to read on the Deadbase columns as single digits! I also decided to throw out spurious data, i.e. if a song appeared just once and that appearance was clearly driven not by what the band would have played but by virtue of a guest musician. Armed with these parameters, we find the following:

1973: 68 different songs and only 12 songs < 10 times. Throwing out the two unprecedented songs played at RFK with The Allman Brothers (That's Alright Mama and It Takes A Lot To Laugh, It Takes A Train To Cry) we are left with 66 songs and 10 occasional songs.

1977: 74 different songs and 19 songs < 10 times. Nothing to discard here, so 74 songs and 19 occasional songs it is.

1983: 89 different songs and 37 songs < 10 times. Throwing out the Brendan Byrne Stephen Stills driven appearances of Black Queen and Love The One You're With plus the John Cipollina New Year's Eve Goodnight Irene leaves us with 86 songs and 34 occasional songs.

1989: A whopping 127 different songs and an equally whopping 52 songs < 10 times. Four of these songs need to go, all played in Los Angeles: Monkey and the Engineer with Dylan plus How Long Blues, CC Rider, and I'm a Man with Spencer Davis (CC Rider would not rejoin the rotation until 1991). This leaves us with 123 songs and 48 occasional songs.

In the event anyone is still reading, here are my math/conclusion(s):

1973: 66/10 = a rate of 15.2% of songs that were played but not heavily.

1977: 74/19 = a rate of 26.7%.

1983: 86/34 = a rate of 39.5%.

1989: 123/48 = a rate of 39%.

So, what to make of these numbers? I suppose they bear out what I was expecting to see going into this research. In '73, there were less total songs as well as a smaller percentage of unusual songs. Although set lists were long, they were mostly constructed of the same material albeit in less predictable slots than in later years. By the late 70s, a bit more material had crept into the setlists, and while many songs were played virtually night in and night out the occurrences of less played songs increased. As the 80s unfolded, many more unique songs joined the party, and not surprisingly wißth the increase in material there was also an increase in relative rarity. But what's interesting is that from '83 to '89, while the number of songs increased by almost 50%, the percentage of songs played less often remained almost identical.

With all that said, I'm anxious to see what Phil's modern interpretation of '73 is all about…One can just hope that it's more interesting than this dissection.

"Bertha" Olympiahalle 9/14/74:
Anatomy of a Solo

I recommend SIRMick's remastered edit, ShnID-32641, of Hanno Bunjes's transcription from Gerhard's master reels, ShnID-6162 -- with one caveat. As SIRMick remastered Hanno's unpatched transcription, "Prelude" is missing on his release. I patch in at the top of Disc Two the "Weather Report Suite" from the patched transcription, ShnID-9890, which features "Prelude" (but does feature a glitch circa 01:27 in "Weather Report"), and the notes to which are illuminating in this regard:

"This audience tape was mastered by Gerhard Schinzel from mid-floor using a Philips mic and a Telefunken reel deck. The reel masters were transferred to CD by Uli Teute and were re-mastered by Dave Greenberg. The beginning of the reel containing WRS is now damaged and unplayable. This portion -- the first 1:20 or so of WRS -- is supplied from a safety cassette (MAR > C > CD). Uli Teute did this patch."

Though Charlie Miller did a great job as usual in his soundboard transcription, ShnID-30653 (which borrows "Bertha" through 05:20 of "Scarlet Begonias" from one of the audience sources), I prefer Gerhard's recording. It's so soulful.

My general comments on "Bertha" are as follows:

Beautiful transformation of a straight-ahead 4/4 rocker to a 12/8 lullabye shuffle. Dr. Kilowatt provides great phrasal punctuation, envelopment, and sweet counterpoint to Jerry's pronounced and powerfully propulsive rhythm. Bobby's filagrees are tasteful and welcome, as are Keith's wry right-hand partial figurings and arpeggios. From the get-go, Billy's supple closed-high-hat syncopations buttress the shuffle feel and buoy Jerry's efforts. This is one of those few, special shows where Jerry is able to bifurcate his attention so successfully and seamlessly that it sounds as though he as the singer and he as the rhythm guitarist are two different musicians in perfect synch. It is astonishing when his command is so complete that he can comment on his own singing with thematic guitar figures and fills without missing a beat. This is also one of those few and special shows (Providence 9/15/73 and Fresno 7/19/74 are others) where Jerry hears his sound in the hall and responds to it musically, jamming with the reflections -- a phenomenon captured only on the audience recording, which is soaked in wholesome reverb and epic decay. Haunting jubilation. Is this rendition of Hunter's double-entendres (he confessed at Kepler's Books in 1990 that "Bertha" was a fan -- a stand-up, full-length floor fan that used to migrate across the floor fairly quickly, running at full force, while Jerry was practicing scales and eating chow mein in the back room at Fifth and Lincoln) one of comic resignation? Reflective sadness? Plaintive

Jerry's solo begins circa 03:25 and lasts for a single verse, over thirty-two bars. It is quintessential Garcia. Jerry's motivic development is remarkable, his phrasing impeccable, his playing sure-footed yet playful, good-humored yet full of plaintive, plangent beseechments. He contrasts asymmetry with symmetry in a way that is as intellectually gripping as it is emotionally liberating, and interrupts himself repeatedly, joyfully, and expressively by truncating bar lengths, syncopating his phrases, and staggering them over bar lines. His registral leaps are startling for their escalations, yet remarkable for their concinnity: his return throughout the solo to registral markers reinforces emotional continuity; his evasion of the tonal center at the halfway mark defeats our expectations and keeps us guessing; and his return to the tonal center and to the melody out of the solo and into the chorus reminds us of what a solo should do: move the song along, then bring it back again refreshed.

Note the reiteration with variation of two tactics throughout the solo: upward bends and triplets (three-to-a-bar note groupings, perfect for 12/8 time). Roughly, here's the breakdown bar-by-bar:

Upward Bends
2-5-7-10s
12-13-14-15
18 (double-bend)
21-22-23-24
27-29

Triplets4-5
8-9-10-11
13-14-15-16
23-24-25-26-27-28-29 (seven-bar cascade)
30-31

Though this analysis reveals haiku-like symmetries and asymmetries, the whole solo starts off late-on-the-bar with a ten-note exposulation that is flabbergasting for its syncopation and breathtaking in its celerity and commitment. The man is clearly thinking on his feet here. Then, just looking at the bends, we have bend, two bars, bend, one bar, bend, two bars, bend -- a symmetrical syntactical unit. Then, two bars later, a four-bar-in-a-row bend-fest (with perfect intonation, all notes hit, all verities observed). Then, three bars later, in the third bar of the measure after the halfway point, double-bend -- right through the beautifully asymmetrical roof of the Olympiahalle (sort of like Clyde Beatty meets Leibniz). Then, three bars later (not two), another four-bar-in-a-row bend fest (like the first one, a full measure -- but begun in the middle of a measure). Then, three bars later (not two), bend bar bend -- another symmetrical syntactical unit.

Looking at the triplets, we see a similar approach: middle-of-the-measure two-bar run, then three bars, then a four-bar-in-a-row run, then two bars, then another four-bar-in-a-row run, then seven bars (clever), then a seven-bar cascade (as many triplets as there just weren't), then two bars, then a two-bar run. Only the middle unit -- the second four-bar-in-a-row run -- falls at beginning of a measure .

Now think about this. Jerry was overlapping these approaches (though he doesn't bend in a triplet figure, he abuts bends with triplets and triplets with bends) and alternating them. Ten-note blitzkrieg intro, then overlapping bends and triplets, then triplets, then bends, then overlapping bends and triplets, then bends, then overlapping bends and triplets, then triplets, then overlapping bends and triplets, then triplets, then the outro. And he was watching his dynamics, and he was alternating the stresses in the bar lines (syncopation again), and he was altering his tone note-by-note for maximum emphasis and impact.

All this while stroking off a solo that is as sparkling and effortless as stimulating conversation. Jerry sounds like he's speaking out loud; his cadences are those of speech. In this, speech and music are alike: they both have syntax. But instrumental music's great limitation -- the lack of the verbal to explicate meaning -- is its great advantage: the compensatory use of the expressive to suggest meaning. I couldn't say for sure what Jerry's trying to say, and it's really not that important what his original intentions were. What matters is that what he has to say carries great meaning, even if that meaning seems obscure.

I close by confessing that all of what I've written taken together is not in the same league of meaning as is one note of Jerry's playing.

5-8-77 – Barton Hall, Cornell – David Beckwith

No Grateful Dead show has ever been as polarizing as 5-8-77 Cornell. Like licorice, people seem to love it or hate it. I tend to think that such disparity of opinion helps show the prowess of May 77 as a tour. For many of us, this was one of the first tapes we ever received from those more educated friends and mentors of ours. One can't deny the mass appeal: pristine sound quality mixed with classic Dead songs that are performed very well. I'm sure a few people didn't think that much of it from the beginning and that's fine. But I think a lot of people felt it was "cool" to dislike Cornell as they became exposed to more and more tapes. That type of mentality happens with many things in life and is unfortunately the way things are. What we shouldn't lose sight of is that objectively this is an excellent show. The best ever? That's so subjective I'm not really sure what that question means. One of the top shows of May 77? That's a fair statement.

One thing that separates this show many others in the 70's are the recordings. Yes, recordings as in plural. At this point, and available to us all, are the following: 1) the original Betty Board SBD we have all come to know and love over the years. 2) two excellent AUD recordings. 3) two spectacular Matrix recordings. As is often the case, I have a preference for the Matrix recordings. When they are mixed "just exactly right" they are tough to beat. Both Hunter Seamons and Dan Haugh provided perfect examples of what may be the ideal way to experience Grateful Dead recordings. The Betty Board SBD with no generation loss is crisp and clean. If anything that is its only fault. Sometimes on the slower songs it sounds like there is too much empty space between the instruments, something Betty herself was after at the time. With this source the show doesn't seem to distinguish itself too much from other May '77 tapes. To tell the truth, I actually prefered my 5th generation SBD from high school over the lossless source. It was a bit grungier. If the show is ever released hopefully the final mixdown will be a bit tighter like the 5-25-77 Dave's Picks #1.

The AUD recordings by Jeff Stevenson and Jerry Moore are some of the best you'll hear from '77 especially Stevenson's who was 10 rows back from the stage dead center. Wow! Makes you wonder how well regarded this show may have been if the Betty Board didn't exist years ago and we only had this AUD recording. I have a feeling it would have been held in high esteem if kept a bit more underground. It's interesting that years ago I never even knew an AUD existed let alone one of this high quality. It was only after discovering archive.org that I came across it. The Matrix recordings combine the best of everything and put the listener front and center at the show. The instruments are bright and warm and you can feel the audience clapping and whooping away all around you. It adds a ton of character to the somewhat sterile SBD while making the AUD recordings crisper and fuller. It makes the show feel fresh again after all these years which is no small feat. Tip of the hat to Hunter and Dan. Now, onto the music.

While this show doesn't have the spacy-ness of 5-4-77 or the pretty-ness of 5-22-77 or the rugged-ness of 5-28-77, it does have one unique aspect unto itself this month: a strong bluesy undercurrent. Many songs have a depth and swing to them rarely seen. This element is particularly evident in Minglewood, Scarlet>Fire, St. Stephen>Not Fade Away>St. Stephen and One More Saturday Night. Granted, some of these are blues songs to begin with, but all are deeper than usual here. The country songs also seem to have more twang to them. It's as if the band really wanted to discover the essence of each song. I can almost see how some may call parts of this show boring as it doesn't have twists and turns and ups and downs like many others. Where it lacks those aspects it more than makes up for them in focus and determination.

Minglewood sets a strong tone for the night with its aggressive demeanor. This version seems to have something bubbling beneath the surface that explodes out with some powerful chords from Jerry just after Bobby begins singing the verse following the guitar solo. If this show was opened with any other song it wouldn't have been the same. I've never been as big on the Loser as others, although I do think it's excellent. I think that speaks more to this song being consistently good than anything else. The following El Paso creates an intimate setting out of a large, hulking gymnasium. For me, it's They Love Each Other where they truly start to settle in for the night. The tempo is perfect and the groove is undeniable. Jerry's guitar almost sounds regal. While all band members were on fire this night, I've always felt that it's Keith who particularly shines and that first becomes apparent on his solo here. Not to be outdone, Jerry starts his by taking his notes from floor to ceiling in a matter of seconds. Fantastic. Jack Straw has a cowboy vibe to it as the quickened pace sounds like a horse at full gallop. The band pulses with energy while not being over the top. Kudos to them for bringing the song back at such an opportune time in their career. Deal starts off with a bang of twang. It has a celebratory feel to it and is very tight. The music is flowing from band to speakers to audience at this point. Everything is effortless and it's as if they can do no wrong. Lazy Lightning>Supplication is as smooth and slinky as ever. Keith adds that unique eerie quality with his organ while the rhythm section lends the disco vibe. This is definitely a song for the moment of the late '70's/early '80's and there's no way it could have worked at any other time without feeling gimmicky. The transition is seamless and perfect and Phil seems to be having a lot of fun at this point. Another highlight of the first set comes next in the form of a dignified Brown Eyed Women. Jerry's having so much fun that he extends his guitar solo for a second round where he hits one of my favorite notes of the show in a glorious bend, quickly tucking it back into a flurry of notes to end the solo. Perfect! Mama Tried is a typically excellent version of this fun song with perhaps a bit more energy than usual. The Row Jimmy that follows is one of the better ones out there. The sound is big and grand and the mood haunting. This is another song where Keith has a chance to shine and he takes it upon himself to do so. Jerry's slide solos are emotive and inspiring. The words "crest" and "arc" come to mind as his sounds evoke the shape of a crescent moon. A fantastic version that is a big departure from its playful days in '73. Next comes arguably the highlight of the first set: perhaps the finest Dancin' in the Streets of the era. Phil's bass during the opening lyrics is round and lovely, each and every note fully audible. And then the jam begins. It's as if the tightness the band has been displaying thus far runs wild in a crazed disco dance. If this doesn't get one out on the dance floor I don't know what would. Garcia's guitar just does not quit and the wah-wah effect he uses sounds like each note wants to eat the next one. Rather than being free and loose, the bass, drums and piano are very focused and create a powerful stomp allowing Jerry and Bobby to do what they need to do to get it done. In the middle of the jam just before the 9 minute mark Jerry finds a groove that tears the roof off and is one of my favorite moments of the month - I just wish it lasted longer! It's a groove I often find I have stuck in my head. It amazes me that the band could do something so unique and spontaneous and not remember to ever do it again. Hence the reason why we all wanted to hit as many shows as possible! As the song winds down I imagine them nearly collapsing from exhaustion.

The second set is legendary and there's certainly some truth behind the hype. It may be short on paper, but not on jams. Scarlet begins with a pounding of the drums and one hardly notices the rest of the band coming in as Phil is so prominent. He's moving up and down his fretboard so quickly and smoothly it's almost dizzying. Jerry's voice is crystalline and the music is thick and joyous. Jerry's solo is mellow and triumphant. At one point he pauses only to next deliver some of the sweetest notes he's bestowed on this song. The crowd is into it. As the transition begins Keith shines once again. He holds down a circular pattern of notes for the first several minutes that keeps the rest of the band grounded as they noodle around. It's some of the more monotonous and yet important playing Keith has done. Donna's ooohhs and aaahhs are subtle and act as mere accents. Jerry dances across his guitar while the drummers are utilizing numerous tones. When Keith finally changes key the rest of the band takes notice and the jam truly begins to get out there. Things are tense yet relaxed. It's a good moment to be a Deadhead. There are nearly 5 minutes where it's no man's land between the two songs until Fire gradually begins to take over the jam. Imagine hearing this song for the first time like this which many people in attendance likely were. It's Jerry who finally announces Fire, but it's so subtle you can easily miss it since they've been just about there for a while now. The tempo is sublime and creeps under your skin. The intro is long and relaxed. The crowd is quiet, taking it all in. After the first verse, Jerry's first solo walks around the main theme and slowly begins to build upon it. Some lyrics are almost flubbed in the second verse, but no one's paying attention to something so trivial. The next solo separates the men from the boys. Jerry nails the standard Fire peak, then mellows out a bit only to take things into overdrive with intense shredding that builds to a crescendo rarely heard with this song. It's fine for one to prefer other versions, but at the end of the day this is a benchmark Scarlet>Fire.

The following Estimated Prophet is the only thing standard about this set. It's excellent as is every other May '77 version, but nothing more than that. The main distinguisher is the Matrix recording making the song pop more than usual. St. Stephen begins the final jam innocently enough. It's soon apparent that this is no normal St. Stephen as the bluesy groove is infectious. The band is locked in and moving along with the audience. The music is flowing. Spirits are high and there's a whiff of nostalgia in the air. Not Fade Away begins slowly and deliberately. The pace shows the band is focused and wants the audience to pay attention. This is serious business. The sound feels big and expansive. The lyrics of the first verse are direct and in the second more playful. The fun begins the moment the second verse ends with Jerry screeching out notes. Things are definitely more intense now. The band is taking its time and digging deep into the song. So much so that at times it's almost monotonous, but yet they still keep you engaged. The music builds into a frenzy at one point before pulling back. Bobby is the first to attempt to go back into St. Stephen, but this is a failed plan as the rest of the band wants none of it. My favorite moments of the song are still ahead starting with Jerry bringing back the NFA beat with authoritative chords. Soon after Phil gains prominence and starts going at it with the Drums. Bobby throws in some fun chords as well for good measure. The drummers then begin circling each other in a frenzy of drum rolls. Dragons chasing each other's tails. Awesome stuff. Finally it's time for St. Stephen to re-emerge. When the song's main theme kicks back in Jerry lets loose with a few notes that soar to the rafters.

I always wonder if the Morning Dew that comes next was pre-planned or spontaneous. I'm guessing the former, but that doesn't take away from it. Jerry's opening note is as forceful as ever and as the song takes form it is a study in delicacy. Jerry's vocals echo throughout the hall as he leads the band. The first build up is steady and sweet. Things quiet down and come to a near standstill for the "guess it doesn't matter anyway" segment. As the vocals fade Keith again comes out strong with some gorgeous chords. The spotlight soon crosses over to Jerry. To say the band is on for this portion is an understatement. Words do not do it justice and as John W. Scott mentioned, this is one of the Dead's finest moments. The buildup is unequaled with both Bobby and Jerry fanning away until their guitars sound like they are literally boiling. The band really wants to make this one count and they certainly do. After the final crescendo, Keith lets loose with a monster roll down the keys that puts the final stamp on this epic version. Did the band know what they just did? I tend to think so.

The One More Saturday Night may seem anticlimactic at first, but listen closely and you'll hear one of the better ones they've done. This version has a swing unmatched to my ears. They're really into it which isn't something I normally say about this song. Bobby is yelping like mad. At one point 3 and a half minutes in they get into a quick stomping groove that is one of the highlights of the show for me. The final chorus begins with the band giving its all. I'm sure no one wanted things to end, but so it goes.

Say what you will about this show, but when it comes down to it, regardless of preferences, it's a damn good one.

8-20-81 The Jerry Garcia Band - Keystone, Berkeley-
J.C. Juanis

For as long as I can remember I was always a fan of Jerry Garcia. Of course growing up while he was creating much of his best work, especially with the Grateful Dead, his records revealed a multifaceted musician capable of playing rock, blues, jazz, bluegrass, and country. Moving to San Francisco gave me the opportunity to attend many Grateful Dead concerts and even more Jerry Garcia Band shows. I actually preferred Jerry with his own band because it really gave him the opportunity to play longer guitar solos. When somebody asks me what was the best Jerry Garcia show that I ever saw, I don't have to think at all, and I always tell them August 20th, 1981 at the Keystone, Berkeley.

At that time I lived on San Francisco's Nob Hill, and The Stone in San Francisco was literally a walk away from my 4th floor walkup apartment with stunning Bay views. The only Garcia show that I ever missed at The Stone was when former members of the Mothers of Invention, reunited as "The Grandmothers" played at the On Broadway, just across from The Stone in the mid 1980's.

I did, however, venture down the peninsula to the Keystone, Palo Alto, and across the Bay to the Keystone, Berkeley occasionally to see the Jerry Garcia Band and other acts that I dug. My friend Kenny Schneidman who was on the Grateful Dead tour had just settled down in Oakland and I suggested that we take in the show that Jerry was playing the next night in Berkeley.

The day of the show was a nice, bright, sunny, blue sky day. As it was Thursday I told the boss that I was sick and headed over to Berkeley. As they only sold the tickets at the door, and for $7 at that, we waited on line beginning midafternoon for the 7PM door. Waiting on line for a Grateful Dead or Jerry Garcia Band show was a ritual in and of itself, as friends, and friends that we hadn't yet met, swapped stories, wine, and fine smoke waiting for the doors to open. When they finally opened the doors people swelled and rushed in picking their spots, many right up against the elevated stage. As I had been there many times I knew the ritual as I grabbed a cup of beer while I waited for more friends to arrive. Another thing worth mentioning was what many people considered to be a long line while we were waiting outside, easily moved along inside leaving more than enough room in the place for show time stragglers. And show time, while advertised as 9 PM; was always near 11PM for Jerry Garcia. Like many evenings the opening act was Michael Henderson, an acoustic bluesman who I recall opened for Jerry many times at all the Keystone clubs. Also worth mentioning, was that the Keystone, which was located two blocks from the University of California campus only sold beer. I can only imagine the scene if folks got liquored up during the 4 hours waiting for Jerry Garcia to take the stage.

Around 10:50, I noticed a little commotion from behind me and I could see Jerry walking, guitar in hand, through the crowd towards the stage. This was a nightly ritual at the Keystone, Berkeley. It gave you a chance to actually pat Jerry on the back, or, after a set, a very sweaty back, getting a piece of his mojo so to speak.

When Jerry opened the evening with "Sugaree" he dug deep into the vocal and then followed it up with some fantastic gritty lead guitar. It was played a bit faster than on his first solo album; Garcia, but probably clocked in at nearly 8 minutes giving you an idea how he could stretch a song with his guitar playing. A joyous working of Smokey Robinson's "I Second That Emotion," followed which had the crowd swaying. Reggae tinged "Love in the Afternoon," gave us no clue as what was to follow as the place exploded when Jerry broke out Bob Dylan's "Tough Mama". After that tune there was high fiving all around. I've always enjoyed Jerry Garcia when he digs into ballads as he did with Peter Rowan's "Mississippi Moon, "that featured Jerry's aching voice and stellar guitar. Looking back, I can remember the beauty of his voice on the dirge like masterpiece. "Oh Corey, I'll be coming soon…" But it was the set closer that had people talking about for the nearly hour long break, after Jerry ripped it up on Jr. Walker's "(I'm a) Road Runner."

The second set began slowly with a heartfelt "Knockin' On Heaven's Door," before going into the Temptations 60's smash "The Way You Do The Things You Do." Jerry had a fondness for 60's soul music as many songs from the era would find their way into his sets over the years. But the best was still yet to happen as Jerry and the band began with a slow, and quiet "Not Fade Away" like jam that built in volume and intensity, into "Don't Let Go." While the band offered up a swampy rhythm, Garcia's guitar took on a slithering snake-like sound before switching to a fuzz tone on his guitar. The crowd slithered away with him and the band jammed out for nearly 10 minutes. I can't recall if I had ever heard Jerry do this one before, and if I did, I never heard it like this. It was obvious that the others situated around me hadn't heard it either. We barely had time to catch our breaths when Jerry then busted out "Lonesome and Long Way From Home." The tune was high octane, and I assumed, incorrectly it later turned out, that this would be the set closer. When Jerry went into "Dear Prudence," the place erupted. Not that they hadn't heard it before, as it was a staple of the Garcia Band for a while, but for the love that they had for Jerry Garcia. By the time the set ended with a rousing "Tangled Up In Blue," everyone in attendance knew that they had witnessed something special. As Jerry passed me on his way out, I, like many, tapped him on his sweaty back taking in one last bit of mojo from him. My pal Kenny, who I lost when we entered, was glowing after the show, as he stood at Garcia's feet the whole night.

Many years later, I found out that Bob Minkin was at this show shooting photos. He gave me a cassette of the show which confirmed what my heart had told me for all these years…

That the August 20, 1981 show at the Keystone Berkeley was the best Jerry Garcia Band show ever ~!

11-2-84 Berkeley Community Theater, Berkeley, CA - John Ammons

11-2-84 is the type of show that transcends eras. It stands on its own as a unique, fascinating, tight, full of surprises Grateful Dead performance. It also stands within a dying breed of runs: multiple nights in an intimate theater. I don't think there is such a run that can compare subsequent to these shows at the BCT. (Perhaps a 4 night run at the same venue in Spring '86 comes closest.) From a strictly taping perspective, these are seminal shows; they're the first where taping was openly permitted. From here on out, the "taper's section" was common Dead parlance. I once heard tale that a fronof board recording of 11-2-84 utilizing an Uher cassette deck and Neumann microphone exists, but I've never encountered it. On Saint there is an audience copy with Sennheiser mics into what is listed as a PCM, but the lineage is a little fuzzy. The soundboard source that I received on DAT somewhere in the early 90s is sensational and certainly a reference board relative to the era. This seems to be the same SBD source that is on Saint. The bass could perhaps be a tad more powerful, but the clarity and sound staging is phenomenal. And it's dead quiet. This is definitely the recommended source. The second set sounds a little better than the first, but both are first rate sonically. The Sennhesier recording is ok at best. Given the fantastic quality of the SBD, I don't endorse it, and this is coming from a hardened audience tape freak.

Before breaking down the show musically, it must be emphasized how unique and curious it reads on paper. After a typical start to the first set, things begin to get unusual with a Smokestack->Spoonful->Smokestack sandwich. It's the third time Smokestack had been played post-Pigpen with Weir taking lead vocals, only one of two instances the songs were played as a sandwich, one of only several first set Smokestacks, and the only first set Spoonful until Weir suddenly put it in his first set blues tune rotation in '93. Then the first set closes with an exceptionally rare closer of Iko Iko. In fact, I don't know of another instance where Iko closed the first set. After Saint of Circumstance, the second set gets even stranger. Garcia plays Wharf Rat before Rhythm Devils for the only one of two times (5/31/80 in Minneapolis being the other), Phil and Brent bust out Gimme Some Lovin' (with Phil needing Bobby's vocal mic as he still didn't have his own), and a very rare bird emerges out of Space: a Playin' Reprise that was not finishing an earlier Playin' In The Band. The Playin' it concludes was from 10/28, three nights earlier. Bertha appears in an unusual post-space slot, this is a very rare post-'80 combo of Bertha and Good Lovin'. The only times it happened again were 12-30-89 as a show opener and 6-6-93 as a second set opener. Finally, Garcia plays what would be the final Casey Jones until the bust out 8 years later at RFK. A laundry list of bizarre occurrences indeed!

The first set opens with a solid Jack Straw. Jerry gives us some good spiraling riffs to start out the jam, which is fleshed out well but doesn't muster the energy that '84 Jack Straws are known for (the set closing version at the Syracuse show two weeks earlier is a quintessential example). Peggy-O is quite lovely but then El Paso is downright weird. Bobby has a few lost moments and in particular has a rough time getting things started. But he recovers well, and there is an admirably improvised "New Mexico" vocal echo. Garcia gives Loser a classic reading, and Phil is starting to sound stronger by this point in the set. Jerry's licks are sufficiently gnarly during Smokestack, and Phil is growling nicely, but Weir doesn't seem to have fully embraced his vocal delivery (recall that it's only his third time singing it). The transition into Spoonful is a bit timid, Smokestack having wound down to almost silence. Weir's vocals are more robust during Spoonful and Garcia plays a sweet solo. The transition back into Smokestack is much more powerful, although this portion of the sandwich is an extremely thin slice of bread – after a few final bars of Smokestack it's over. Iko provides an unexpected and energetic way to close the set. It's particularly bopping, and by now Phil is in high gear. Ultimately, however, the first set is a mere footnote to what was coming next…

The second set simply moves from strength to strength. There are no stoppages, just one long seamless sequence. The set kicks off in fine fashion with a crisp, fast paced (as was the standard for the '83-'85 versions) Help On The Way. Slipknot! has a nice laid back feel, with some good interplay between Jerry and Phil. Franklin's is solid, although the jam winds down a tad prematurely, just as it's really starting to cook. I'll admit it: I'm a big fan of Lost Sailor and lament its premature departure from the rotation, which sadly happened just as I started seeing shows. So I never caught one. This version is stellar, with a sleepy, haunting vibe. And the concluding rap features Weir at his height of his powers. In a moment that could easily be overlooked, he whispers, "Now you're always looking, always drifting, always dreaming." Don't miss this moment though; it's the stuff goose bumps are made of. But it's very quiet, so make sure the volume is way up to get the full impact. By the time Saint Of Circumstance is cooking along, one has the sense that the band is officially firing on all cylinders, so in retrospect I suppose what follows shouldn't be completely shocking: a one/two punch of a pre-drums Wharf Rat and a first ever Gimme Some Lovin'! As Saint concludes, a few soft Phil bass notes save the full-set segue, then Garcia starts the chords to Wharf Rat in nonchalant fashion. It's a heartfelt version, albeit most notable for its position in the set. Brent sounds fantastic. As Wharf Rat dissolves into a brief spacey moment (surely they'll go into drums, right?), Phil begins hammering on his strings like a man possessed. Could this be…Steve Winwood and Spencer Davis' Gimme Some Lovin'? Yes! Brent lays into his Hammond B-3, and they're off to the races. While it undeniably oozes with energy, it's unpolished and uneven, as one might expect. The immediacy in which they move into Rhythm Devils substantiates the energy put forth in the preceding 50+ minutes. I pity the fool taping this live and having to navigate a cassette flip, which likely would have had to happen in the middle of Wharf Rat.

Space is right in my wheelhouse, with awesome stereo effects swirling about (nicely accentuated on my system as my speakers are 12' apart). The Playin' Reprise unfolds gradually. In an era where things too often seem rushed, it's nice to sense the band really taking their time to let the music develop. Garcia sports lots of spiraling finger work as the Reprise blossoms. It is perhaps in the conversation for best ever version, "standalone Playin' Reprise category". The energy is palpable as Garcia surges into Bertha. I love the post-space placement that Bertha saw from time to time in the early to mid-80s. On this night, it's squarely in the discussion of best ever renditions; it's always been my go-to favorite. There's a powerful feeling of syncopation during the jam and the third verse that has always lit me up. I'm not one to keep a tally of "anymore(s)" to a finish a Bertha, but this night has lots of them - 12 to be exact. And don't miss Brent's little intro riff just before the first verse, after which Garcia seamlessly drops in with the lyrics. It's bewitching, falling into place so beautifully that I oftentimes wait to hear it at the beginning of other versions. But alas, its allure is singular; I've never heard another such riff. Good Lovin' seems a perfect conclusion to this epic second set and was its next-to-penultimate paring with Bertha in The Dead's career. Weir, in fine form as he'd been the whole set, delivers a sweet rap. Finally, Casey Jones personifies the proverbial icing on the cake; just the second time played since '82, the final time until '92, and they nail it.

Hopefully I've presented a strong case that folks should check out this show. It's an era that can get lost in the shuffle, but this night is a big one. I only recently realized these BCT shows were literally the next Dead performances after my initiation at Syracuse. Had I only understood at the time that I should be boarding a plane to the West Coast!

Set 1: Jack Straw; Peggy-O; El Paso; Loser; Smokestack Lightnin' -> Spoonful -> Smokestack Lightnin'; Iko Iko

Set 2: Help on the Way -> Slipknot! -> Franklin's Tower -> Lost Sailor -> Saint of Circumstance -> Wharf Rat -> Gimme Some Lovin' -> Rhythm Devils -> Space -> Playin' Reprise -> Bertha -> Good Lovin'

Encore: Casey Jones

4-20-01 Phil Lesh & Friends - Cricket Arena, Charlotte, NC – J.C. Juanis

The version of Phil Lesh & Friends affectionately referred to as the "Q"; Warren Haynes, Jimmy Herring, Rob Barraco, and John Molo, is arguably known as the finest post Grateful Dead band. By 2001, after a year of touring with this aggregation, Phil Lesh & Friends began writing material that would a year later be on Phil Lesh's There and Back Again, release. In April of 2001, Phil Lesh & Friends embarked on their Here Comes Sunshine tour, breaking out then new, but soon to be classic, songs, many of which were written with Robert Hunter. Every show on that tour was incredible, not a bad apple in the bunch, with the band on fire throughout.

So why Cricket Arena?

It's not that they didn't play any of the new songs. They did, actually rip through "Night of a Thousand Stars," a fantastic Lesh/Hunter/Haynes tune. It's that they played one of the best sets ever performed by this band. And that's really saying something as many consider the legendary band's run at the Maritime Hall in San Francisco the previous year the highpoint of the band's short, three year ride. And you know, those Maritime Hall shows were the shit. They really were. But in the band's short history the 4:20 show at the Cricket Arena often is forgotten.

The Cricket Arena, originally known as the Charlotte Coliseum, was the home of the Carolina Cougars, of the American Basketball Association. It was an old 9,600 capacity, steel and concrete arena, and, besides the Cougars, was probably best known as a place that hosted evangelist Billy Graham's annual Crusades.

So it was in this context, that Phil Lesh & Friends played this memorable 4:20 show deep in the heart of Dixie.

The first set was something that you don't get to hear anymore, if you ever did. Opening with an explosive 15 minute "Passenger," that roared into an equally lengthy 15 minute "Cumberland Blues," that found Warren Haynes and Jimmy Herring dueling like classic gunslingers, with Haynes eventually laying down that Merle Haggard lick from "Mama Tried" to the delight of the arena crowd. Perhaps it was Warren Haynes' 20 minute rendering of the classic "Wharf Rat," in the first set no less, which signaled that this was going to a very special night indeed. Haynes achingly rich vocal timbre brought out one of the most emotional renditions of this classic Grateful Dead that I have ever heard.

It's the band's second set that makes this show stand out as one for the ages. Opening with a lengthy jam on Bob Dylan's "Rainy Day Woman #12 & 35", the band and the crowd joined in unison, "Everybody Must Get Stoned," before jamming seamlessly into "I Know You Rider." The meat of the second set, was the 25 minute "Dark Star" that found new nooks and crannies of space to explore, before settling into "Blues for Allah," that brought a hush through the packed arena. I had heard them tease this classic, but little played tune, when Phil and Friends, sans Haynes, were jamming while they waited for their lip syncing take of "I Know You Rider" that was filmed for a Nash Bridges TV episode at the Great American Music Hall earlier that year. On this evening, however, they dusted off the seldom played tune and gave it new life before settling back into "Dark Star." When they roared from "Dark Star" into "Night of a Thousand Stars", the crowd held their hands in the air in ecstasy. "Help on the Way," exploded into "Frankin's Tower," that was more exciting than the roller coaster at Coney Island especially when the band veered into left field going into "I Am The Walrus." It is often overlooked on how strong a singer that Rob Barraco is. The strongest suit of this band was not only the great musicianship, but the great vocal interaction between the players. And Mr. Barraco was a huge part of that. It was like he was waiting to dive into this Beatle's classic which he sang with gusto while the band did it's psychedelic pyrotechnics behind him for a good 10 minutes before swinging back into Slipknot!" and "Franklin's Tower," to end the set. The place went nutzo, a truly defining southern reception.

For the encore Warren Haynes sang the Van Morrison classic; "It Stoned Me," before the band joined together for a very emotional; "And We Bid You Goodnight".

As I mentioned previously; all the shows on the Here Comes Sunshine tour were very special and many soundboards were made available by Phil after the tour; including this show. This Cricket Arena April 20, 2001 show, in particular, is well worth seeking out.

Betty Tape Story By Rob Eaton

My story begins on a warm night in downtown Los Angeles while on business in December of 1995. I received a phone call at my hotel from an old Deadhead friend of mine who somehow tracked me down there. He proceeded to tell me a Betty tape story I had never heard before (and I thought I'd heard them all). Could there really be another large stash of tapes lost over 10 years ago at the now famous "Betty Auction"? By the sound of things these tapes were different then the ones already circulating among traders. Since this collection was located in northern California it made sense for me to re-arrange my travel plans home so I could check out first hand this new claim. I phoned the number my friend gave me and made the final arrangements to meet this mystery man and his tapes the coming weekend.

It was Sunday night when I finally arrived in northern California. The weather was less then stellar and it created a very nerve racking ride in unfamiliar surroundings with little to no visibility. I was growing more and more curious about this potential new discovery the closer I got to my destination. After driving for several hours I finally arrived at the house only to find nobody home. I waited patiently outside in my rental car for about an hour when finally a woman arrived (we will call her Alice). Alice was expecting me and welcomed me inside their small townhouse. We entered the living room and she began to explain how her husband was delayed with late meetings and wouldn't be home for at least an hour. It was well past 9 pm at this point I began to worry this meeting was not going to happen, or at least not this night. My flight home to New York was scheduled to leave first thing the next morning so time was running out. Alice offered me a glass of wine and said "while you wait why don't you look over those tapes" (pointing to several boxes in the corner). I quickly opened the first box; it was filled with 10 inch master reels all in good condition. The first tape I plucked from the box was Garcia/Saunders 7/19/73 reel #1; I knew then that this was indeed a new and different set of Betty Masters. I spent the next hour going over every inch of every tape in the boxes and took detailed notes for reference. Most of the tapes in these boxes were Garcia/Saunders masters from 73' and 74' with the exception of a few 7 inch reels from The Dead's June '76 tour. Around the time I was finishing with the last of the tapes in the house Marco (as we will call him) came home. After a quick meal and small chitchat we set out to see the remainder of the collection. Marco did the driving since the location was remote and hard to find especially with the awful weather we were experiencing that evening. The storm as it would turn out would be one of the worst Northern California had seen in almost one hundred years with fifty mile per hour winds and torrential rain. The drive was interesting to say the least. It took us thirty minutes to make the drive over which time Marco tells me his story of how he came into possession of the tapes. It started with a phone call he received from an ex-employee of BGP who informed him there was to be an auction of rock and roll memorabilia the following day at a storage facility in the area. Marco arrived at the auction late. Most of the attendees had already gone and only a few items remained. One of the last lots to go on the block that afternoon consisted of three black road cases with the words "Grateful Dead" stenciled on the sides. The cases looked to be in terrible shape and Marco was thus the only bidder. He packed the cases into his pick-up truck and returned home still unaware of what lay inside of them. He finally arrived home and opened the cases only to find the first stuffed with old cookbooks. The second case however was filled with rotting and moldy 7 inch reel to reel tapes and the third case contained the same but in the larger 10 inch format. Disappointed in his find he closed the cases and packed them away in a barn high atop a ridge in a cow field, in the middle of nowhere where they still were to this day.

We finally reached the field where the barn and tapes were located. The heavy rain and driving wind was going to make the walk to the barn more than interesting. With flashlights in hand we trudged our way across the field trying not to soil our shoes in the numerous surprises the local cows had left for us. As we got close to the barn my heart began to race with anticipation. He swung the door opened and there sat two big, black road cases with Grateful Dead stenciled on the side just as Marco had described. I quickly set up shop by clearing space on the nearby workbench and finding a good place to put the flashlight in order to free up my hands. The long task began by looking over each tape inch by inch, taking detailed notes on everything I could. I had prepared blank charts on my flight north from LA so I was at least was organized (I'm a Virgo what can I say). I started with the smaller of the two trunks, which contained most of the 7 inch reels. The first tape I picked up was Grateful Dead reel #4 from 6/21/76 Tower Theater, Upper Darby PA… "Wow" I thought, "this truly is a large stash of previously unknown Betty tapes".

It took well over an hour to go through all the 7 inch reels. Most all the tapes were water damaged and rotting. The writing on the boxes was smudged, sometimes beyond recognition. The smell of mold was also very prevalent. I then moved to the larger case, which as it turned out held the 10 inch reels. The condition of the 10 inch reels was the same as it was for the smaller ones. In some cases the damage was even worse. It was quite obvious that these tapes had been in some kind of flood. The rot was so bad the writing on the boxes in some cases was non-existent. This made the identification process difficult if not impossible without actually playing them. The first tape I could read from the large trunk was Grateful Dead 3/21/72 reel #2 Academy of Music, New York City. "Wow they do exist", I thought. This would historically be an important find especially since very little of this run exists on tape of any kind. I spent the next few hours examining each and every tape looking for anything that might help me identify what the tape was. I gathered as much information as I could knowing full well I may never see this collection of tapes again. It was close to 3am when I finished in the barn. Marco wanted to know what I thought of the collection and what it might be worth. I told him it would be impossible to give it's value since we had yet to establish what they were and if the recordings were even playable. He reluctantly let me take five of the worst looking reels with the thinking that if these could be resurrected then most likely the rest could be as well. My job was now to see: A) were the tapes salvageable? And B) what was actually on the tapes?

I spent the entire flight back to New York transferring my hand written notes into a database for reference. As soon as I got home late the next afternoon I immediately began the restoration process, which took a solid 36 hours to complete. Of the five unknown reels I brought with me four were Garcia/Saunders and one was Grateful Dead. The Garcia/Saunders reels were 8/5/73 #1, 7/10/73 #1, 10/6/74 #1 and 3/9/74 #1. The Grateful Dead reel was 4/2/73 #2. I was amazed that even the most damaged tapes were not only playable but sounded great. I reported my findings back to Marco and convinced him that if he was indeed serious about selling his collection then it would be in his best interest to have me professionally restore and archive all the tapes. I knew it was very important that this collection be archived and restored as soon as possible. After some haggling with him he finally agreed to have me restore and archive the collection. Soon after tapes began to arrive via Federal Express shipments to my home in New Jersey. The shipments usually came in groups of thirty reels at a time about every week. It took over six weeks to complete the project. Each reel was restored by hand, one at a time.

I then transferred the reels to DAT using studio quality equipment. I listened to every inch of every tape completely and took detailed notes on everything. When it was all said and done I had invested more then 700 hours into the project. After I was done restoring the reels I shipped them back to Marco and I've not seen them since.

It was a privilege to be able to listen to such rare and amazing music. It is an important piece of American musical history. Some time later I was able to return to the Dead their tapes (only DAT copies mind you). Some of these tapes have been released in official releases others still remain in the Vault. Hopefully someday all these tapes will reach the ears of thousands of Dead Heads far and wide but for now they remain in the hands of Rhino, The Garcia Estate and of coarse Marco.

What follows is a complete list of the Betty Cantor-Jackson tape collection I restored in the winter of 1996:

All 10" reels transferred with Otari 50/50 reel to reel->Apogee 500 A/D converter-> Panasonic sv3700 Dat
All 7" reels transferred with Nagra reel to reel-> Apogee 500 A/D converter-> Panasonic sv3700 Dat
10"reels at 7.5 ips = 96min
10" reels at 15ips = 48min
7"reels at 7.5ips = 48min
7" reels at 15ips = 24min

"Ecce Homo": The Watchful Spirit of The Grateful Dead

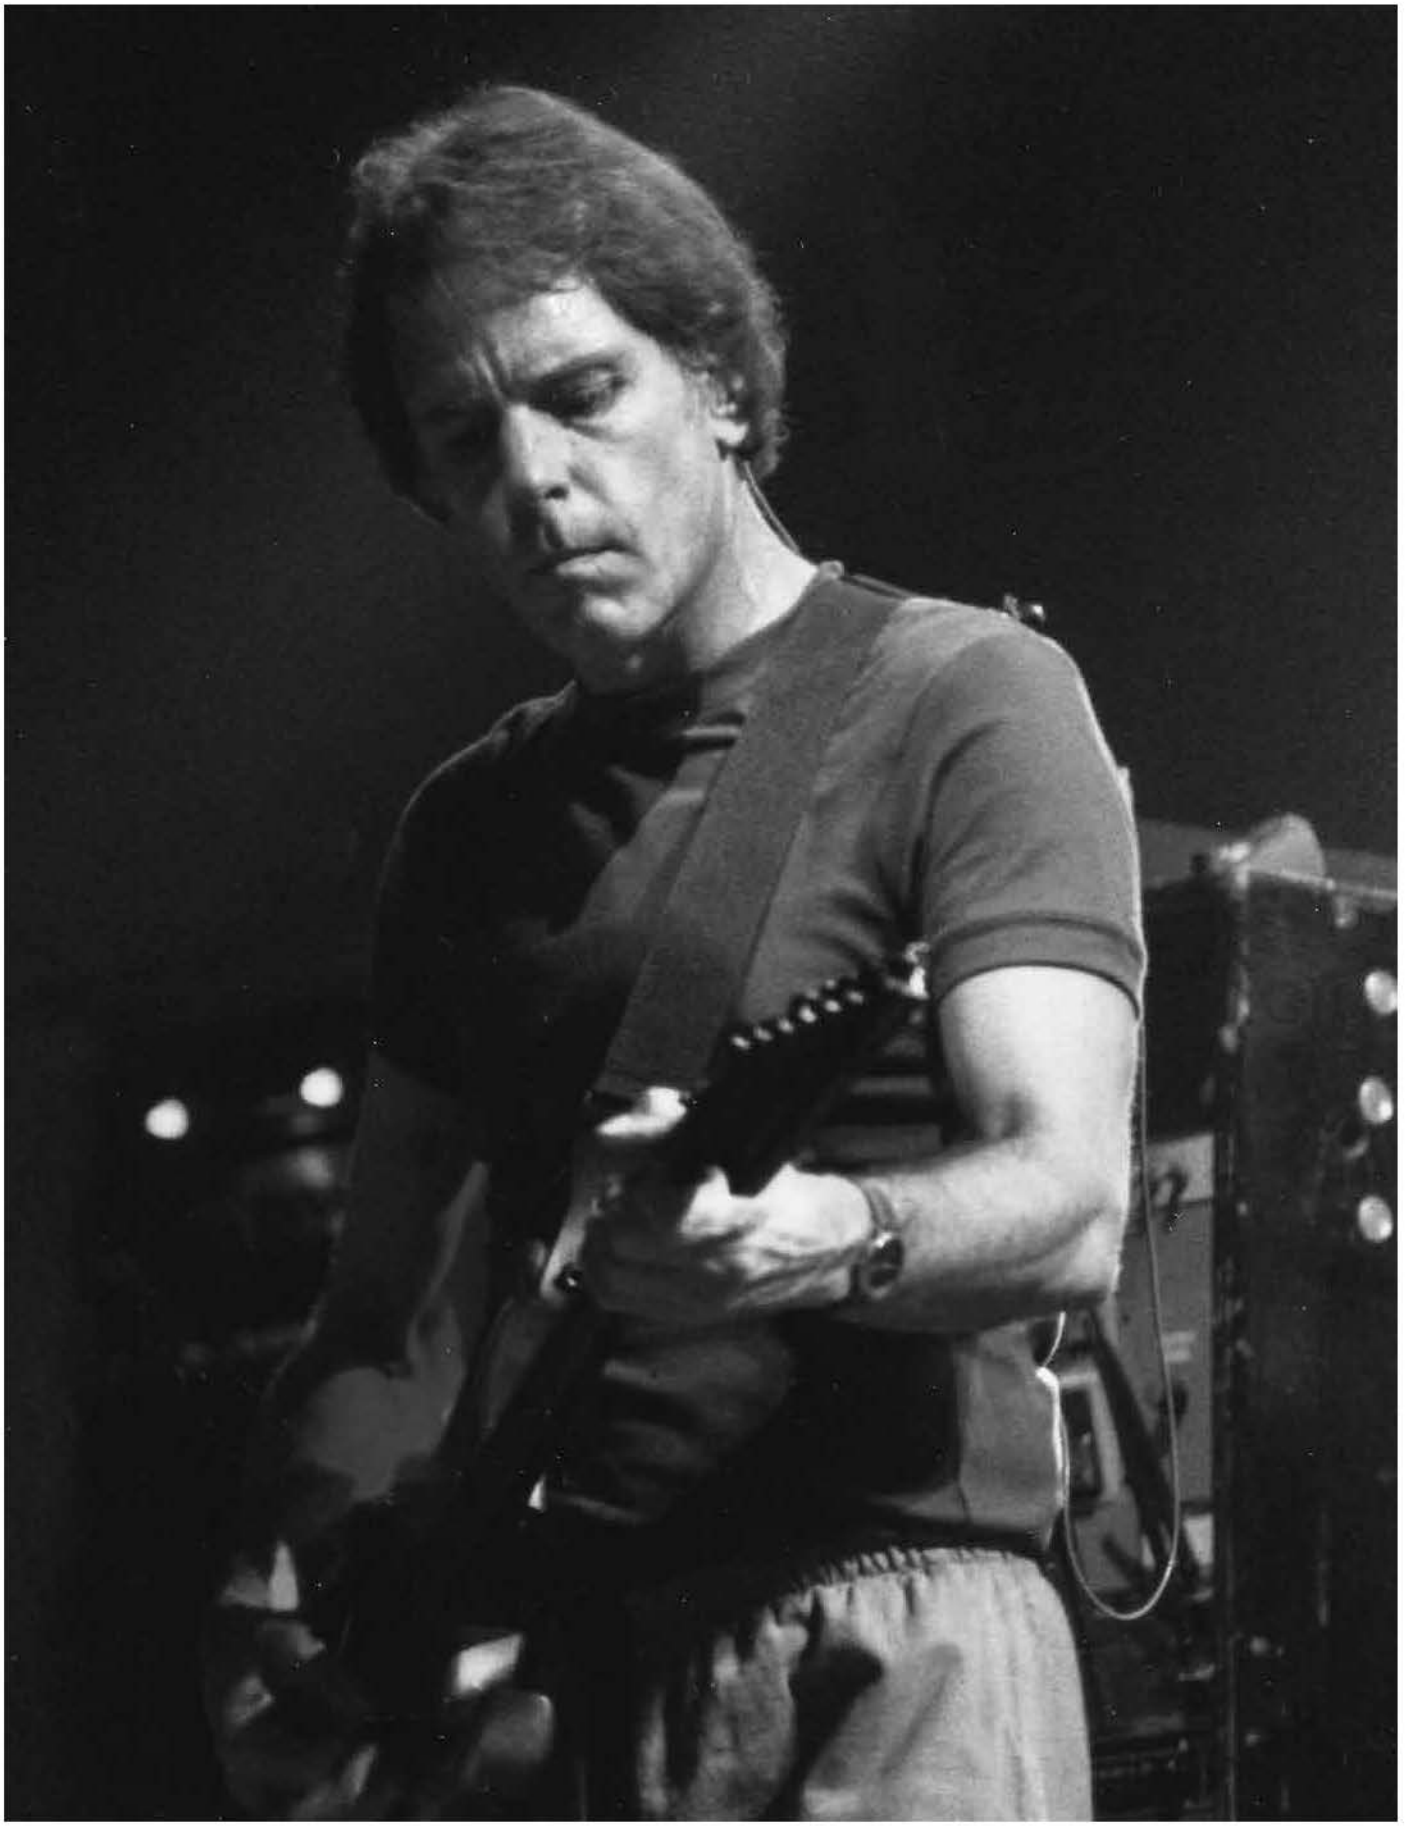
One day, I was listening intently to "Cumberland Blues" from Workingman's Dead, dissecting the mix spatially, schematically, and sequentially, digging the syncopation, when figure became ground, the interstitial elements coalesced, and an apparition suddenly appeared – just as the eponymous song-forms from which the band derived its name would have it be. It was from the joining of three glorious, original voices, for whom Hunter wrote eternal words, that their harmonies as one formed the watchful spirit of The Grateful Dead.

In the studio version of "Cumberland," which is prototypic in its arrangement but unique in its instrumentation, every single instrument in the static mix is syncopated and intermittent except the drums. The interlarding of Phil's double-time pulses and Jerry's wiry stingers is push-pull, as is the chop-chop alternation between the knifeblade rhythm acoustic left-center and Bobby's right-channel electric rhythm in the intro, and between Jerry's electric rhythm and Bobby's in the second chorus. Jerry drops some dry twangy hanging notes in the second verse, and Bobby responds.

The alternation becomes even more prominent in the dynamic mix. Jerry starts his lead left-channel, then moves to the passenger's seat for Phil, who takes the driver's seat on lead, basking in a little co-authorship credit; then they swap back. Prefigured by Phil's critical motivic development, David Nelson's quicksilver acoustic leads play off of Jerry's lightning banjo figuration. During the end of the bridge, David plays some bass-like internal harmony parts that set Jerry afire. Jerry's rabid banjo, the only continuously played instrument besides the susurration snare-trap and ride cymbal, rampages through the outro, where acoustic guitar picking in the left channel is set off against snare with ride and splash in the right channel.

The only other instruments that persist when heard are the voices. Jerry's baritone stands out on "I can't sleep here no more" in the second verse, and "Take your shift at the mine" and "Made any more, might move away" in the bridge are fine full-harmony descants. However, the vocal straining, particularly in Bobby's part (right in tune, but strident), militates at that point against coalescence and concinnity.

After an entire song of relentless syncopation and restless alternation, of the bouncing of what Peter Rowan in describing bluegrass called "the glowing ball of feeling," suddenly we hear the three voices, Jerry's baritone, Bobby's tenor, and Phil's ramrod-straight, falsetto-free countertenor, come together as one. This lusty, full-throated sum is capped by Phil's pitch-perfect keening blended perfectly with Bobby's plaintive wails and rooted in Jerry's good-humored lamentations. For a few brief moments, a fourth voice is heard.



It is then and only then, in the culmination of vocal coda, that we hear the shivering magi become the ghostly figure himself, making his actual appearance but rarely in the music: one of the grateful dead, come back to give thanks. Like the worried man Greil Marcus espies in Mystery Train throughout The Band's Music from Big Pink, this archetypal representative arises when the three disparate voices conjoin to conjure something else entirely: a spectral presence summed and summoned by fused and numinous harmonies. Mysterium fascinans. Ecce homo.

At the end of "Cumberland," as in "Uncle John's Band," "Attics of My Life," and "Sugar Magnolia" on Workingman's Dead and American Beauty, and "Candyman" from the 8/30/70 Calebration broadcast, an apparition appears, in an eternal yet evanescent revelatory epiphany – in the essence of the instantaneity of spontaneity in simultaneity the band so loved, and was, and in the essential humanity of three men's shared and soaring voices.

It is nothing more or less than the sacred spirit of The Grateful Dead, daring briefly to show itself, safely ensconced in same-sung song.

Deadbase Updates

Remarks regarding some Song Titles

You Can't Catch Me
This is a tune reported to have been performed in early 1966 by Dennis McNally in A Long Strange Trip. It is unknown at this time if it circulates under another name, or if no known version exists.

Otis on a Shakedown Cruise
This is the probable actual title of the song commonly known as "You Don't Have to Ask." During the 05-19-66 show, band members can be heard referring to it as "Otis" beforehand. By all accounts, a number called "Otis on a Shakedown Cruise" was a major part of the Dead's repertoire during the first half of 1966; it would seem unlikely that no circulating versions exist.

No Left Turn Unstoned
This is the Phil Lesh tune commonly known as "Cardboard Cowboy." Weir introduces it as "No Left Turn Unstoned" at the 07-30-66 Vancouver show. It was also known by the band as "The Monster," supposedly because of its difficulty to perform. According to Herb Greene (who designed its cover), No Left Turn Unstoned would have been the title of the Grateful Dead's 1966 debut album had it been released.

Just a Hand to Hold
This is the tune commonly known as "He Was a Friend of Mine," but is actually two verses of Mark Spoelstra's Just a Hand to Hold and is most definitely not the song claimed by Bob Dylan and performed by The Byrds.

Overseas Stomp
This is the correct name of the old ragtime tune released on Historic Dead as "Lindy."

The Stranger
This is the correct copyrighted title of the Pig Pen song long known as "Two Souls in Communion" (which does appear in the title in parentheses) and sometimes as "Right Way to Go."

Good Times Blues
This Brent-penned tune was released in 1996 as "Never Trust a Woman" on Dozin' at the Knick, but was almost always called "Good Times Blues" during its performing life.

Wed. 11-03-65 Golden State Studios, San Francisco, CA
Can't Come Down and Caution appear on So Many Roads (1965-1995). Entire session appears on Birth of the Dead in a scrambled order.

Thurs. 01-07-66 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
This setlist came from Matrix soundman Peter Abram in 1983. As of 2010 no recording of this performance has surfaced, even though the other Matrix shows bearing setlists circulate.

Sat. 01-08-66 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA (Fillmore Acid Test)
After Death Don't comes The Star Spangled Banner done a-cappella.

01-??-66 "Fire in the City/Your Sons and Daughters" by Jon Hendricks
This was actually released in March of 1967.

02-??-66 Unknown Location (possibly the Questing Beast on 02-05?)
Rehearsal of Viola Lee Blues done about ten times, definitely before the Dead left for Los Angeles.

02-??-66 Unknown Location (from undated vault reel labeled "Pauley Ballroom #2")
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Otis on a Shakedown Cruise (ends set)
2: Viola Lee Blues, I Know You Rider, In the Midnight Hour
This is also before the Dead left for Los Angeles, but no date is known for a Pauley Ballroom gig at this time.

Sun. 02-06-66 Northridge Unitarian Church, Los Angeles, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Tastebud, Mindbender, Beat it on Down the Line
DeadLists states that, according to Bear, the Northridge Acid Test took place on Saturday February 19th, and that he "formally" met the Dead at the Fillmore gig on February 11th. We are throwing this out as a possibility without any further evidence.

Sat. 02-12-66 Youth Opportunities Center, Compton, CA (Watts Acid Test)
Who Cares rap, rap and jam>New Orleans, Twist and Shout
Garcia plays on Twist and Shout.

Fri. 02-25-66 Cinema Theatre, Hollywood, CA
Delete list (it reappears under 07-??-66 Unknown Location) and change venue. According to DeadLists, Bear identifies this gig as the "Sunset Acid Test."

02-??-66 Unknown Location
Big Railroad Blues, Sick and Tired, Empty Heart
Appear on Rare Cuts and Oddities 1966 dated "February/March 1966."

02-??-66 Unknown Location
Walkin' the Dog, You See a Broken Heart, Promised Land, Not Fade Away
Rehearsal, appears on Rare Cuts and Oddities 1966 dated "early 1966."

02-??-66 Unknown Location
tuning>blues

02-??-66 Unknown Location
Good Lovin', Standing on the Corner, Cream Puff War
Demo recording, appears on Rare Cuts and Oddities 1966 dated "early 1966."

Wed. 03-02-66 Unknown Location
Betty and Dupree, Stealin
Rehearsal, appears on Rare Cuts and Oddities 1966

Sat. 3-12-66 Danish Center, Los Angeles, CA
David Lemieux has provided the following that is posted for this date on DeadLists:
Cream Puff War, Teddy Bear's Picnic, Sitting On Top Of The World, Minglewood, Cold Rain and Snow, Tastebud, Silver Threads, Baby Blue, Good Lovin', You Don't Have To Ask, On The Road Again, Next Time You See Me, I Know You Rider, Hey Little One, King Bee >Caution, Stealin'

However-Cream Puff War through Otis (You Don't Have to Ask), are in the same order as on the 05-19-66 Avalon tape (when Lemieux posted this Good Lovin' online, it was the exact same version that circulates as 05-19), and the rest of it (which we previously dated as 02-25-66), sounds like it's from much later, probably July. Accordingly, we are leaving our list for 03-12-66 right where it is (even though most sources, because of Lemieux's list, have moved it to the Pico Acid Test on 03-19, and it doesn't even sound like an Acid Test) with the following changes: "Head's Up jam" should read "Head's Up," and there is a blues instrumental between Next Time and Death Don't.

Sat. 03-19-66 Carthay Studios, Los Angeles, CA
This is the Pico Acid Test, which was moved from UCLA at the last minute.

Fri. 03-25-66 Trooper's Club, Los Angeles, CA
Above spelling of venue name is from the newspaper ad for this gig. An announcement made by Phil at this show has prompted DeadLists to add dates for an unknown location, or locations, on April 6 through 9. Phil's commentary is cut before he announces what is happening on those dates, and even if he was announcing upcoming shows there is no further evidence that they were actually played.

Fri. 04-22-66 Longshoreman's Hall, San Francisco, CA
Beat it on Down the Line, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl>You Don't Love Me>Good Morning Little Schoolgirl
Circulates under several other dates

Sun. 04-24-66 Longshoreman's Hall, San Francisco, CA
I Know It's a Sin, Viola Lee Blues>Teddy Bear's Picnic, In the Midnight Hour, Beat it on Down the Line, blues jam*
*with Jorma Kaukonen and Jack Casady

05-??-66 Unknown Location
Viola Lee Blues, Don't Ease Me In, Tastebud
date approximate

05-19-66 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Change "Where My Baby" to "Tastebud." Cream Puff War through Otis appear on a vault tape dated 3/12/66.

Fri. 05-27-66 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
DeadLists has the band playing the Avalon on this night based on the weekend's poster, which a close examination of reveals a ribbon reading "Sat. only" between "Grateful" and "Dead."

06-zz-66 Location Unknown
Location should be Buena Vista Studios, San Francisco, CA and list should read as follows:
Stealin x 4, I Know You Rider, Don't Ease Me In x15, Otis on a Shakedown Cruise x3, No Left Turn Unstoned x5, Stealin', I Know You Rider, Tastebud x2, Cold Rain and Snow x2
Often misdated as "Questing Beast, 02/05/66." Much of this material appears on Birth of the Dead

07-03-66 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA
List should now read as follows:
Dancin' in the Streets, I Know You Rider, Just a Hand to Hold, Next Time You See Me, Viola Lee Blues, Big Boss Man, Sittin' on Top of the World, Gangster of Love*, Minglewood, Cold Rain and Snow, unknown, Beat it on Down the Line, Cream Puff War, Don't Mess Up a Good Thing
* appears on Rare Cuts and Oddities 1966.
Gangster of Love might actually come after Cold Rain, and the unknown tune before Minglewood

07-??-66 Location Unknown
On the Road Again*, Next Time You See Me, I Know You Rider, Hey Little One, Cold Rain and Snow>I'm a King Bee>Caution, Stealin' *appears on So Many Roads (1965-1995). appears on Rare Cuts and Oddities 1966. This material exists on a vault tape dated 3/12/66, but sounds like it's from about July.

07-15-66 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA
One Kind Favor, Keep Rolling By (ends set)
These tunes appear on Birth of the Dead. The date is uncertain but is likely since the Jefferson Airplane performed afterwards, neither tune is included in the 7/16 and 7/17 tapes, and Bear was no longer recording by the time of the two bands' next joint billing.

Sat. 07-16-66 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA
List should now read as follows:
1: I Know You Rider, Big Boss Man*, Standing on the Corner*, Beat it on Down the Line, In the Pines*, No Left Turn Unstoned, Nobody's Fault But Mine*, Next Time You See Me*, Just a Hand to Hold*, Cream Puff War
2: Viola Lee Blues*, Don't Ease Me In*>Pain in My Heart*, Minglewood>Sittin' on Top of the World*, Otis on a Shakedown Cruise, Cold Rain and Snow>Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, It's All Over Now Baby Blue*, Dancin' in the Streets * appears on Birth of the Dead. appears on So Many Roads (1965-1995).

Sun. 07-17-66 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA
List should now read as follows:
2: Big Boss Man, Cold Rain and Snow, It's All Over Now Baby Blue, Cream Puff War, I'm a King Bee*, Stealin', Dancin' in the Streets
This is most or all of the second set, since the first reel of this show is no longer playable. *appears on Birth of the Dead
Fri. 08-26-66 I.D.E.S. Hall, Pescadero, CA
Add this date. The poster for the Tour Del Mar Bicycle Race and Folk-Rock Festival lists shows on August 26, 27, and 28.

Thurs. 10-06-66 Love Pageant Rally, Panhandle, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco
Since there seems to be some question about whether the Dead actually played this event, we will point out that a Gene Anthony photo of the band playing here appears in both of his books and is identified as such in the first—The Summer of Love.

Fri.-Sat. 10-07 and 08-66 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA
The exact venue of these performances has been the subject of debate since we changed their location. Yes, they were scheduled for Winterland (which, contrary to Terry Doherty's statement in the Internet Archive, did exist as a concert venue by this time) as listed on the poster, but Ralph Gleason's column in the San Francisco Chronicle the morning of October 7 mentioned these shows as taking place at the Fillmore. On the same page, the Chronicle's "Datebook" lists this billing as "opening today" at Fillmore Auditorium and specifically states that the shows were "switched from Winterland." The week before, Bill Graham had moved the Butterfield-Airplane-Muddy Waters shows at Winterland to the Fillmore to prove that he wouldn't back down to racial unrest in the surrounding neighborhood.

Thurs. 11-03-66 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
The handbill for this weekend lists the dates for the shows as November 3 and 4, while the poster shows them correctly as the 4th and 5th. The Family Dog shows at the Avalon customarily took place on Friday and Saturday nights at this time. Apparently Mouse and Kelley made a mistake on the poster artwork (just as they did on the Daily Flash-Country Joe & the Fish poster two weeks earlier), and the handbills were printed before this was corrected.

Tues. 11-29-66 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
Change sets 2 and 3 to sets 1 and 2 (thereby deleting Cream Puff War) and add Early Morning Rain after One Kind Favor. This sounds like it's all from the same show, contrary to our previous comment line.

12-??-66 Unknown Location
Silver Threads and Golden Needles
Demo recording, appears on Rare Cuts and Oddities
1966 dated "late 1966."

Wed. 12-14 or Thurs. 12-15-66 Gym, College of Marin, Kentfield, CA
According to the Lost Live Dead blog, the Dead played here on one of these two nights with the Sons of Champlin, according to an eyewitness.

Sat. 01-14-67 Polo Field, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, CA (Great Human Be-In) Morning Dew belongs elsewhere.

01-1?-67 RCA Studio A, Los Angeles, CA
Change "Lucky Man" to "Been Down So Long"
This recording circulates as 12-5-66, which could not be the case since the Dead did not go into the studio to record their debut Warner Brothers album until January.

Thurs. 02-02-67 RCA Studio A, Los Angeles, CA
Golden Road, Alice D. Millionaire*, Overseas Stomp*, Tastebud*, Death Don't Have No Mercy*
Studio session for The Grateful Dead. *appears on that album's bonus tracks in The Golden Road (1965-1973).

Sun. 02-05-67 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA
Ralph Gleason's 02-03-67 San Francisco Chronicle column listed the bands at this benefit for the U.S. Strike Committee and mentioned that the Dead would join them if they were finished recording in Los Angeles. It is uncertain whether or not this actually happened.

Sun. 02-12-67 Fillmore Auditorium, San Francisco, CA
Controversy exists as to whether the circulating songs associated with this date, which seem to vary from copy to copy, were actually performed that night or are from a different source.

Sun. 03-05-67 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
(benefit for Newstage and the Straight Theatre
According to an item in the 02-28-67 San Francisco Chronicle, the Grateful Dead played this benefit as "guest stars" along with Big Brother & the Holding Co., Moby Grape, Country Joe & the Fish, the Sparrow, and Michael McClure. The Dead were not listed on the poster.

Thurs. 03-16-67 Whiskey-A-Go-Go, San Francisco, CA
The Dead might have finished their run at this venue the night before, according to the Lost Live Dead blog.

Sat. 03-18-67 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA
The Same Thing appears on So Many Roads (1965-1995)

Fri.-Sat. 03-24 or 25-67 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
An eyewitness states that he attended one of these two shows, and that the Dead performed Viola Lee Blues.

Tues. 03-28 to Sun. 04-02-67 The Rock Garden, San Francisco, CA
There is some confusion in DeadLists as to which year these gigs took place, based in part on the fact that the dates on the poster were changed and no days of the week were listed. It is common knowledge in poster collecting circles that this venue was in operation during the spring of 1967 and that its distinctive diamond-shaped posters were designed by Mike Wood in a style similar to those he did subsequently for various promoters at California Hall. Wood was not active in the poster designing field before this. For definitive proof, though, we turn to the San Francisco Chronicle, whose "Datebook" listing for March 28 had the Dead, Charles Lloyd, and the Mystery Trend opening at the Rock Garden that night. Ralph Gleason mentioned the show in his next day's column, and the "Datebook" for Sunday April 2 had this bill as closing that night.

05-01, 05-08, 05-15, 05-22-67 (all Mondays)
Rendezvous Inn, San Francisco, CA
The probable dates of the Dead's Monday night residency at this San Francisco gay bar, which apparently did take place.

Thurs 05-11-67 Marigold Ballroom, Fresno, CA
The Lost Live Dead blog lists this as Friday the 12th, citing a review in the May 13 Fresno Bee. However, nowhere does the reviewer state that the show took place the night before. The blog claims two shows starting at 9:45 and 11:15 along with an opening band called the Road Runners, but does not cite a source for this information.

Sat. 05-20-67 Continental Ballroom, Santa Clara, CA
Opening acts listed on the poster are The Real Thing, and Autumn People.

Thurs. 06-01-67 Tompkins Square Park, New York, NY
DeadLists has Golden Road, Dancin' in the Streets, In the Midnight Hour, Beat it on Down the Line, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Cold Rain and Snow, Morning Dew, and Viola Lee Blues according to an eyewitness.

Thurs. 06-15-67 Straight Theater, San Francisco, CA
The tunes listed with this date come from a recording that has long circulated as 5-5-67. It could not be that early since Alligator is included, but is nonetheless of uncertain origin and could be from as late as September.

Sun. 06-18-67 Monterey Fairgrounds, Monterey, CA
(Monterey International Pop Festival)
Setlist should read as follows:
Viola Lee Blues, Cold Rain and Snow, Alligator>Caution

Speculation exists as to whether or not Alligator and Caution are from another performance, based primarily on the fact that Bill Graham tells the audience to give the Dead a hand afterwards. Graham was in attendance and there was no reason for him not to have done that, especially since various luminaries announced the acts during the course of the festival. The most convincing evidence, however, is that the same unidentified person playing harmonica badly during Alligator is also audible on Cold Rain and Snow. Alligator is described in DeadLists as a primitive version without vocals, but Jerry's, Bob's, and Phil's backing vocals come through loud and clear with Pig Pen barely audible in the background; it seems that his microphone was not working during this tune.

Sat. 06-24-67 El Camino Park, Palo Alto, CA
The probable date of this gig according to the Lost Live Dead blog, whose proprietor attended this show at the age of nine.

Friday 07-14-67 Dante's Inferno, Vancouver, BC, Canada
With Collectors, and Painted Ship

Saturday 07-15-67 Dante's Inferno, Vancouver, BC, Canada
With Collectors, and Painted Ship

Fri.-Sat. 07-21 & 22-67 Continental Ballroom, Santa Clara, CA
DeadLists claims the following for one of these two nights according to an eyewitness:
1: Viola Lee Blues, Morning Dew
2: Golden Road, Pig Pen tune, New New Minglewood Blues, unknown, unknown, In the Midnight Hour
In addition, Phoenix was also on the bill.

Mon. 08-28-67 Lindley Meadows, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, CA (Chocolate George's wake)
DeadLists has Viola Lee Blues and Good Morning Little Schoolgirl according to an eyewitness.

09-??-67 unknown location, Canyon, CA
According to DeadLists, the Grateful Dead played a benefit for Canyon's "local hippies" who needed to rebuild their general store, this information coming from Berkeley at War by W. J. Rorabaugh.

Sat. 09-02-67 Cabrillo College Stadium, Santa Cruz, CA
The Grateful Dead are listed prominently on the poster for this two-day benefit show along with numerous other bands. If they played this at all, it would have been on Saturday the 2nd since two gigs at the Rio Nido Dance Hall followed.

Sun. 09-03-67 Rio Nido Dance Hall, Rio Nido, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Dancin' in the Streets, Hurts Me Too, Cold Rain and Snow, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Viola Lee Blues*, Big Boss Man, Alligator, In the Midnight Hour *appears as a Grateful Dead bonus track in The Golden Road (1965-1973).
The "Dark Star jam" that Robert Hunter heard at this venue was actually performed at a rehearsal/ soundcheck, not a gig.

Sun. 09-04-67 Rio Nido Dance Hall, Rio Nido, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Caution>feedback
This is from a vault tape apparently labeled with this date, which is not 100% certain. The setlist formerly placed here, from a tape long known as 1-27 or 1-28-67, has now been moved to 10-31-67.

Fri. 09-15-67 Hollywood Bowl, Hollywood, CA
The Dead performed what is commonly described as a "vaudeville chorus" at the end of their set.

Sat. 09-16-67 Las Vegas Convention Center Rotunda, Las Vegas, NV (with Tom Constanten
TC recalls playing with the Dead in Las Vegas during this month, and the Lost Live Dead blog speculates that it took place on this date after the free show in Griffith Park.

Sun. 10-22-67 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA (Marijuana Defense Benefit)
Add Hurts Me Too after New Potato Caboose

Tues. 10-31-67 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA ("Trip or Freak")
Setlist should read as follows:
Viola Lee Blues, Cold Rain and Snow, Alligator>Caution
This audience recording has circulated for years as 01-27 or 01-28-67, but we previously moved it to 9-4-67 since the presence of Alligator>Caution argued for a later date. However, the Morning Dew and New Potato Caboose that precede Viola Lee Blues on this tape match exactly those on the soundboard recording of 10-22-67, but Cold Rain and Snow does not. It was not unknown in those days for tapers to record one or two songs at one gig, then come back the next night or the next week and record more tunes on the same tape. 10-31 was the Dead's next gig after 10-22. Plus, two drummers are very much in evidence on this recording but the drum duet is quite brief and occurs during the Alligator jam rather than before it, which would place this recording before the November Shrine shows. The 10-31-67 date, though, should not be taken as definitive.

Sat. 11-11-67 Shrine Exhibition Hall, Los Angeles, CA
While Alligator>Caution seems to have been played both nights of this run, the version which usually appears on tapes of this show is identical to that which appears on tapes of the preceding night.

Sun. 11-12-67 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Alligator>Caution, Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment
This material circulates as part of a studio sessions tape dated 10-20-67, but only Turn on Your Lovelight from that source is an actual studio recording. The above material sounds like a live performance plagued with defective vocal mics (although Garcia's seems to work sporadically), and sounds very close in time to the November Shrine shows, hence the 11-12-67 date. But this should not be taken as definitive.

Sat. 12-02, Thurs. 12-07, or Sat. 12-16-67 Atwood Hall, Clark University, Worcester, MA
The Lost Live Dead blog speculates that the Dead played this venue on one of the above dates, based on a comment made by Garcia at the 04-20-69 show, and on an eyewitness account.

Fri.-Sat. 12-8 & 9-67 Psychedelic Supermarket, Boston, MA
There is a review of the Dead playing this venue on Friday December 8, their "Boston debut," and the Lost Live Dead blog speculates that they played there on the 9th as well. And apparently the band returned to Boston later in the month.

Wed. 12-27-67 Village Theater, New York, NY
DeadLists has Good Morning Little Schoolgirl according to an eyewitness, who also described two separate shows on this evening.

Wed. 01-17-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA ("Ben Franklin's Birthday")
Second feedback goes into Spanish jam to close the first set.

Sat. 01-20-68 Eureka Municipal Auditorium, Eureka, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Viola Lee Blues*, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Clementine>New Potato Caboose>Born Cross-Eyed>feedback>Spanish jam>Caution>Dark Star
*appears on Road Trips Vol. 2 No. 2. appears on Road Trips Vol. 2 No. 2 bonus disc. This material might be elsewhere in the set.

Mon. 01-22-68 Eagles Auditorium, Seattle, WA
Setlist moved to 1-26, delete 01-22 completely since probably no gig occurred that night despite dated vault tape.

Fri. 01-26-68 Eagles Auditorium, Seattle WA
Setlist should read as follows:
Alligator, Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>New Potato Caboose>Born Cross-Eyed>feedback>Spanish jam>Dark Star>China Cat Sunflower>The Eleven>Caution>feedback
Above is from a vault tape labeled Seattle and dated 1-22-68. However, contemporary Seattle newspaper ads only mention shows on the 26th and 27th, as does the poster for the shows. In addition, the Anthem of the Sun source dates for its live material only list Seattle shows for the 26th and 27th and not the 22nd and 23rd. The We Bid You Goodnight formerly listed here (that often circulates with this show) actually belongs to 03-31-68. The circulating tape of this show cuts in the middle of Caution.

Sat. 01-27-68 Eagles Auditorium, Seattle, WA
Setlist should read as follows:
Viola Lee Blues, Beat it on Down the Line*, Hurts Me Too*, Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Clementine>New Potato Caboose>Born Cross-Eyed>Spanish jam, Dark Star>China Cat Sunflower>The Eleven>Turn On Your Lovelight
*appears on Road Trips Vol. 2 No. 2. appears on Road Trips Vol. 2 No. 2 bonus disc. This material might be elsewhere in the set.
Above is from a vault tape labeled Seattle and dated 1-23-68. However, contemporary Seattle newspaper ads only mention shows on the 26th and 27th, as does the poster for the shows. In addition, the Anthem of the Sun source dates for its live material only list Seattle shows for the 26th and 27th and not the 22nd and 23rd. Also, the Spanish jam is cut in the middle-the second half comes from a circulating fragment dated 1-27-68 that could be a continuation of the first half, albeit from a different generational source.

Tues. 01-30-68 Erb Memorial Union, University of Oregon, Eugene, OR Add New Potato Caboose, which appears on the Road Trips Vol. 2 No. 2 bonus disc.

Fri. 02-02-68 Crystal Ballroom, Portland, OR Add Dark Star to end of setlist, which appears on Road Trips Vol. 2 No. 2. Clementine appears on So Many Roads (1965-1995).

Sat. 02-03-68 Crystal Ballroom, Portland OR
The Eleven segues into a jam into feedback.

Wed. 02-14-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Add Morning Dew to beginning of first set.
Entire show appears on Road Trips Vol. 2 No. 2

Thurs. 02-15-68 San Quentin State Prison, San Quentin, CA
Add date

Sat. 02-17-68 Selland Arena, Fresno, CA
DeadLists has Good Morning Little Schoolgirl and Turn On Your Lovelight comprising the entire set, according to the show's promoter.

Thurs. 02-22-68 King's Beach Bowl, King's Beach, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Morning Dew, Beat it on Down the Line, Dark Star>China Cat Sunflower>The Eleven>Caution

Fri. 02-23-68 King's Beach Bowl, King's Beach, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Viola Lee Blues, Hurts Me Too, Dark Star>China Cat Sunflower>The Eleven>Turn On Your Lovelight, Born Cross-Eyed>Spanish jam
All of above appears on Dick's Picks Vol. 22

Sat. 02-24-68 King's Beach Bowl, King's Beach, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Morning Dew, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>New Potato Caboose, Alligator>China Cat Sunflower>The Eleven>drums>Alligator>Caution>feedback
All of above appears on Dick's Picks Vol. 22

Fri.-Sat. 03-01 & 03-02-68 1300 Boulevard Way, Walnut Creek, CA
Since some confusion still exists about these gigs, clarification is necessary. The eyewitness who reported this at first mistakenly identified the venue as "The Looking Glass," but then realized it was the name of the band that opened for the Dead (or perhaps he was initially misunderstood). The venue's address was 1300 Boulevard Way in Walnut Creek, with the name still unknown. But these shows definitely took place.

Sun. 03-03-68 Haight Street, San Francisco, CA
Add Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment after Hurts Me Too.

Thurs. 03-07-68 San Quentin State Prison, San Quentin, CA
Delete, show actually took place on 02-15

Fri. 03-08-68 MelodyLand Theater, Anaheim, CA

Sat. 03-09-68a MelodyLand Theater, Anaheim, CA (early show)
Add date

Sat. 03-09-68b MelodyLand Theater, Anaheim, CA (late show)
Add date

Sat. 03-16-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Dark Star, China Cat Sunflower, and The Eleven appear on So Many Roads (1965-1995). DeadLists has Morning Dew as the encore, which is not correct.

Sat. 03-17-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Dark Star>Born Cross-Eyed, Turn On Your Lovelight
2: Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>New Potato Caboose>China Cat Sunflower>The Eleven>Caution>feedback
Reel 2 of this show (Lovelight onwards) was released as Grateful Dead Download Series Vol. 6. Reel 1 is no longer playable due to experiments conducted upon it for Anthem of the Sun.

Sun. 03-18-68 Outside of 50 Green Street, San Francisco, CA (KMPX Strike Rally)
The Lost Live Dead blog reports that, according to Dennis McNally (and we can't find the source for this), the Dead played at 3AM. It is certain that Garcia and Hart sat in with Traffic, since photos of them doing so exist.

Sat. 03-23-68 State Fair Coliseum, Detroit, MI
According to the Lost Live Dead blog, this show was moved to the Grande Ballroom due to lack of ticket sales.

Tues. 03-26-68 MelodyLand Theatre, Anaheim, CA
The MelodyLand shows actually took place on 3-8 and 9-68. The tape long dated 03-26-68 and identified as "MelodyLand Theatre" or "unknown location" is, judging by Dick Latvala's notes, actually the first part of 03-29-68. This misread tape is the only evidence of a gig on 03-26, therefore the date can be deleted.

Fri. 03-29-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Death Don't Have No Mercy, Sittin' on Top of the World, Dark Star, Morning Dew, Turn On Your Lovelight>Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>New Potato Caboose>Born Cross-Eyed
The first four tunes are from a tape long misidentified as 03-26-68, and judging by Dick Latvala's notes actually form the first part of 03-29-68. A sonic comparison of both recordings confirms this.

Sat. 03-30-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Morning Dew, Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Dark Star>China Cat Sunflower>The Eleven>Turn On Your Lovelight, Born Cross-Eyed>Spanish jam>Death Don't Have No Mercy
Judging by Dick Latvala's notes, the material after Death Don't Have No Mercy, long associated with this show, actually opened the following night, and a sonic comparison confirms this. DeadLists has a set break after Lovelight, but no such announcement can be heard on the recording. Evidence points toward the Dead having played only one set each night during this run.

Sun. 03-31-68 Carousel Ballrom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Turn On Your Lovelight, Beat it on Down the Line, Dancin' in the Streets, Caution>feedback>We Bid You Goodnight
The first three tunes have long circulated as the end of 03-30-68, but Dick Latvala's notes place them during 03-31 and a sonic comparison confirms this.

Fri.-Sat. Sun. 04-12, 13 & 14-68 Thee Image, Miami Beach, Miami, FL
Apparently the Dead played two consecutive weekends at this venue, since a poster exists for the first, and the poster for the second bears the notation "held over."

Sun. 04-14-68 Greynolds Park, Miami, FL
The Dead played a free concert with Blues Image and, according to the Lost Live Dead blog, this was reported over wire services the next day.

Fri. 05-03-68 Low Library Plaza, Columbia University, New York, NY
Cold Rain and Snow and Sittin' on Top of the World do indeed appear in the film Columbia Revolt, but they are the album renditions used as a soundtrack over footage of the Dead playing this gig.

Sat. 05-18-68a Santa Clara County Fairgrounds, San Jose, CA (Northern California Folk-Rock Festival)
Setlist should read as follows:
Alligator>Caution>feedback

Fri. 05-24-68 National Guard Armory, St. Louis, MO
Move setlist to 02-05-69

06-xx-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
St. Stephen>Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>New Potato Caboose>Alligator>Caution
From compilation reels in vault; material identified as "Carousel Ballroom" with no date. This show also circulates as Winterland 04-03-68, but no substantive proof exists to support the date, which is too early for St. Stephen anyway.
06-yy-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
St. Stephen>Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Turn On Your Lovelight
From compilation reels in vault; material identified as "Carousel Ballroom" with no date.

06-zz-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Morning Dew, Hurts Me Too, Dark Star>St. Stephen>Turn On Your Lovelight
From compilation reels in vault; material identified as "Carousel Ballroom" with no date.

Sat. 06-01-68 The Panhandle, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, CA
According to the Lost Live Dead blog, the Dead, Charlie Musselwhite, and Petris, who were all playing the Carousel Ballroom that weekend, did a free gig in the Panhandle the afternoon of the last show. The blog has not yet cited specifically where it got this information, only that it has been "alluded to in various places."

Sun. afternoon 06-09-68 Speedway Meadows, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, CA
The Jefferson Airplane and the Grateful Dead attempted to play a memorial concert for the late Robert F. Kennedy but were prevented from doing so by the San Francisco Police Department due to lack of a permit, according to the June 10, 1968 Hayward Daily Review.

Fri. 06-14-68b Fillmore East, New York, NY
"Caution" appears on the Fillmore West 1969 bonus disc.

Sat. 06-15-68b Fillmore East, New York, NY
Remove setlist. This is the 06-14-68 late show scrambled.

Sun. 06-16-68 The Village Gate, New York, NY
DeadLists has the band playing this gig in the early afternoon or late evening as part of a 4-day benefit for former addicts, according to an ad in the New York Times. More research is warranted to determine if the Dead actually played it.

Wed. 06-19-68 Carousel Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
(Black Man's Free Store benefit)
Move setlist to 02-19-69

Sat. 06-22-68 Phoenix Travelodge Theater, Phoenix, AZ
DeadLists has the band playing this gig with Ten Years After and Thackeray Rocke, according to the Arizona Republic and subsequently confirmed by a short review in the same newspaper.

07-??-68 unknown location
Caution jam
Studio session.

07-??-68 Honolulu International Center, Honolulu, HI
The August 10, 1968 Billboard reported that scheduled July dates for the Dead in Honolulu had been rescheduled for the following January, which did not take place either.

Tues. 08-13-68 Pacific Recording, San Mateo, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Clementine jam, Nobody's Spoonful jam, Eleven jam
Studio session, appears as Aoxomoxoa bonus tracks on The Golden Road (1965-1973)
Wed. 08-21-68 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
No segue from Cryptical into Schoolgirl.

Fri. 08-23-68 Shrine Exhibition Hall, Los Angeles, CA
Add feedback after Caution.
Alligator>Caution>Feedback appears as Anthem of the Sun bonus tracks on The Golden Road (1965-1973), and also on the 2007 re-release of Two From the Vault.

Fri. 09-20-68 Berkeley Community Theatre, Berkeley, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, St. Stephen>The Eleven>drums*
*with Shankar Ghosh and Vince Delgado

Sat. 09-21-68 Pacific Recording, San Mateo, CA
Add Clementine jam

Sat. 10-05-68 Sacramento Memorial Auditorium, Sacramento, CA
also: The Youngbloods

Tues 10-08-68 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Clementine jam>Eleven jam>Death Don't Have No Mercy, The Seven, Dark Star jam>Cosmic Charlie
2: Next Time You See Me jam, jam, Other One jam>jam*
3: jam, jam, jam, Prisoner Blues, jam
Mickey Hart and the Hartbeats. *with Jack Casady. with Elvin Bishop. Hart, Bishop, and Casady.

10-10 to 11-05-68 European tour
The October 12, 1968 issue of Billboard reported a Grateful Dead tour of Europe to begin October 10. Here is the prospective itinerary according to the Lost Live Dead blog:

Oct 9-arrive London

Oct 10-Revolution Club, London

Oct 11-12 Middle Earth Club, London (ads exist for these shows)

Oct 13-21: London, Birmingham, Leicester, Liverpool

Oct 22-25: Belgium and Holland (approximate dates)

Oct 26-31: Sweden and Denmark (approximate dates)

Nov 1-5: England (approximate dates)

Obviously, none of this happened.

Wed. 10-09-68 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
remove list

Thurs. 10-10-68 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
jam, I Know It's a Sin, Next Time You See Me jam*, Rub jam*, Yonder's Wall*, jam>Lovelight jam>drums>jam>Death Don't Have No Mercy, Dark Star jam>Eleven jam>The Seven Mickey Hart and the Hartbeats. *with Paul Butterfield and Elvin Bishop. Set breaks are uncertain.

Fri. 10-11-68 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Since Pig Pen did not perform the other two nights of this run, it is probably safe to assume that he didn't on this night as well.

Sat. 10-12-68 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven>Death Don't Have No Mercy
2: Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>New Potato Caboose>jam>drums>jam>feedback
Pig Pen did not perform that night. This show was not broadcast live on the radio at the time of its performance, but a recording of it aired on KSAN as part of a San Francisco Music anniversary celebration in early 1976 along with a Cold Rain and Snow and a Morning Dew of earlier origin which have thus sometimes been included as part of this show. Recording circulated for years primarily as 10-13-68 but also under other dates.

Sun. 10-13-68 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven>Death Don't Have No Mercy
2: Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical

Envelopment>New Potato Caboose>drums>jam>feedback
Pig Pen did not perform that night. This is the actual 10-13-68, and while the setlist is almost identical to that of the previous night it is in fact a different performance and was not broadcast on the radio.

Wed. 10-30-68 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Dark Star jam>Death Letter Blues, Other One jam, St. Stephen jam>jam, Lovelight jam, jam, jam>Eleven jam>Death Don't Have No Mercy>jam*, Prisoner Blues*, blues jam, Baby Please Come Back to Me, jam, Dark Star jam
Mickey hart and the Hartbeats. *with Elvin Bishop. with Jack Casady. Set breaks are uncertain.

Fri. 11-15-68 Coliseum, Oregon State University, Corvallis, OR
A poster exists for this show, with Mint Tattoo and City Blue opening. However, the following night in Vancouver was cancelled, so this show might have been also.

Sun 11-17-68 Eagles Auditorium, Seattle, WA
DeadLists has this as a benefit for Indian rights with separate shows at 3PM and 9PM, according to ads in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and the Helix.

Wed.11-27-68 Kinetic Playground, Chicago, IL
DeadLists has Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment and Alligator being performed this night according to an eyewitness, who also remembered Doin' That Rag, Dupree's Diamond Blues, Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven>Turn On Your Lovelight, and Feedback from this two-night run. Doin' That Rag and Dupree's, however, had not been performed live yet, which makes this information somewhat suspect.

Sat. 12-07-68 Bellarmine College, Louisville, KY
Change "unknown tune" to Rosemary. In addition, Billy was absent that night.

12-??-68 unknown location
Setlist should read as follows:
Turn On Your Lovelight*, Dark Star, St. Stephen>The Eleven, St. Stephen>The Eleven, St. Stephen>The Eleven, St. Stephen>The Eleven, St. Stephen>The Eleven, The Eleven, St. Stephen, St. Stephen, St. Stephen>The Eleven, The Eleven, The Eleven, jam>The Eleven, drums>The Eleven, drums>The Eleven Rehearsal with Tom Constanten. *Garcia on vocals. Much of this consists only of fragments of these songs.

Mon. 12-16-68 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
Delete, move setlist to 12-23-68

Fri. 12-20-68 Shrine Exhibition Hall, Los Angeles, CA
No segue from The Eleven to Mountains of the Moon.

Sat 12-21-68 Shrine Exposition Hall, Los Angeles, CA
Switch feedback and Caution.

Mon. 12-23-68 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA
Setlist moved from 12-16-68:
2: St. Stephen>Turn On Your Lovelight>jam>Turn On Your Lovelight>Death Don't Have No Mercy>Dark Star>Cosmic Charlie>jam>Dark Star>The One You Love>Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>jam>The Eleven>Death Don't Have No Mercy>jam
Mickey Hart and the Hartbeats. First set blues jam with Jack Casady and Spencer Dryden, Second set with Jack Casady and David Getz. Third set with Harvey Mandel and George Chambers.
The circulating recording labeled as the Hartbeats from this month contains the tunes "The Creator Has a Master Plan," and "Hartbeat Blues" into "Last jam." Where this fits into the above is uncertain; one school of thought places the three tunes during the following night when Garcia supposedly jammed with the Harvey Mandel Band. In fact, where the above actually belongs is a mystery as well.

Sat. 12-28-68 The Catacombs, Houston, TX
DeadLists has the venue name plus Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment, jam, Morning Dew as per an eyewitness.

Sun. 12-29-68 Gulfstream Park Racetrack, Hallandale, FL (Miami Pop Festival)
The Eleven segues into drums which segues into The Other One

Sun. 01-05-69 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
The Thursday night ticket for this run has "and Sunday" scratched onto it, indicating that the Grateful Dead indeed played this show.

Sat. 01-18-69 Playboy After Dark, Hollywood, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Mountains of the Moon, St. Stephen, Turn On Your Lovelight

Thurs. 01-23-69 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Add date, setlist reads:
The Eleven, Dupree's Diamond Blues
Rehearsal.

Sat. 01-25-69 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Caution comes between Alligator and feedback. Cosmic Charlie appears as an Aoxomoxoa bonus track in The Golden Road (1965-1973).

Sun. 02-02-69 Labor Temple, Minneapolis, MN
The Eleven probably goes into Death Don't Have No Mercy.
Tues 02-04-69 The Music Box, Omaha, NB
Change date of gig from 02-05-69 and move same setlist here. The Liberation Blues Band opened, according to DeadLists.

Wed. 02-05-69 Kansas City, MO
Add date, setlist should read as follows:
Turn On Your Lovelight, Cryptical Envelopment>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven>Caution>feedback>We Bid You Goodnight
Setlist formerly dated 05-24-68. The Dead opened for Iron Butterfly, according to DeadLists.

Thurs. 02-06-69 Kiel Auditorium St. Louis, MO
The Dead opened for Iron Butterfly, according to DeadLists.

Wed. 02-12-69b Fillmore East, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven>Death Don't Have No Mercy, Alligator>Caution>feedback>We Bid You Goodnight. Late show

Wed. 02-19-69 Fillmore West, San Francisco (Frontiers of Celestial Synapse)
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Turn On Your Lovelight>Not Fade Away>Turn On Your Lovelight
2: jam>The Main Ten>jam>The Other One
The above very poor recording circulates as 06-19-68. This is erroneous. Apparently the date written on the vault tape's box is unclear enough to where Dick read it as 08-29-68, meaning that it could easily be 02-19-69. More importantly, the Lovelight>Not Fade Away>Lovelight sandwich sounds very close in time to the Live Dead shows, and TC can occasionally be heard through the murk. The Lovelight>Not Fade Away>Lovelight seems to be the end of the Dead's regular set that night; after which Don McCoy of Rancho Olompali made a speech. According to the San Francisco Chronicle review of the Celestial Synapse, he did that very thing at this show and, in common with many others in attendance, while not wearing any clothes. The group chanting, and the loose nature of the jam that followed also fit into the general description of the Celestial Synapse. This jam featured several guest musicians, but it's difficult to ascertain who they are. The presence of both Not Fade Away and The Main Ten also argue for the 02-19-69 date. Not Fade Away had not been performed at all in probably close to three years, but the next attempt at it took place in Boston on April 23rd. The Main Ten had never been played previously, but surfaced again at the Tucson show on April 11th. And, the Dead's crew brought Pacific Recording's 16-track machine to this gig in another attempt to record material for what eventually became Live Dead. Obviously, the sound problems that occurred explain why none of it was used.

Thurs. 02-27-69 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Doin' That Rag, Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment
2: Dupree's Diamond Blues, Mountains of the Moon>Dark Star*>St. Stephen*>The Eleven*>Turn On Your Lovelight*

Sat. 03-15-69 Hilton Hotel, San Francisco, CA (Black and White Ball)
Delete Morning Dew and Alligator.

Mon. 03-17-69 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA ("Monster Jam" benefit for Olompali)
The Lost Live Dead blog cites a notice in the March 17, 1969 Berkeley Barb announcing this show with musicians from the Dead, the Jefferson Airplane, the Sons of Champlin, and others, conceding that the entire bands might not have performed.

Thurs. 03-27-69 Merced, CA
Show might not have taken place. Move setlist to 03-28-69.

Fri. 03-28-69 Student Center, Modesto Jr. College, Modesto, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven, Death Don't Have No Mercy, Turn On Your Lovelight
2: Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment

Fri. 04-04-69 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Lovelight opens rather than closes the second set.
Sat. 04-05-69 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Dupree's Diamond Blues does not segue into Mountains of the Moon.

Sun. 04-06-69 Avalon Ballroom, San Francisco, CA
Viola Lee Blues is the encore.

Fri. 04-11-69 University Auditorium, University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ
There is a Main Ten during Dark Star. The Dead also played Morning Dew and Sittin' on Top of the World (most likely to open the show) according to a review in the Arizona Daily Star via DeadLists.

Sat. 04-12-69 Student Union Ballroom, University of Utha, Salt Lake City, UT
Setlist should read as follows:
Morning Dew, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Doin' That Rag, Just a Hand to Hold, Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment, Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven>Turn On Your Lovelight>feedback

Tues. 04-15-69 The Music Box, Omaha, NB
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Hard to Handle, Beat it on Down the Line, Morning

Dew, Hurts Me Too, China Cat Sunflower>Doin' That Rag>I Know It's a Sin, Turn On Your Lovelight
2: Sittin' on Top of the World, Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven

Thurs. 04-17-69 Washington University, St. Louis, MO
Hard to Handle opens the first set.
Entire show released as Grateful Dead Download Series Volume 12

Sun. 04-20-69 Atwood Hall, Clark University, Worcester, MA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Morning Dew, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Doin' That Rag, Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven>Death Don't Have No Mercy, Turn On Your Lovelight
E: Dupree's Diamond Blues>Mountains of the Moon

Tues. 04-22-69 The Ark, Boston, MA
Dupree's Diamond Blues does not segue into Mountains of the Moon.

Wed. 04-23-69 The Ark, Boston, MA
Add drums and Eleven jam between Alligator and Caution. Not Fade Away tease before Baby Blue.

Fri. 04-25-69 Electric Theater, Chicago, IL
The Velvet Underground opened the show.

Sat. 04-26-69 Electric Theater, Chicago, IL
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Dupree's Diamond Blues, Mountains of the Moon>Dark Star jam>China Cat Sunflower>Doin' That Rag, Hurts Me Too>Hard to Handle, Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Eleven jam>The Other One>I Know It's a Sin, Morning Dew, Sittin' on Top of the World, New New Minglewood Blues, Silver Threads and Golden Needles, It's All Over Now, Baby Blue, St. Stephen>Turn On Your Lovelight
E: Viola Lee Blues*>feedback>We Bid You Goodnight
The Velvet Underground closed the show. *appears on Fallout from the Phil Zone. appears on Dick's Picks Volume 26. band played along with studio outtake of What's Become of the Baby.

Sun. 04-27-69 Labor Temple, Minneapolis, MN
Entire show appears on Dick's Picks Volume 26.

Wed. 05-07-69 Polo Field, Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
jam>Me and My Uncle, jam, The Other One>Smokestack Lightnin', Good Lovin'*, Dark Star>drums>Turn On Your Lovelight *sung by Garcia. Above is what exists on the circulating recording, which is somewhat chopped. Our former list, which came from eyewitness Judy Dawson, had some of the above in a different order and also listed Dancin' in the Streets, Hi Heel Sneakers, and The Eleven.

Sun. 5/11/69 Aztec Bowl, San Diego State University, San Diego, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Morning Dew, Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Me and My Uncle, Alligator>drums>jam>drums>jam>drums>Turn On Your Lovelight
With additional drummers during the Alligator jam. Recording often circulates as 05-29-69.

Fri. 05-23-69 Seminole Indian Village, West Hollywood, FL
"Big Rock Pow-Wow." Entire set appears on Road Trips Vol. 4 No. 1

Sat. 05-24-69 Seminole Indian Village, West Hollywood, FL
"Big Rock Pow-Wow." Entire set appears on Road Trips Vol. 4 No. 1

Wed. 05-28-69 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA (People's Park Bail Ball benefit)
According to Michael Lydon in Rolling Stone, Doin' That Rag and St. Stephen were also performed at this show.

Thurs. 05-29-69 Robertson Gym, University of California, Santa Barbara, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Turn On Your Lovelight.
Above is the one tune reported from this show by Michael Lydon in Rolling Stone. The recording that circulates with this date seems actually from 05-11-69 in San Diego, since Lydon did not report a bunch of percussionists all on stage at once.

Fri. 05-30-69 Springer's Inn, Portland, OR
Setlist should read as follows:
Morning Dew, Me and My Uncle, Doin' That Rag, I'm a King Bee, Dark Star>Cosmic Charlie, St. Stephen>The Eleven>Turn On Your Lovelight
DeadLists states that the circulating tape of this show cuts after Garcia teasing the opening notes to St. Stephen and resumes right before the first vocals to The Eleven, therefore the actual presence of St. Stephen is uncertain. Our copy of this show, however, does contain the complete Stephen, which features an extended intro due to Garcia's having broken a string for about the third time that night.

06-??-69 unknown location
Dire Wolf x2, Casey Jones, High Time x2, Hawaiian Blues, Dire Wolf x 4, High Time
Recording of Garcia acoustically working out these new tunes, with some overdubs. Since this is definitely before the entire band started playing them, it is most probably from early June of 1969 and not, as some opinion holds, right before Workingman's Dead was recorded.

Fri. 06-06-69 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
Delete Dark Star>St. Stephen>The Eleven.

Sat. 06-07-69 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
Dire Wolf does not segue into Dupree's Diamond Blues which does not segue into Mountains of the Moon.

Sun. 06-08-69 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
Just a Hand to Hold>China Cat Sunflower>New Potato Caboose appears on the Fillmore West 1969 bonus disc. The Lost Live Dead blog speculates that there may have been additional performers on stage during the first three songs in the second set, and that this might have been the night of the legendary massive dosing rather than the 6th.

Wed. 06-11-69 California Hall, San Francisco, CA
(Bobby Ace and his cards from the Bottom of the Deck)
It must be stressed that the setlist of this show came from eyewitness Judy Dawson, and that no recording has ever surfaced.

Sat. 06-21-69a Fillmore East, New York, NY (early show)
There might be a segue from Me and My Uncle to High Time. Add jam between drums and The Other One.

Sat. 06-21-69b Fillmore East, New York, NY (late show)
Old Old House starts the set, not Green Green Grass of Home.

Sun. 06-22-69 Central Park, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Dancin' in the Streets, Casey Jones, Hard to Handle, Sittin' on Top of the World, Silver Threads and Golden Needles, Me and My Uncle, Dark Star>The Other One>St. Stephen>I Know It's a Sin>Turn On Your Lovelight DeadLists has a "jam" segueing into Casey Jones, but this is merely how the Dead originally started the song.

Fri. 06-27-69 Veterans Auditorium, Santa Rosa, CA
Dire Wolf appears as a Workingman's Dead bonus track in The Golden Road (1965-1973).

Sat. 06-28-69 Veterans Auditorium, Santa Rosa, CA
Add Me and My Uncle between Mama Tried and Doin' That Rag

Thurs. 07-03-69 Reed's Ranch, Colorado Springs, CO
Setlist should read as follows:

Fri. 07-04-69 Electric Theater, Chicago, IL
Setlist should read as follows:
Hard to Handle, Mama Tried, Ol' Slewfoot, Silver Threads and Golden Needles, Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>High Time>Casey Jones, I'm a King Bee, Sittin' on Top of the World>Me and My Uncle, Doin' That Rag, Let Me In, Dire Wolf, St. Stephen>Turn On Your Lovelight A slight "Cryptical" tease can be heard before the band settles into High Time.
Sat. 07-05-69 Electric Theater, Chicago, IL
Delete Know You Rider: China Cat goes right into High Time.

Thurs. 07-10-69 Gallagher Estate, Norwalk, CT (Hell's Angel's Party)
This seems very suspect, especially since a fake tape emerged bearing this setlist.

Fri. 07-11-69 New York State Pavilion, Flushing Meadow Park, Queens, NY
The segue from Sittin' on Top of the World to Big Boss Man is rather iffy. Add drums and jam between Alligator and The Other One

Sat. 07-12-69 New York State Pavilion, Flushing Meadow Park, Queens, NY
Green Green Grass of Home opens, and Mountains of the Moon comes after Ol' Slewfoot.

Sun. 08-03-69 Family Dog at the Great Highway, San Francisco, CA
Snooky Flowers plays sax and David LaFlamme electric violin through most of the set. Add drums and The Other One between Alligator and Caution.

Thurs. 08-21-69 Green Lake Aqua Theatre, Seattle, WA
Add Cryptical Envelopment between The Other One and Dark Star.

Thurs. 08-28-69 Family Dog at the Great Highway, San Francisco, CA (Mickey Hart and the Hartbeats)
Band is Garcia, Hart, Lesh, and Howard Wales.

Fri. 08-29-69 Family Dog at the Great Highway, San Francisco, CA

Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Doin' That Rag, Just a Hand to Hold, Big Boy Pete>Good Lovin'*, It's All Over Now, In the Midnight Hour.
*sung by Garcia. Other tunes might come between It's All Over Now and Midnight Hour.

Sun. 09-07-69 Hyde Park, London, England
On August 27, 1969 Ralph J. Gleason announced in the San Francisco Chronicle that the Dead would be joining the Jefferson Airplane, Crosby Stills & Nash, and Joni Mitchell for a free concert in London's Hyde Park, which obviously did not take place.

Thurs. 09-11-69 unknown location
Easy Wind
This could well be from a different date.

Sat. 9-27-69a Fillmore East, New York, NY (early show)
Delete Uncle John's jam.

Mon. 09-29-69a Café au Go Go, New York, NY (early show)
Deadlists has Just a Hand to Hold as part of this show according to an eyewitness, who also confirmed this as the early show.

Tues. 09-30-69a Café au Go Go, New York, NY (early show)
The circulating tape has the China Cat>Rider and the Alligator jam switched from what is on our list, with the tunings still coming before Alligator.

Sun. 10-05-69 Sam Houston Coliseum, Houston, TX
DeadLists, according to an eyewitness, claims that the Dead actually did perform this show and played Turn On Your Lovelight.

Mon. 10-06-69 Family Dog at the Great Highway, San Francisco, CA
The Lost Live Dead blog speculates that this show might not have taken place. The San Francisco Chronicle does not mention it at all.

Fri. 10-17-69 Loma Prieta Room, Student Union, San Jose State College,San Jose, CA
This was a NRPS gig rather than the Grateful Dead, according to that morning's Ralph Gleason column in the San Francisco Chronicle. Gleason refers to the venue as the "S. J. State College Student Ballroom;" Lost Live Dead assumes he meant the same venue the Dead played on the 31st.

Sat. 10/25/69 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA
Stephen Stills appears on Lovelight.

Sun. 10/26/69 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA
An instrumental jam essentially opened the show while the sound crew attempted to get the monitors working. Delete King Bee and replace it with Easy Wind.

10-??-69 unknown location
Setlist should read as follows:
Feelin' Groovy jam, Uncle John's jam
Rehearsal.

Sun. 10-31-69 Loma Prieta Room, Student Union, San Jose State College,San Jose, CA
The Lost Live Dead blog names the exact venue by citing a poster which it does not provide a link for, but there does not seem to be any reason to doubt this information.

Sat. 11-01-69 Family Dog at the Great Highway, San Francisco, CA
Switch Easy Wind and Good Lovin'. Add Uncle John's jam before Lovelight with segue.

Fri. 11-07-69 New Old Fillmore, San Francisco, CA
Lovelight appears on Dick's Picks Volume 16. Add "Spring Song" to the tuning description after "Merry-Go-Round Broke Down."

Sat. 05-16-70 Temple University, Philadelphia, PA
Setlist should read as follows:
Casey Jones, Mama Tried, Hard to Handle, China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, New Speedway Boogie, New New Minglewood Blues, Turn On Your Lovelight

Sun. 05-17-70 Fairfield University, Fairfield, CT
According to the Lost Live Dead blog, the Dead may have actually played an off-campus event called the "Clam Jam."

Thurs. 05-21-70 Pepperland, San Rafael, CA
Show does not exist. DeadLists has the Dead playing this date at this venue with Big Brother and Janis, and with Janis sitting in with the Dead during Lovelight. They seem to be confusing it with the 07-16-70 Euphoria Ballroom show; that venue became Pepperland in September of 1970.

Sun. 05-24-70 Lower Finney Green Fram, Leycett, England
Darkness jam in the middle of Lovelight.

Thurs. 06-04-70 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Monkey and Engineer @, Deep Elem@, Candyman@, Silver Threads@, FOTD@, Black Peter @, Cumberland@, Wake Up Little Susie@, Swing Low@, Uncle John@

Sat. 06-06-70 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
There appears to be no set break between I Know You Rider and Good Lovin'. Attics of My Life appears as an American Beauty bonus track in The Golden Road (1965-1973).

Sun. 06-07-70 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Acoustic: Don't Ease Me In, Silver Threads and Golden Needles, Friend of the Devil, Candyman, Cold Jordan, Swing Low Sweet Chariot, Cumberland Blues, Me and My Uncle, New Speedway Boogie
Electric: Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>jam>drums>The Main Ten>Sugar Magnolia, Louie Louie jam, It's a Man's World, Mama Tried, Sittin' on Top of the World, Cosmic Charlie, Casey Jones, Good Lovin', Frozen Logger

Fri. 06-12-70 Honolulu Civic Auditorium, Honolulu, HI
Setlist should read as follows:
Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment
Here we will also emphasize that John Cipollina and Dino Valenti must have been mistaken when they told Mike Dolgushkin that Quicksilver played with the Dead at a Honolulu club called the Red Vest and at Diamond Head Crater, but not at Honolulu Civic (DeadLists still claims the erroneous venues).

Wed. 06-24-70a Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NY (early show)Don't Ease
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Casey Jones, Black Peter, Good Lovin > Drums > Good Lovin, Mama Tried, High Time, Cryptical > drums > Other One > Cryptical > Cosmic Charlie
E: New New Minglewood Blues
This recording commonly circulates as the 03-20-70 early show, however, Howard Stein can be heard welcoming the band back to the Capitol Theater, which he would not have done at their first performance there. The recording long dated either 06-25-70 or the 06-24-70 early show, is actually Marty Weinberg's master of 07-10-70 at the Fillmore East.

Sat. 06-27-70a Canadian National Exhibition Hall, Toronto, Ontario, Canada
Don't Ease Me In from this show appears in the movie and DVD of Festival Express, but since it took place outdoors the name of the venue might be different

Sat. 06-27-70b Coronation Park, Toronto, Ontario, Canada
The Dead played an acoustic set at this park to appease the ticketless hordes clamoring for free admission to the regular festival. Footage of this appears in the movie and DVD of Festival Express accompanied by the studio recording of Friend of the Devil.

Sun. 06-28-70 Coronation Park, Toronto, Ontario Canada
DeadLists has an eyewitness claiming a Grateful Dead electric set at this venue on this date.

06-28 to 07-02-70 Festival Express Train
The Festival Express movie and DVD includes footage of Garcia, Weir, Rick Danko, Janis, and others performing No More Cane on the Brazos, and a recording exists of Garcia, Weir, and others performing four jams (one of which is barely recognizable as "Honky Tonk Women") and an instrumental Sugar Magnolia.

Wed. 07-01-70 Winnipeg Fairgrounds, Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada
Setlist should read as follows:
Acoustic: Candyman, Dire Wolf, Uncle John's Band
Electric: Me and My Uncle, Easy Wind*, China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, Turn On Your Lovelight *appears as a Festival Express DVD bonus song. List is likely incomplete.

Fri. 07-03-70 MacMahon Stadium, Calgary, Alberta, Canada
Setlist should read as follows:
Candyman, Hard to Handle, New Speedway Boogie*>Nobody's jam*>New Speedway Boogie* *appears in Festival Express. appears as a Festival Express DVD bonus song. Candyman is performed electric in this case (it is not 100% certain that it actually belongs here), and the list is likely incomplete.

07-??-70 unknown location
Setlist should read as follows:
Dire Wolf, Don't Ease Me In, Attics of My Life, Friend of the Devil, Let Me In, Candyman, Uncle John's Band
This acoustic set, which circulates dated either 06-24-70 or 08-17-70, appears to be from a New York-area show in about July and not from KSAN studios as claimed in DeadLists.

Wed. 07-08-70 Mississippi River Festival, Edwardsville, IL
The Dead played Good Lovin' at this show, according to a review in the July 9, 1970 Alton (IL) Evening Telegraph.

Fri. 07-10-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Electric: Cold Rain and Snow, Me and My Uncle, Easy Wind, New New Minglewood Blues, Alligator>drums>jam>The Other One>Attics of My Life>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Cosmic Charlie, Good Lovin'>drums>China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider>Good Lovin'
E: Not Fade Away
This recording circulated for years as 6-25-70 at the Capitol Theater in Port Chester, New York, before being re-dated as the early show on the 06-24-70 after it became evident that no show took place at that venue on the 25th. This is actually legendary taper Marty Weinberg's master of the 07-10-70 Fillmore East show (minus the acoustic set). Indeed, before the encore someone can be heard announcing right into the tape machine "Yes, here we are at the scenic Fillmore Auditorium [sic] in the scenic East Village."

Sat. 07-11-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Acoustic: Monkey and the Engineer, Don't Ease Me In, Been All Around this World, Dark Hollow, Black Peter,

El Paso, New Speedway Boogie, So Sad, Rosalie McFall, I Hear a Voice Calling, Cold Jordan, Swing Low Sweet Chariot
Electric: Morning Dew, Sittin' on Top of the World, Me and My Uncle, Not Fade Away, Casey Jones, Mama Tried, Good Lovin*, High Time, Cumberland Blues, China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, Viola Lee Blues, Uncle John's Band
*Weir on vocals. Several attendees of this show and the following have claimed that the performance long identified as 07-11-70 is actually 07-12, and vice-versa. While we will acknowledge this as a possibility, we will also point out the fact that two audience master recordings (one of them Weinberg's) exist of what has long been identified as 07-11, and both of them bear that date. Confusion on this may stem from the fact that the shows began at midnight.

Sun. 07-12-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY

08-70 Wally Heider's, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Ripple, To Lay Me Down*
Recording sessions for American Beauty. * appears on So Many Roads (1965-1995).
Tues. 08-18-70 Fillmore West, San Francisco, CA
Casey Jones does not segue into Uncle John's Band. Two journalists wrote on this performance: Michael Lydon in Rolling Stone, and Ed McLahahan in Playboy. While both left out a few songs, it's clear that they are talking about this show. In addition, McLanahan mentioned Lovelight from the following night; it's unfortunate that he was too zoned on nitrous oxide the night of the 17th to have given a report on that.

Thurs. 09-17-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Acoustic: Truckin', Monkey and the Engineer, Dark Hollow, Friend of the Devil, Ripple, Brokedown Palace, Box of Rain, Rosalie McFall, Cold Jordan>Swing Low Sweet Chariot
Electric: Sugar Magnolia, Dark Star>St. Stephen>drums>Good Lovin'
The electric set is probably missing a few tunes.

Fri. 09-18-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Acoustic: Truckin', Black Peter
Electric: Casey Jones, Sugar Magnolia, Candyman, Cryptical Envelopment>drums>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Brokedown Palace, It's a Man's World, Till the Morning Comes, Me and My Uncle, Operator, Dancin' in the Streets, St. Stephen>Not Fade Away>Good Lovin'
E. We Bid You Goodnight
Roughly half of Black Peter was performed before Garcia decided to call a halt to the acoustic set.

Sat. 09-19-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Acoustic: Don't Ease Me In, Candyman, Silver Threads and Golden Needles, Friend of the Devil, Deep Elem Blues, The Rub, Rosalie McFall, Cumberland Blues, New Speedway Boogie, To Lay Me Down, Cold Jordan>Swing Low Sweet Chariot
Electric: Morning Dew, Me and My Uncle, Good Morning Little Schoolgirl, Cold Rain and Snow, Easy Wind, Sugar Magnolia, Dark Star>St. Stephen>Not Fade Away>Darkness jam>China Cat jam>Not Fade Away>Turn On Your Lovelight.

Sun. 09-20-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY
The fragment of Good Lovin' sometimes included on this tape actually belongs with 09-18-70.

Saturday 10-03-70 Washoe County Fairgrounds, Reno, NV
The Lost Live Dead blog speculates that the Dead and Hot Tuna might have played this gig based on a mention of it in an article on Vicky Jo Todd, Miss Nevada of 1970. No exact date is given for the show, and no further proof has surfaced that it actually took place.

Sun. 10-04-70 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA
Till the Morning Comes and Uncle John's Band appear as American Beauty bonus tracks in The Golden Road (1965-1973), the latter misdated as 12-23-70. On that date a compilation multitrack tape of material from 10-04 and 10-05-70 was made. Cold Rain and Snow from this night is often thus incorrectly dated as well.

Mon. 10-05-70 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA
Setlist should read as follows:
Casey Jones, Hard to Handle, Candyman, Me and My Uncle, Good Lovin', Dancin' in the Streets* , Turn On Your Lovelight.
*appears (correctly dated) as a bonus track on Grateful Dead Download Series: Family Dog at the Great Highway.
 these tunes circulate incorrectly dated 12-23-70, since a compilation multitrack tape was made on that date consisting of material from this show and the one previous. The above list, except for the opening and closing songs, might have been performed in a different order, and there may be tunes missing. Deadlists claims two Dead sets on this night, but considering the number of bands on the bill it is highly unlikely.

Sat. 10-10-70 Colden Auditorium, Queens College, New York, NY
Goin' Down the Road is without vocals. NRPS did not play.

Sun. 10-11-70 Marion Shea Auditorium, Paterson State College, ,Wayne, NJ
Delete Uncle John's Band. NRPS probably did not play, and likely did not appear at any other Dead performances until October 23.

Mon. 10-12-70 Marion Shea Auditorium, Paterson State College, ,Wayne, NJ
DeadLists claims an unscheduled show at this venue according to an eyewitness and a review in the school newspaper.

Sat. 10-17-70 Cleveland Music Hall, Cleveland, OH
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Casey Jones, China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, Me and My Uncle, Hurts Me Too, Truckin', Cryptical Envelopment>dryms>The Other One>Cryptical Envelopment>Sugar Magnolia, Candyman, Hard to Handle

2: Good Lovin'>drums>Good Lovin', Cold Rain and Snow, Dark Star>St. Stephen>Not Fade Away>Goin' Down the Road>Not Fade Away>Turn On Your Lovelight
E: Uncle John's Band

Fri. 10-23-70 McDonough Arena, Georgetown University, Washington, DC
Delete drums.

Thurs. 11-05-70 Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NYSounbdecheck: CaRipple [@]
Add second drums between St. Stephen and Not Fade Away.

Fri. 11-06-70 Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NY
Soundcheck: Candyman x2, Uncle John's Band x2, Attics of My Life, drums & Phil. Has circulated as soundcheck for 03-20-70 early show.

Sat. 11-07-70 Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
Acoustic: Deep Elem Blues, Monkey and the Engineer, Big Railroad Blues, Operator, El Paso, How Long Blues, Ripple, Brokedown Palace>Uncle John's Band
Electric 1: Cumberland Blues, Cold Rain and Snow, Hurts Me Too, Beat it on Down the Line, Truckin'>drums>The Other One>Casey Jones
Electric 2: Attics of My Life, Sugar Magnolia, Big Boss Man, Mama Tried, China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, I'm a King Bee, Good Lovin'

Sun. 11-08-70 Capitol Theatre, Port Chester, NY
Since this show featured the Dead's last acoustic set until 11-17-78, it seems a good place to point out that all subsequent NRPS and GD double bills had the New Riders performing before the Dead. Setlists on some websites have the New Riders sets taking place between the Dead's electric sets well into 1971—this is erroneous.

Wed. 11-10-70 46th Street Rock Palace, Brooklyn, NY
The circulating tape claiming to originate from this show is actually a fragmentary combination of 09-20-70 and an as yet unidentified 1971 show.

Wed. 11-11-70 46th Street Rock Palace, Brooklyn, NY
Remove set break between Truckin' and Good Lovin'.

Thurs. 11-12-70 46th Street Rock Palace, Brooklyn, NY
DeadBase's long-running setlist of this show is from a tape that circulated in the 1970s but does not seem to be available now.

Fri. 11-13-70 46th Street Rock Palace, Brooklyn, NY
DeadLists has the following according to two eyewitnesses:
1: Casey Jones, Uncle John's Band, Sugar Magnolia, Truckin'
2: Dark Star>St. Stephen, Not Fade Away
If this is accurate it is obviously fragmentary.

Mon. 11-16-70 Fillmore East, New York, NY
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Casey Jones, Friend of the Devil, Cold Rain and Snow, I'm a King Bee>China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, Mama Tried, Truckin'>The Other One, Hard to Handle*, Big Railroad Blues*, Not Fade Away* >Goin' Down the Road* >Not Fade Away* **
E: Uncle John's Band
*with Steve Winwood. with Chris Wood. with Will Scarlett. This recording long circulated as "Anderson Theater, 11-23-70," but Greg Shaw and others have proven that this is in fact the 11-16 Fillmore East show. An audience tape of Good Lovin' with Jack Casady and Jorma Kaukonen sitting in also exists from this show, but where it fits in the above sequence is uncertain.

Fri. 11-20-70 The Palestra, University of Rochester, Rochester, NY
Uncle John's Band is probably the encore, but when dealing with choppy audience recordings such as this it can be hard to tell.

Mon. 11-23-70 Anderson Theater, New York, NY (Hell's Angels benefit)
Delete setlist and notes pertaining to it.

Fri. 11-27-70 The Syndrome, Chicago, IL
DeadLists claims that NRPS opened, a jam leading into Casey Jones opened the Dead's first set, and a Truckin' into The Other One occurred in the Dead's second set. No source for this is given.

Sun. 11-29-70 Club Agora, Columbus, OH
Remove set break between Casey Jones and Dire Wolf.

Sat. 12-12-70 Sonoma County Fairgrounds, Santa Rosa, CA
Add St. Stephen jam after Darkness jam.

12-1?-70 unknown location
Delete date, list is moved elsewhere.

Tues. 12-15-70 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA (David and the Dorks)
Move list to 12-16.

Wed. 12-16-70 The Matrix, San Francisco, CA (David and the Dorks)
Setlist should read as follows:
Soundcheck: Alabama Bound, Eight Miles High, Cowboy Movie, Wall Song, Bertha, Bird Song
1: Drop Down Mama, Cowboy Movie, Triad, Wall Song, Bertha, Deep Elem Blues, Motherless Children, Laughing.
The soundcheck/rehearsal had to have taken place no earlier than this date, since band members can be heard talking about what had happened the night before. The actual live set happened after the soundcheck, since Bertha sounds considerably more together. Both are probably from 12-16, but could be from the 17th.

Mon. 12-21-70 Pepperland, San Rafael, CA
DeadLists has Drop Down Mama, Alabama Bound, Triad, and Deep Elem Blues as per an eyewitness.
Also performing were the Jerry Hahn Brotherhood, an unidentified blues band featuring John Kahn on bass, and NRPS.
Tues. 12-22-70 Sacramento Memorial Auditorium, Sacramento, CA
DeadLists has the following according to an eyewitness:
1: Till the Morning Comes, Sugar Magnolia, Dire Wolf, Casey Jones
2: Truckin', Dancin' in the Streets, Turn On Your Lovelight
If this is accurate it is obviously fragmentary.

Wed. 12-23-70 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA (benefit for Montessori Achool and Bear
Here is the correct setlist for 12-23-70:

Deep Elem Blues, Beat it on Down the Line, I'm a King Bee, Me and My Uncle, Cumberland Blues, Me and Bobby McGee, Dire Wolf, Good Lovin', Casey Jones>Uncle John's Band.
The first five songs did not circulate for some years after the rest of the show became available, and were usually replaced with tunes from 10-4 and 5-70 that were part of a compilation tape made on this same date (they also circulate dated 12-17-70, which is not correct either).

Sat. 12-26-70 El Monte Legion Stadium, El Monte, CA
The set break is after Beat it on Down the Line rather than Casey Jones. Truckin' appears as an American Beauty bonus track in The Golden Road (1965-1973).

Sun. 12-27-70 El Monte Legion Stadium, El Monte, CA
Replace Black Peter with Brokedown Palace.

Mon. 12-28-70 El Monte Legion Stadium, El Monte, CA
Morning Dew does not segue into Good Lovin'

Thurs. 12-31-70 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA
Delete Me and My Uncle. Easy Wind appears on the New Year's Eves at Winterland bonus disc for The Closing of Winterland. Monkey and the Engineer and Good Lovin' appear as Grateful Dead Download Series: Family Dog at the Great Highway bonus tracks.

Thurs. 01-21-71 Freeborn Hall, U. of California, Davis. CA
Add Mama Tried between Black Peter & Around and Around.
Fri. 01-22-71 Lane Community College, Eugene, OR
Setlist should read as follows:
Casey Jones, Beat it on Down the Line, Hurts Me Too, Me and My Uncle, Cold Rain and Snow, Hard to Handle, Brokedown Palace, Johnny B. Goode, China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider
It is not known what, if anything, comes after I Know You Rider.

Sun. 01-24-71 Seattle Center Arena, Seattle, WA
Date of 01-25 should change to that above, and setlist should read as follows:
1: Truckin', China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, Hurts Me Too, Cumberland Blues, Casey Jones, Sugar Magnolia
2: Hard to Handle, Turn On Your Lovelight>Not Fade Away>Goin' Down the Road>Turn On Your Lovelight>drums>Good Lovin'

Sun. 03-21-71 Exposition Center, Milwaukee, WI
Setlist should read as follows:
Me and My Uncle, Hard to Handle, Loser, Beat it on Down the Line, Me and Bobby McGee, Not Fade Away>Goin' Down the Road
The Dead played only one set, and above represents the entire circulating recording. The previous list in DeadBase has China Cat>Rider to open with a We Bid You Goodnight encore, while DeadLists has an untimed Truckin' closing the set.

Wed. 03-24-71 Winterland Arena, San Francisco, CA (Sufi benefit)
Setlist should read as follows:
1: Greatest Story Ever Told>Johnny B. Goode*, Next Time You See Me, Loser, Truckin'>drums>The Other One, Bertha, Sugar Magnolia, I'm a King Bee, Beat it on Down the Line

Setlist should read as follows:
1: Promised Land, Sugaree, Mexicali Blues, Tennessee Jed, Jack Straw, Brown Eyed Women, Beat it on Down the Line, China Cat Sunflower>I Know You Rider, El Paso, U.S. Blues, Greatest Story Ever Told, It Must have Been the Roses, Me and Bobby McGee, Deal, Around and Around
2: Mississippi Half Step, Truckin'>Nobody's jam>The Other One>Mind Left Body jam>Row Jimmy, Big River, Ship of Fools, Sugar Magnolia
Set breaks cannot be determined from the circulating tapes, but the most likely spot for one is between Around and Around and Half Step-definitely not between Half Step and Truckin'. In addition, the band blew up a good part of the PA early on and probably took an equipment break somewhere in the first set, which would explain why some in attendance described this as a "three-set show."

Tues. 05-14-74 Adams Field House, University of Montana, Missoula, MT
Add Mexicali Blues between Tennessee Jed and Deal. Entire show released as "Dave's Picks Volume 9."

Tues. 02-06-79 Tulsa Fairgrounds Pavilion, Tulsa, OK
DeadLists has Stagger Lee and Passenger between Minglewood and Deal, but since no recording of this show is known to exist, the accuracy of that or the rest of the setlist is impossible to determine.

Wed. 02-07-79 SIU Arena, University of Southern Illinois, Carbondale, IL
Setlist should read as follows:
Don't Ease Me In, Mama Tried>Mexicali Blues, Jackaroe, Looks Like Rain, They Love Each Other, All New Minglewood Blues, Stagger Lee, Dancin' in the Streets>Drumz>I Need a Miracle>Bertha
Dead roadie Steve Parish, in his book Home Before Daylight, cites this as the show where Garcia gobbled four valiums before taking the stage. A gentleman named Tom F. on the Internet Archive claims to have gotten a soundboard master of the first set of this performance two nights later in Kansas City, which is the supposed source of the recording from which the above list originates. Garcia certainly sounds like he is progressively losing it during the set, so it might have made sense for the band to veer into a drum break to give him a chance to straighten up (and he does sound somewhat more together afterwards). What, if anything, happened after Bertha (which ends the set and does not segue into Good Lovin') is unknown. Unfortunately, there are cuts on the recording between Stagger Lee and Dancin', and between Drumz and I Need a Miracle, meaning that there is no conclusive proof that Dancin' into Drumz took place in the opening set and not later.

Doogles said "...We walked in under the legs of a War of the World robot/alien standing two stories tall. To the left were two hangars, one packed with science experiments, and the other conducting a science experiment of it's own by throwing a Burning Man-style rager... the tarmac was filled with airplanes, jets, drones, and a fire-breathing robot. The outdoor stage hosted Phil & Particle... I've never heard a Phil set quite like what we heard [here]. It was entirely improv and took a while to get the rocket engines started, but once they were going we blasted off to sound bending nugs that set us free to explore outer space and inner space at the same time..."

Ned Lagin and "Seastones"

Contributed by Ned Lagin and Ihor Slabicky

Below are listed the performances, rehearsals, and recording sessions where Ned Lagin is known to have performed with the Grateful Dead, or with Phil Lesh, Jerry Garcia, and others. These occurred in the years between 1970 to 1975. This list is thought to be accurate but remains incomplete.

"Seastones" recording, mixing, mastering, and practice sessions for the period 1970-1975 are mostly undocumented and further research is needed. Most of the "Seastones" sessions and electronic jams at Mickey Hart's ranch in the summers of 1970, 1971, 1972, and 1973 were recorded. These are presumed to be lost.

Recordings of Grateful Dead performances were graciously supplied to Ned from David Gans, Ihor Slabicky, Noah Weiner, Michael Parrish, and David Finney.

Annotated Nedbase 1970-1975

05-xx-70 - The Grateful Dead visit Ned Lagin at his dorm room at MIT in Cambridge, MA. Ned plays piano and plays a four-hand piano jam with Ron "Pig Pen" McKernan; Jerry Garcia, Phil Lesh, and Mickey Hart are present.

05-xx-70 - Jerry, Phil, and Mickey attend a concert of 8-track electronic music composed and performed by Ned at the MIT Chapel, Cambridge, MA.

Summer, 1970 - numerous jams throughout the summer, including at Mickey Hart's ranch, the Slide Ranch, and some studio rehearsals; members of the Dead, Jefferson Airplane, Crosby Stills and Nash, Quicksilver Messenger Service, and New Riders of the Purple Sage.

Jerry (electric, acoustic, and pedal steel guitar) and Ned (piano) play together alone on multiple occasions at Jerry Garcia's house and at Mickey's. Jerry teaches Ned, through singing and playing, a number of Grateful Dead tunes including new ones for the "American Beauty" album. Ned and Jerry jam on "Dark Star", on one and two chord pieces, on sound textures, and play and improvise on pop and jazz songs, using Ned's fake books (Ned on piano, Jerry on acoustic, electric, and pedal steel guitars). Jerry refers Ned to the piano playing of Floyd Cramer, and to bluegrass players. Ned shows Jerry (and they work through) transcriptions (Charlie Parker, Dizzy Gillespie, John Coltrane, Thelonius Monk, Dave Brubeck, Bill Evans, and others), scores by Mahler, Copland, Ives, Gershwin, Ravel, Debussy, Webern, and Pendereki (and others), his Berklee School of Music notes on reharmonization, as well as his research on Renaissance music (Obrecht, Okeghem), all of which he also shares with Phil. Ned plays Bill Evans' "Blue in Green" and "Peace Piece" on piano for Jerry. These musical interchanges between Ned, Jerry, and including Phil and Mickey also occur during the summers of 1971-1973.

David Crosby and Ned play together (acoustic guitar, piano) at David's house ("The Lee Shore" and other tunes). David Crosby plays "Songs of the Humpback Whale", Roger Payne's LP of whale songs, for Ned and Phil.

Ned records his first 16-track music at Mickey Hart's studio - a composition of multiple over-layered tracks of solo piano, inspired by the Bill Evans album "Conversations With Myself". He also starts early "Seastones" 16-track recording.

08-xx-70 - "American Beauty" sessions in August and September 1970 at the Wally Heider Studio in San Francisco. Ned plays piano on early takes of several songs. The only piano track of his that is used on the album is the acoustic piano on "Candyman".

xx-xx-70 - Ned played acoustic piano on some rehearsal sessions for David Crosby's solo album "If I Could Only Remember My Name".

Fall, 1970 - Ned returns to MIT.

11-05-70 - Grateful Dead at the Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NY (Thursday) - This concert is the first time that Ned plays on stage with the Grateful Dead: "The Other One" > "Dark Star" > "St. Stephen". Ned describes it: "The "Dark Star" was a very abstract feedback-oriented one early on, then beautiful. It was very much more "Seastones"-esque than other "Dark Stars", characteristic of some of the earlier summer jamming." https://archive.org/details/gd70-11-05.aud.warner.17182.sbeok.shnf

11-08-70 - Grateful Dead at the Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NY - Ned sat in on "Dark Star" > "The Main Ten" jam > "Dancing in the Streets". https://archive.org/details/gd1970-11-08.aud.weiner.28609.sbeok.shnf

11-21-70 - Grateful Dead at the Sargent Gym, Boston University, Boston, MA - This was Ned's first complete concert with the Grateful Dead. Ned played a beige original Wurlitzer electric piano that was borrowed. Friends in the audience yelled "Hey, Ned!" and "Grateful Ned!" to his embarrassment. Partial set list - other songs not remembered or recorded: "Casey Jones", "Candyman", "Mama Tried", "Easy Wind", "St. Stephen", "Cryptical Envelopment" > "Drums" > "The Other One" > "Cryptical Envelopment" > "Cosmic Charlie", and "Uncle John's Band". https://archive.org/details/gd70-11-21.sbd.hanno.14858.sbeok.shnf

Note from Ned: In 1970 / 1971, because of PA input limitations and/or whoever was mixing, it is hard for him to be heard. But there was no conscious effort to be absent, and not recorded. There was no reason not to record him if there were available mix channels, and he had no reason not to be recorded. Until the 1974 tours when Jerry always wanted him on his side of the stage, there was no typical setup for the times he played (Pigpen's organ or his own keyboards). If Ned didn't have monitor speakers close so he could tell how loud he was in the mix, he was very careful, playing more diminutively until he found his bearings out of respect for the spirit of the music, the band, and the show.

Note from Ned: He was sensitive to when earlier TC (Tom Constanten) joined the band and unfortunately affected Pigpen's role. So Ned wanted always to leave space for Pigpen, who generously gave musical space for Ned. And as the sixth player in the mix he held back, blending in and not standing out, not cluttering but helping to shape and energize.

02-18-71 - Grateful Dead at the Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NY - Ned plays for the entire concert. He played sparsely or sat out on a very few tunes because the band seemed not in tune (with his keys), some tunes did not need his keyboard (it was by his own choice), and also he wanted to leave space for Pigpen. In earlier discussions, Ned talked only minimally about his playing on 2-18-71, mentioning only a few of the tunes he really liked and remembered without having a set list or recording.

Ned plays clavichord and Farfisa organ, with Uni-Vibe (Jerry loan) and Cry Baby wah-wah (Jerry gift) pedals; Ned played through two of Jerry's spare Fender Twin Reverb amps. These had the original tie-dyed speaker covers and were mic'd but because of feedback there was a direct box transformer line output. Ned was surrounded (virtually buried) in baffling, equipment cases, and padding by Ramrod (and Jerry) to tame feedback problems from having to mic and amplify the very quiet clavichord.

Especially notable is "Dark Star" > "Wharf Rat" > "Dark Star" > "Beautiful Jam" > "Dark Star" > "Me and My Uncle". https://archive.org/details/gd1971-02-18.sbd.miller.111793.flac16 Ned did not know until the David Gans interview in 2001 that later this was called "Beautiful Jam". The "Beautiful Jam" is included in the "So Many Roads (1965-1995)" box set on disc two, track 2.

This is the first time that the Grateful Dead performed "Bertha", "Wharf Rat", "Johnny B. Goode", and "Playing in the Band". The afternoon of the concert, back stage during set up, Jerry told Ned he had new songs they had not played before. First he talked through "Bertha". Then "Wharf Rat", which he played for Ned quietly on guitar and singing, showing him the changes (chords) and vocal so he could play it that evening coming out of "Dark Star". A little later, Phil came up to him, told him about "Wharf Rat", and talked him through it, but with no instruments. He didn't know Jerry had already done it, but Ned was happy to have more info. Bob asked Ned to sit back for the first part of "Playing in the Band" and the vocals until he got it.

Jerry sometimes fedback through the sounding board and brass strings of Ned's clavichord as did Ned himself; the feedback character comes from the sweetness of the brass clavichord strings and acoustic wood soundboard.

Set 1: Bertha, Truckin', It Hurts Me Too, Loser, Greatest Story Ever Told > Johnny B. Goode, Mama Tried, Hard To Handle, Dark Star > Wharf Rat > Dark Star > Me & My Uncle

Set 2: Lucky Lager Dance Time, Casey Jones, Playing in the Band, Me, Candyman, Big Boss Man, Sugar Magnolia, St. Stephen > Not Fade Away > Going Down the Road Feeling Bad > Not Fade Away > Uncle John's Band https://archive.org/details/gd1971-02-18.sbd.miller.111793.flac16 or http://www.archive.org/details/gd1971-02-18.sbd.cantor-crouch-diebert-gmb.85478.sbeok.flac16

02-xx-71 - Capitol Theater, Port Chester, NY - Two acoustic duo sessions during the day(s) with Jerry on acoustic guitar and Ned on clavichord. These were recorded on four-track tape by Bob Matthews and Betty Cantor and are either now lost, in the Grateful Dead archive(s), or with other Jerry Garcia tapes. The sessions included some musical elements from the first night's performance.

04-07-71 - Grateful Dead at the Boston Music Hall, Boston, MA - being researched. http://www.archive.org/details/gd1971-04-07.sbd.cantor.gmb.96225.flac16 and the post- drums "jam" http://www.archive.org/download/gd1971-04-07.sbd.cantor.gmb.96225.flac16/gd1971-04-07d2t05_vbr.mp3

04-08-71 - Grateful Dead at the Boston Music Hall, Boston, MA - Ned plays the entire concert. Once again, on a few tunes he played minimally or sat out because the band seemed not in tune with his piano, some tunes did not need his keyboard (his own choice), and also he wanted to leave space for Pigpen. Ned played a new Wurlitzer (black) electric piano, with a Cry Baby wah-wah (an earlier Jerry gift), a Uni-Vibe (Jerry's), and a Tonebender (early distortion box), through two of Jerry's spare Fender Twin Reverb amps with original tie-dyed speaker covers for stage monitors, and there was a direct box transformer line output. Ned's piano's position changed between the first set and the second, and again during the second set (the thought was to do a sequence of acoustic tunes starting with "Cumberland Blues" but that was abandoned after the band was reminded about the amount of playing time remaining before the Boston City curfew took effect. https://archive.org/details/gd1971-04-08.sbd.cantor.gmb.96627.flac16 or http://www.archive.org/details/gd1971-04-08.sbd.unknown.14397.shnf

As with 2-18-71 in earlier discussions, Ned had also talked only minimally about his playing on 4-8-71 - "it was a very high night for all - on stage and off" - and mentioning only a few of the tunes he really liked and remembered playing. Earlier discussions may have confused this night with another concert (and another "Dark Star") in Boston, 9-16-72, when he joined the band on stage for only "Dark Star" > "Brokedown Palace".

Set 1 - Truckin', Bertha, Next Time You See Me, Playing in the Band, Loser, Beat It On Down The Line, I Second That Emotion, Sugar Magnolia, China Cat Sunflower > I Know You Rider, Casey Jones

During the break Jerry asks Ned what he would like to play - he asks for "Alligator", "The Eleven", and "Dark Star". They do "Dark Star".

Set 2 - Dark Star > St. Stephen > Not Fade Away > Going Down the Road Feeling Bad > Jam > Not Fade Away, Sing Me Back Home, Cumberland Blues, Greatest Story Ever Told > Johnny B. Goode, Good Lovin' > Drums > Good Lovin'.

xx-xx-71 - During the summer of 1971, recording sessions continue on “Seastones with Jerry, Phil, Spencer Dryden, Mickey, David Crosby, and Grace Slick.

Jerry teaches Ned more tunes; they jam alone at Mickey’s and Jerry’s. David Crosby and Ned play together (acoustic guitar, piano) at David’s house.

xx-xx-71 - During the summer, Ned plays in a number of jam sessions with Jerry, Phil, Mickey, Bob, Billy, David Crosby, John Cippolina, members of the New Riders of the Purple Sage, Spencer Dryden, and Barry Melton, among others.

xx-xx-71 - “A Day In The Country” radio broadcast from Mickey Hart’s ranch. This was a jam session (“The Other One Jam” > “The Wall Song”, “Jam”, “Blooz”, and “R&R Jam”) with members of the Grateful Dead, Jefferson Airplane, David Crosby, and others. Ned plays organ and piano. The back of the tape box lists: “Stokes, Garcia, Lagin, Hart, Lesh, Crosby, Cippolina, Freiberg” and recording information.

08-14-71 - Grateful Dead at the Berkeley Community Theatre, Berkeley, CA - During Set II, Ned plays on “Truckin’” > “Drums” > “The Other One”, “Me and Bobby McGee”, “Happy Birthday” for David Crosby, and the two encores: “Johnny B. Goode” and “Uncle John’s Band”. https://archive.org/details/gd1971-08-14.sbd.130871.MrBill.flac16

08-15-71 - Grateful Dead at the Berkeley Community Theatre, Berkeley, CA - During Set II, Ned plays on “Trucking” > “Drums” > “The Other One” > “Me and My Uncle” > “The Other One” > “Wharf Rat”. https://archive.org/details/gd1971-08-15.sbd.130890.MrBill.flac16

08-21-71 - Mickey’s Barn Studio - Ned jams with John Cippolina, David Crosby, Jerry, Mickey, Phil, Bob Weir, and Merl Saunders. https://archive.org/details/gd71-08-21.hartjam.aud.17179.sbeok.shnf

Fall, 1971 - Ned returns to Cambridge, MA.

1972

Summer, 1972 - Mickey’s Barn Studio - Ned jams with Phil, Jerry, Mickey, John Cippolina, Barry Melton, David Crosby, and others.

xx-xx-72 - In the summer of 1972, “Seastones” recordings continue. Sessions with Jerry, David Crosby, Grace Slick, David Freiberg, Spencer Dryden, Mickey, and Phil. The first acoustic mix of part of “Seastones is done at Mickey’s studio.

09-13-72 - The first “Seastones” partial mix (dated 09-13-72) is submitted by Jerry, Phil, and Ned to Clive Davis. In a subsequent meeting they all attended at Davis’s Columbia Records office in New York City, he rejected the album on the review and advice of other synthesizer recording artists at Columbia. The back of the tape box lists the September 13, 1972 “Seastones” mix date and recording information.

09-16-72 - Grateful Dead at the Boston Music Hall, Boston, MA - During Set II, Ned played on “Dark Star” > “Brokedown Palace”. Ned played a Wurlitzer electric piano and Crybaby wah-wah when he joined the band on stage for “Dark Star”, and after which he and his piano exited the stage. This was the first and only time prior to 1974 that he sat in with Keith Godchaux playing acoustic piano. https://archive.org/details/gd72-09-16.psbd.unknown.6683.sbeok.shnf

Fall, 1972 - Ned returns to Cambridge, MA.

04-xx-73 - Ned moves to California.

04-xx-73 - Mickey’s Barn Studio - first playing electric and electronic music together as a group; Ned, Jerry, Phil, and Mickey played all night.

xx-xx-73 - Ned and Phil played one night all night alone at Mickey’s in quad - sometimes with their instruments playing themselves with feedback while Ned and Phil went into control room and then back to their instruments.

xx-xx-73 - Recording sessions continue on “Seastones”.

xx-xx-73 - Mickey’s Barn Studio - jams with Phil, Jerry, Mickey, John Cippolina, Barry Melton, and others.

Jerry and Ned play and jam together alone. David Crosby and Ned play together (acoustic guitar, piano) at David’s house.

xx-xx-73 - Recording (on 4 track, 2 track, and cassette tape) and practice sessions at Ned’s apartment in Fairfax with Jerry, David Crosby, and Phil. Some of these were recorded; they are presumed lost.

11-28-73 - Palace of Fine Arts, San Francisco, CA - Billed as “Experiments in Quadrophonic Sound” with Jerry Garcia and Mickey Hart; however, Ned performed the entire concert (although not on stage), and Phil did the live quad mix. The booking and publicity started before all had committed to the concert - this explains why there has been some confusion as to who played and how this related to “Seastones”. Included as part of this show was the first “Seastones” live/tape performance in quad. This was a partial one, using pre-recorded “Seastones” tracks and the live musicians’ performance, and some other pre-recorded tapes by Ned. Ned played an Arp Odyssey for most of the show seated at the mix board centered in the audience with Phil next to him mixing in quad. https://archive.org/details/gd73-11-28.sbd-seastones.finney.968.sbefail.shnf xx-xx-74 - Recording (4 track and 2 track tape) and practice sessions at Ned’s apartment in Fairfax with Jerry, David Crosby, and Phil. Some of these were recorded; they are presumed lost.

xx-xx-74 - Recording sessions continue on “Seastones”.

04-xx-74 - Grateful Dead album “From the Mars Hotel” sessions - Ned plays an Arp Odyssey synthesizer on “Unbroken Chain”. The album was recorded at the CBS Studios in San Francisco from March 30, 1974 to April 19, 1974.

1974 Summer Tour - At most of the concerts, Ned and Phil perform together ("Ned and Phil") during the set break between Set I and II. Some of these "Ned and Phil" sets segue into the full Grateful Dead performing. Some sets include only Jerry. As yet not documented in the following listings are some "Ned and Phil" sets that included Jerry, but not the full Grateful Dead. Some "Ned and Phil" sets were partial performances of "Seastones". Ned plays a Fender Rhodes 88 electric piano, an Arp Odyssey synthesizer, and an Emu polyphonic analog synthesizer with computer control.

In 1974, Ned began playing through the vocal system. It was considered the best part of the entire Wall of Sound PA. It had the second highest column of 15-inch bass speakers, second only to Phil. There were 240 speakers total including the center cluster, a 4-way crossover, and 9600 watts of power provided by sixteen Macintosh 300 amps. Ned could be as loud as a jet plane and actually had the capability of lifting the entire stage fully loaded by playing a burst of subsonic notes, which he did a couple of times. When he held a note the speakers created a breeze!

However, there was a switch to select between his 4-channel quad feed and the vocal mic mix. When band members were singing through the system, the vocal system switch was set to the vocal mics and Ned was switched just to on-stage monitors. Sometimes the switch back to him was forgotten (for awhile), and sometimes 2 of the 4 channels of Ned's quad feed were lost in the vocal system input mix even when the switch was set to Ned.

Note from Ned: Many of the "Ned and Phil" performances have missing audio channels - sometimes two of Ned's four quad live channels or the computer rhythm output, sometimes Phil's feed to Ned's synthesizer console for scored processing, and sometimes pre-recorded tapes (basic tracks for "Seastones", "L", others). The pre-recorded tracks (effectively basic "audio scores") were an important formal component of the musical performance, providing a framework or background for improvising (and/or control and modulation signals). Like Phil, Ned's instruments had quad 4 channel outputs, but often 2 channels were lost somewhere in the PA feed mix, which converted 4 channels into 2 for the vocal system output.

Note from Ned: As parts of the "Seastones" open form composition, some of the Ned and Phil (and others) "Seastones" live performances (1973-1975) became "accreted moment forms" in the complete composition.

06-23-74 - Grateful Dead at the Jai-Alai Fronton, Miami, FL - During the set break between Set I and II, Ned and Phil perform the 'first time played' "Ned and Phil" set. Ned plays on "Ned and Phil" > "jam" > "Ship of Fools", (Ned does not play during "Big River"), "Black Peter", "Around and Around", "Dark Star" jam > "Spanish Jam" > "U.S. Blues". Ned's parents are in attendance in the audience and meet Jerry and Phil. The "Dark Star Jam" excerpt > "Spanish Jam" > "U.S. Blues" appears on disc 2, track 6 of the "So Many Roads (1965-1995)" box set. https://archive.org/details/gd1974-06-23.sdb.smith.116312.flac16

Here is an attempt to summarize the Grateful Dead's appearances on recordings, film, and paper. It is by no means complete. In here you will find some 1809 albums, 217 singles, 256 movies/TV shows/videos/ads, 256 books, and 96 songbooks where the band or members of the band appear.

"Our audience is like people who like licorice. Not everybody likes licorice, but the people who like licorice really like licorice." — Jerry Garcia, December 10, 1981 to Geraldo Rivera on NBC's "20/20" news magazine.

Albums

Do You Wanna Dance? - Bobby Freeman (Jubilee 1086) A guitarist named Jerry Garcia plays on this album, released in 1958. Re-released October 22, 1991, on CD, as Collectables COL-5417.

Joe And The Jaguars - Joe And The Jaguars (Alligator Records 560374, Dial Discos, S.A.) This album was released in 1988 as part of the series "Historia De La Musica Pop Espanola – No. 74". This is a compilation of the three four-song, seven inch, 45 rpm extended play records that guitarist Joe Bennett recorded in 1964, two with his group Joe And The Jaguars and the third as a solo artist. These were recorded when Joe Bennett was in the Air Force and stationed at the Torrejon de Ardoz base, near Madrid, Spain. Mickey Hart, also stationed there, was the drummer with Joe And The Jaguars, and played on two of the three EPs. The eight Joe And The Jaguars tracks were recorded during one session. These consist of two instrumental tracks, two songs in Spanish, and four tracks where the group provides instrumental backing for vocalist Karina. The group performed at the base. On Sunday, January 26, 1964, they performed during the "IV Sesion de Festivales de Musica Moderna 1964" in the Circo Price morning sessions, where they were listed on the poster as "Jou and the Jaguar's". The group also served as backing band for several American singers who visited the air base in 1963 and 1964. Side One of this record contains: "Si Yo Tuviera Un Martillo (If I Had A Hammer)" (2:00), "La Hora" (2:10); "Kansas City" (2:15), "Memphis" (2:00), "No Esta Bien (She's A Fool)" (2:20), and "La Misma Playa (Spiaggia Stessa, Stesso Mare)" (2:05). Mickey Hart plays on all of these tracks. The last two tracks are the group backing Karina, then a seventeen year old singer. Side Two contains: "Hully Gully Boy" (2:04), "Vaya, Vaya" ("Lawdy, Lawdy") (2:30), "De Nada", "La Cancion Del Gato Tom", "Toodle Ooo", and "Osito De Trapo". Mickey Hart plays on the first two tracks on side two, where the group is backing Karina. Note: the four tracks where Joe and The Jaguars, with Mickey Hart, are backing Karina also appear on several of her compilation albums.

Mother McCree's Uptown Jug Champions - Mother McCree's Uptown Jug Champions (Grateful Dead GDCD 4064) The pre-Warlocks jug band recorded live in July, 1964 at the Top Of The Tangent in Palo Alto, CA. The band includes Jerry Garcia, Bob Weir, and Ron "Pigpen" McKernan. Released on CD in March, 1999. For detailed info, check: http://vidkid.com/McCree.html or http://www.geckographics.com/GeckoGraphics/mccrees.html

The Emergency Crew - The Emergency Crew (Autumn) The pre-Warlocks Grateful Dead recorded this on November 3, 1965 as a demo record at Golden State studios in San Francisco for DJs Tom Donahue's and Bobby Mitchell's Autumn label. Mother's was a club run by the two DJ's. The recordings were made on a two track tape, at 7 1/2 ips. It includes: "Can't Come Down" (Jerry Garcia on vocals); "The Mindbender" (also known as "Confusion's Prince") (Phil Lesh on vocals); "The Only Time Is Now" (Phil Lesh on vocals); "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" (Pigpen on harmonica and vocals); "I Know You Rider" (Jerry Garcia on vocals); and Gordon Lightfoot's "Early Morning Rain" (Phil Lesh on vocals). Garcia wrote most of the lyrics for "Can't Come Down". Lesh wrote most of the lyrics for "The Mindbender". Golden State Recorders was located at 665 Harrison Street, San Francisco, CA 94107, 415-781-6306. The club Mother's is presently The Stone, which is across from The Mabuhay Gardens.

The Acid Test: A Sound City Production - Ken Kesey and others ( ) From the front cover: "Shortly before he disappeared into limbo, or even Mexico Novelist Ken Kesey and his "trips" buddies recorded an album at Sound City Recorders on Sixth ST. What makes this an item possible, is that Ken et al were high on LSD at the time, and kept getting higher as the recording progressed. The album is titled "the Acid Test" -Kesey's idea-and will be priced at $5.95. In fact, the only thing ordinary about this record is that the wole's in the middle..." (Herb Caen). The recording was made on January 29, 1966 at the Sound City Studios, located at 363 Sixth Street in San Francisco. The tracks are: (side one) Ken Kesey interviewed by Frank Frey; Ken Babbs and Harmonica; Take Two - Ken Kesey; Bull; Peggy The Pistol; (side two) One Way Ticket (a classic!); Bells & Fairies; Levitation; Trip "X"; The End. Printed on the label is: "The Acid Test - a sound city production - as photographed and shown in "Look" magazine - Recorded from 14 hours of the actual Trip." On the cover is a small photo of Jerry Garcia, playing guitar in studio, while Ken Kesey is on the microphone. The album had only a black and white cover pasted on the front, and no back cover. Jerry Garcia is heard on the very last track of the album, complaining that his voice is completely shot, after the Dead are asked to play.

Acid Test Vol. 1 - var. (Item #A01, Intrepid Trips, Box 764, Pleasant Hill, OR 97455 http://www.intrepidtrips.com) This 1999 release on CD-R contains "Red, White and Blue Meet the Black" (previously unreleased) and the "The Acid Test: A Sound City Production" LP. Tracks 1 and 2 are "Red, White and Blue Meet the Black", a studio recording made in March, 1966 about the Vietnam Day (November 20, 1965) demonstration and about the Hell's Angels ("1. Hawgs Are Comin side 1" (20:16) and "2. Hawgs Are Comin side 2" (21:46). The master tape of this was remastered by David Gans and used to make the CD-R. Tracks 3 to 12 are the "The Acid Test: A Sound City Production" LP. David Gans provided a sealed LP, which was used to make the CDR. These tracks are: 3. "Ken Kesey Interview: (7:00); 4. "Babbs & Harmonica" (2:57); 5. "Take Two" (0:34); 6. "Bull" (0:45); 7. "Peggy the Pistol" (4:07); 8. "One Way Tickey" (8:03); 9. "Bells and Fairies" (1:25); 10. "Levitation" (4:15); 11. "Trip X" (1:45); 12. "The End" (0:35) (length = 73:35). Jerry Garcia is heard on track 12, complaining that his voice is completely shot, after the Grateful Dead are asked to play.

The Electric Kool-Aid Acid Test - var. (United Fan Club Society, Goteborg, Sweden, Stellar Music Special, Series 1, Show 1, SMS001-1) A record (in all likelihood a bootleg) from the San Francisco State College "Acid Test" ("whatever it is" Festival) of September 30, October 1, and October 2, 1966. It is mostly Ken Babbs (?) talking in the college radio station's studio, interspersed with a few seconds of what could be Garcia on guitar, as well as parts of the Garcia, Kesey, et al interviews on NBC's "Tomorrow" show of May 7, 1981. Released in March, 1988.

Acid Test Vol. 2 - San Francisco State College, Saturday October 1, 1966 - var. (Item #A21, Intrepid Trips, Box 764, Pleasant Hill, OR 97455 http://www.intrepidtrips.com) This 1999 release on CD-R contains recordings from October 1, 1966 made at the "whatever it is" festival held on September 30, October 1, and October 2, 1966 at San Francisco State College. The stereo master reel, found by Ed Perlstein in the Bay Area Music Archives, was given to Zane Kesey. Zane Kesey and Simon Babbs doubled the channels and re-edited the recording. Their 67:57 long version runs 5:29 shorter than the source, which is 73:26 long. The original recording was engineered by Steve Newman. It features Ken Kesey, Hugh Romney, and Mountain Girl, Dale Kesey on violin, and Jerry Garcia on organ. The tracks are: 1. "The Head Has Become Fat" (4:49); 2. "The Stars Tell A Story" (2:45); 3. "Out In The Jungle" (3:06); 4. "Tarnished Gallahad" (4:12); 5. "Large Soft Woman" (6:10); 6. "Go Head On Up" (2:30); 7. "Announcement" (6:14); 8. "Musical Interlude" (3:49); 9. "Space Flight" (9:27); 10. "Space Jam" (7:33); 11. "The Butcher Is Back" (11:01); and 12. "Musicians' Exploratory" (6:14) (length = 67:57). The source recording could be tracked, to match the edited version, as follows: 1. "The Head Has Become Fat" (4:48); 2. "The Stars tell A Story" (2:44); 3. "A Mexican Story: 25 Bennies (Out in the Jungle)" (3:05); 4. "Tarnished Gallahad" (3:55); 5. "Large Soft Woman / Get It Off The Ground" (6:30); 6. "Go Head On Up 1" (2:17); 7. "Owned By The Devil" (1:25); 8. "The Butcher Is Back" (4:24); 9. "Announcement" (1:30); 10. "Acid Test Graduation Announcement / Meat To The Moon" (4:43); 11. " Musical Interlude" (20:54); 12. "Go Head On Up" (2:40); 13. "The Butcher is Back" (12:07); and 14. "Announcement" (2:23) (length = 73:26). Portions of this recording also appear on the "The Electric Kool-Aid Acid Test" LP. As advertised in Mojo Navigator (Vol. 1, No.7, Tues., Sep. 27, 1966): "S.F.State College: 48-hour happening beginning at 3:00 P. M. which will include a dance in the Women's Gym with the Gratfule Dead, Mimi Farina, and the Only Alternative & His Other Possibility. $1 for students, $2 others".

Surrealistic Pillow - Jefferson Airplane (RCA LSP-3766) Jerry Garcia is listed on the back cover as "musical and spiritual director" and plays high electric lead on "Today" (recorded November 2, 1966), and flat top acoustic guitar on "Plastic Fantastic Lover", "My Best Friend", and "Comin' Back To Me". Garcia also rearranged "Somebody To Love". Garcia may have played the rhythm "chocks" on "3/5ths Of A Mile". Most of the recording sessions for this album took place in November, 1966. Garcia played a role in naming the album.

Surrealistic Pillow - Jefferson Airplane (RCA LPM-3766) The album was also released in mono.

Surrealistic Pillow - Gold Disc - Jefferson Airplane (RCA 66598) A single CD release of the mono and stereo mixes of the album. Released in July, 1995.

Surrealistic Pillow - Jefferson Airplane (RCA/BMG BG2-68031) A single CD release (reissue) from 2001 of the mono and stereo mixes of the album.

Surrealistic Pillow - Jefferson Airplane (RCA/BMG 82876 50351 2) A single CD release from 2003. This version was remastered by Bob Orwin from the original masters. It includes the eleven original stereo tracks and six bonus tracks that include the "White Rabbit" and "Somebody To Love" singles in their monophonic versions.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. - Reprise) A monophonic test pressing of the first album with slightly different mixes of the songs than the mixes that were used for the released album. Side No. #1 contains: "Sitting On Top Of The World", "Cold Rain And Snow", "Good Morning, Little School Girl", and "Tastebud". Side No. #2 contains: "Viola Lee Blues", "Beat It On Down The Line", and "Cream Puff War". These acetates used the "RCA Victor Reference Recording" black and white label with the recording information handwritten on the label.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. W 1689) Their first LP. The Grateful Dead were signed by Joe Smith of Warner Brothers Records. This was released in mono. The original releases are on the gold Warner Brothers label. Released on March 17, 1967. The cryptic lettering above the words "Grateful Dead" reads: "In the land of the dark, the ship of the sun is driven by the Grateful Dead". The album was recorded on four-track tape, mostly live, with some overdubs of vocals. Most of the tracks were recorded in late January and early February, 1967, in a span of five days (Monday night through Friday night, mixed on Saturday afternoon) at RCA Studio A in Hollywood, CA, and produced by Dave Hassinger, a Warner Brothers staff production engineer, with Dick Bogert engineering. The single for the album, "The Golden Road (To Unlimited Devotion)" was recorded later, in February, 1967, at Coast Recorders, at 960 Bush Street in San Francisco. This tune had about 60 takes; the album version includes an overdub of Bill Kreutzmann drumming on the strings of Garcia's guitar while Garcia is fingering the chords. On the album, "The Golden Road" is faded at 2:18, but it is about one minute longer. "The Golden Road" was the working title for this album, but was changed. The founders of the Grateful Dead's Fan Club, "The Golden Road To Unlimited Devotion", were Sue Swanson, Connie Furtado, and Bob Matthews. Matthews later engineered and produced a number of the band's live and studio releases. The Fan Club sold posters, buttons, and Pigpen t-shirts for $2.50 (Janis Joplin owned a red one). "Alice D. Millionaire" (about Augustus Stanley Owsley, a.k.a. "Bear") with Pigpen on lead vocals, "Lindy", and "Tastebud", a blues number featuring Pigpen on vocals, were recorded at this time, but were not released; versions of these songs appear on "The Golden Road" box set. "McGannahan Skjellyfetti" was the pseudonym used by the band as the author's name for the group compositions ("The Golden Road (To Unlimited Devotion)" and "Cream Puff War"). "McGannahan Skjellyfetti" was based on a character, "Skujellifeddy McGranehan", the protagonist's 'literary agent', in Kenneth Patchen's "Memoirs Of A Shy Pornographer", published in 1945: "May I call you Skujellifeddy? Mr. McGranehan's sort of awkward." "Cold Rain And Snow" comes from a fragment that Garcia learned from banjo player Obray Ramsey. "Viola Lee Blues" is adapted from the Noah Lewis version; the Jim Kweskin Jug Band had released a version that is closer to the Noah Lewis version. "Viola Lee Blues" is an "11 1/2 bar blues" in that the Dead's version, throughout, adds or removes bars from the "standard" 12 bar blues form. A number of the songs on this album were shortened to make the whole album fit within the limitations of the vinyl album medium at the time, at approximately 38 minutes total. Recorded around the time of this album, but never released, was Phil Lesh's "No Left Turn Unstoned", commonly called "Cardboard Cowboy". Garcia played a cherry red Guild "Starfire" electric guitar during the recording sessions for this album. The record release party was on St. Patrick's Day, 1967 at the Fugazi Hall in the North Beach area of San Francisco. A review describes "The Golden Road (To Unlimited Devotion)" as "Hard driving, up-tempo, freaky rock beat that's happening out of San Francisco with a good thumping dance rhythm.".

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1689) Their first LP. This was also released in stereo. The original releases are on the gold Warner Brothers label. Released on March 17, 1967.

Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. 1689) The album was released on eight track stereo tape. The tape was manufactured and distributed by Ampex of Elk Grove Village in Illinois.

Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. M 51689) The album was released on a "Compatible Stereo Cassette" tape that is "Playable On Stereo Or Monaural Equipment". Side One contains "The Golden Road", "Beat It On Down The Line", "Good Mornin' Little School Girl", "Cold Rain And Snow", "Sittin' On Top Of The World", and "Cream Puff War". Side Two contains "Morning Dew", "New Minglewood Blues", and "Viola Lee Blues". the tape was manufactured by Ampex in Elk Grove Village, Illinois and came in a snapcase with the label pasted on.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. BP-8222) A Japanese release of the first album on red vinyl with a gold label. Toshiba Musical Industries developed their "Ever Clean" process for pressing records with the intent of reducing static buildup on the vinyl; this process used red vinyl and special ingredients.

New Sound Group Festival - var. (Warner Bros. BP-8389) This sampler features several groups, including the Grateful Dead. The front cover is red with psychedelic swirls and band photos of The Beau Brummels, The Tokens, The Grateful Dead (Lesh, Kreutzmann, Garcia, Weir, and Pigpen), The Association, and Harpers Bizarre. The back cover is mostly in Japanese. Side 1, track 3 is "The Golden Road (To Unlimited Devotion)" by The Grateful Dead. Side 2, track 3 is "Good Morning, Little School Girl" by The Grateful Dead, and track 6 is "Cream Puff War" by The Grateful Dead. Released as a Vitaphonic "Stereo" Long Play album in translucent red vinyl.

New Rock Special - var. (Toshiba Records PRP 13) This Japanese released sampler from 1968 features several groups, including the Grateful Dead. On side two, track three is "Morning Dew" from the "The Grateful Dead" album. The front cover is white with red graphics of pictures of the various bands. On the cover is printed "Total Sample Disc, New Rock Special, Toshiba's new rock best series (Promotional use only)" with the various record company logos appear across the bottom. Stamped in the vinyl are PRP-13-A 1S 9H and PRP-13-B 1S. This promotional release has a white label and is pressed on red vinyl.

Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. M5 1689) The album was released on cassette tape.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 2-1689) Released on CD in 1987.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WPCR-2642) The album was released on CD in Japan.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Edsel ED 221 (Edsel Records, Division of Demon Records, Brentford, Middlesex, UK)) A 1990 British release of the first record. On the front cover, the Warner Brothers catalog number has been replaced by the Edsel catalog number. The back cover artwork is slightly larger than on the original US release, the photos are poorly reproduced, and instead of the Fan Club info, it contains record company info.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Rhino/WB 74392) This remastered version of the album, taken from the 12 CD "The Golden Road" box set, was released on CD in February, 2003.

The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Rhino/Warner Bros.) The album was released on 180 gram vinyl in a limited pressing as part of "Record Store Day" in April, 2011.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1749) The original mix is out of print. Released on July 18, 1968. Some of the early pressings of the album include the phrase "the faster we go, the rounder we get" pressed in the vinyl around the center. In November, 1967, the band began recording the album in Los Angeles, using eight-track tape recorders, with David Hassinger. During these sessions, "Turn On Your Lovelight", "Death Don't Have No Mercy", "The Other One", "New Potato Caboose", "Alligator" and "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" had been recorded. Hassinger quit the project after he was asked by Weir to provide "the sound of thick air" in "Born Cross-Eyed". The basic music ("Cryptical Envelopment", "The Other One", "Alligator") for the album was taken from the Dead's performance on St. Valentine's Day, 1968, at the Carousel Ballroom, in San Francisco. It is possible that the basic music for "New Potato Caboose" and "Born Cross-Eyed" comes from the February 3, 1968 show at the Crystal Ballroom in Portland, Oregon. A portion of "Feedback" is from the January 22, 1968 show at Eagles Auditorium, Seattle, Washington. A 13 second portion of "Feedback", from February 24, 1968 was used (see "Dick's Picks Volume 22", disc two for the siren sound heard at about 3:17 in order to find it). The sequence for side two has "Alligator" (from the February 14, 1968 show at the Carousel Ballroom) into "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" (from the November 10, 1967 show at the Shrine Exposition), and with some of "Feedback" from the March 17, 1968 show at the Carousel Ballroom. This basic music was then layered with various live and studio recordings. Dan Healy, Jerry Garcia, and Phil Lesh did the final mixing at Coast Recorders. Phil Lesh plays the eight bar trumpet solo (based on Miles Davis' "Sketches Of Spain") during the "...from time to time..." chorus on "Born Cross-Eyed". "Alligator" was written by Robert Hunter while he was working as a portrait artist in New Mexico, in February, 1966. Over the years, the album has been released many times, and the cover colors can range from a deep purplish-blue to a deep bluish-purple. Written across top, in a "flame" font, is: "Grateful Dead Anthem Of The Sun". The songs are: "That's It For The Other One" (7:41) (includes "Cryptical Envelopment", "Quadlibet For Tender Feet", "The Faster We Go, The Rounder We Get", "We Leave The Castle"), "New Potato Caboose" (8:25), "Born Cross-Eyed" (2:06); "Alligator" (11:20), "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" (9:30). Although "The Other One" is one suite, the names of the songs were made up to increase the number of "songs" on the album, thereby getting the band more money. Bill Walker created the cover. Each of the band members is represented in the image. Left to right across the top are Weir, Garcia, Lesh, and McKernan. Left to right across the bottom are Kreutzmann and Hart. The figure in the middle is Constanten, more or less. Walker provides a detailed description of the painting, its creation, and its symbolism at http://www.billzart.net/ "New Potato Caboose" was written in mid-1967, some time after the Dead's first album was released. The "Spanish Jam" segment was inspired by the horn lines from "Solea" on the "Sketches Of Spain" album by Miles Davis. On the original mix, one notices that at the start of Side One: the organ is in the right channel and Garcia's voice is on the left; in the "phased" vocals part, Garcia's voice is in the center; afterwards, Garcia's voice remains in the center; and, when the drums start, they are panned to the left before they change and are in the center; the end of "Born Cross-Eyed" fades out and that side of the album ends. On the original mix, one notices on side two during the transition of the "Alligator" vocals part into the live drums part, that the piano, in the center, fades out into the drums. The album is a musical collage taken from studio (September, 1967 at RCA Studio A in Hollywood; October, 1967 at American Studios in North Hollywood; December, 1967 at Century Sound in New York and Olmstead Studios in New York) and live (November 10 and 11, 1967 at Shrine Exposition, Los Angeles; January 20, 1968 at Eureka; January 26 and 27, 1968 at Eagles Auditorium, Seattle; February 2 and 3, 1968 at the Crystal Ballroom, Portland; February 14, 1968 at the Carousel Ballroom in San Francisco; February 22, 23, and 24, 1968 at the Kings Beach Bowl in Lake Tahoe; March 15, 16, 17, 29, 30, and 31, 1968 at the Carousel Ballroom in San Francisco) recordings. Portions of "New Potato Caboose" appear to be from the March 17, 1968 show. The band's name and the album title appear across the top in purplish fuschia "flame" letters. The list price for the album was $4.79. The lyrics for "New Potato Caboose" were written by Robert Petersen. "The Other One" blends four live performances: one of the nights at Kings Beach, January 20, 1968 at Eureka, California, and February 2 and 3, 1968 at the Crystal Ballroom in Portland. For the transition into "New Potato Caboose", Tom Constanten used prepared piano (spinning gyroscope placed against the sound board, coins placed under the strings, strings played by hand) that was inspired by John Cage.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. 1749) Released on eight-track tape. Program One consists of: "That's It For The Other One", "I. Cryptical Envelopment", "II. Quadlibet For Tenderfeet", "III. The Faster We Go, The Rounder We Get". Program Two consists of: "IV. We Leave The Castle", "New Potato Caboose", "Born Cross-Eyed", and "Alligator (Part One)". Program Three consists of "Alligator (Part Two)". Program Four consists of "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks). The album title across the is in yellow colored italic font and states "The Grateful Dead - Anthem of the Sun". The tape was made and distributed by Ampex. Each program is 9:48 long.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. Seven Arts WST-1749-C) Released on four track (i.e. two stereo tracks on each side) 7 1/2 ips reel to reel tape. This was manufactured by Greentree Electronics Corporation.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WB M5 1749) Released on cassette tape with a white cover. Side One consists of "Alligator" and "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks). Side Two consists of "That's It For The Other One", "I. Cryptical Envelopment", "II. Quadlibet For Tenderfeet", "III. The Faster We Go, The Rounder We Get", "IV. We Leave The Castle", "New Potato Caboose", and "Born Cross-Eyed". On the cover and on the spine, the band's name is listed as "Grateful Dead".

Anthem Of The Sun - The Grateful Dead (Bell Song SWL 1153, 1969) This album is probably a bootleg release made in Taiwan. The record is pressed in red translucent vinyl with a blue with white print label. The label contains the album information in English and what appears to be Chinese. The front cover is white with a blue (almost turquoise) print of the band mandala, with a bit the bottom cut off, the STEREO in arrows across the top, and has Chinese characters across the bottom. The back cover has the fish-eye band photo in color, and the album information, only in English. The cover sleeve is made of thin paper in a plastic sleeve, and it opens to the left (i.e., when looking at the front cover, the opening is on the left side). This album has the original mix.

The Tenth Anniversary Albums - Warner Bros. Seven Arts Inc - var. (Warner Bros. Seven Arts PRO 289) A promotional release for the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the label, containing songs by various artists signed to the label. The white label states "Highlights from the Tenth Anniversary Albums". On side one, the last track is "Born Cross-Eyed" by The Grateful Dead, from the "Anthem Of The Sun" album.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers K46021) The album was released in the UK.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers Seven Arts

BP 8522) This record, released in 1971 in Japan, is pressed on red vinyl. The liner notes on the back are in Japanese. Toshiba Musical Industries pressed records on red vinyl as part of their "Ever Clean" process that used red vinyl and special ingredients and was intended to prevent static buildup on the vinyl.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1749) The album was remixed in September, 1971, and the remix was released in late 1972/early 1973. It has the letters RE after the master numbers pressed into the vinyl around the label. On the remix, one notices that at the start of Side One: Garcia's voice is in the center; in the "phased" vocals part, Garcia's voice is in the center and the acoustic guitar is very prominent in the left channel; afterwards, Garcia's voice remains in the center; and, when the drums start, they are not panned, but are in the center; the end of "Born Cross-Eyed" fades out, there is the big chord, and that side of the album ends. On the remix, one notices on side two that the vocals during "Alligator" were given additional phase and echo and that during the transition of the "Alligator" vocals part into the live drums part, that the piano, in the center, ends abruptly (i.e., does not fade out into the drums).

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1749) The remix was also released around 1975-77 with a white cover instead of the purple one. It has the letters RE after the master numbers pressed into the vinyl around the label and it says "remixed" on lower left of back cover. Some cassette releases of this album also sport the white cover. Some copies of this release have pressed into the vinyl "WS-1-1749 LW2" (on side one) and "WS-2-1749 LW-1" (on side two).

Anthem Of The Sun - The Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1749) The record was also released, probably inadvertently, with side one containing the original mix and side two contain the remix.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. W46021) The album was released in Italy with the white background cover.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers P 8601W) A Japanese release of the original mix with a lyric sheet insert that only approximates the real words. A high quality vinyl pressing with a blue obi strip. Released in 1981. The front cover has the "flame" lettering.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers SP 8601W) A Japanese promo release with a white label. The front cover has the "flame" lettering.

Anthem Of The Sun - The Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 2-1749) The remixed version of the album was also released on CD. The remixed version shows a UPC code of 0-7599-27192-2.

Anthem Of The Sun - The Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 2-1749) The original mix of the album has been released on CD, replacing the remixed version that had been released on CD. The cover has been changed for the CD release. Across the top, in a "Roman"-type font is: "The Grateful Dead" and "Anthem Of The Sun" instead of the "flame" font and smaller letters used on the vinyl album. The painting has been given a white background. This original mix version shows a UPC code of 0-7599-27173-2.

The Grateful Dead / Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers 66040) A 1976 release of the first two albums as a double LP set.

2 Originals Of The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers WB66040) This is a two record set released in Germany. The albums are "The Grateful Dead" and "Anthem Of The Sun" in a gatefold package. The front cover shows a standing jester, clad and caped in green, playing a lute left handed.

Anthem Of The Sun - The Grateful Dead (Rhino/WB 74393) This remastered version of the album, taken from the 12 CD "The Golden Road" box set, was released on CD in February, 2003. The cover features the original "flame" font.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead (Purple Fridge Communications, http://www.classicalbums.com, http://www.purplefridge.com) A CD-ROM version of the "Anthem Of The Sun" album, including multi-tracks of the first sixteen minutes of the album, allowing the user to remix the album. Planned for release in March, 2000, but still not released as of February 1, 2006.

Anthem Of The Sun - Grateful Dead ( ) The original mix of the album was released as a 180 gram vinyl record in 2012. The cover features the original "flame" font.

The Twain Shall Meet - Eric Burdon and The Animals (MGM 4537) On this 1968 released album, the song "Monterey", about the Monterey International Pop Festival, mentions the Grateful Dead: "The Grateful Dead blew everybody's mind".

Hair: Original Broadway Cast - var. (RCA Victor 1150) On this 1968 released album, the song "Hair" mentions the Grateful Dead: "Like the Grateful Dead, darlin'".

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1790) The original mix is out of print. Released on June 20, 1969, and possibly as early as May, 1969. The Dead recorded the album between late August, 1968 and early 1969, mostly at Pacific Recording Studios, San Mateo. Peter Grant plays pedal steel on "Doin' That Rag". "The Eleven" was recorded for the album, to be linked with "St. Stephen", but was not included. "Barbed Wire Whipping Party", a round by Robert Hunter, is one of the outtakes from the sessions for this album; it took advantage of multiple delays created on the sixteen track recorder. Other outtakes from these sessions include "St. Stephen" with a cello and with bagpipes. One version of "St. Stephen" features a telephone ringing, it is picked up, and the lyrics are made appear as if they are coming out from the telephone. A rolled silver dollar was used to make the strange sound effect during the "...lady finger..." part of "St. Stephen". The lyrics to "St. Stephen" and to "China Cat Sunflower" were written by Robert Hunter when he was in New Mexico in February, 1966, working as a portrait artist. Hunter had been working on "St. Stephen" before going to New Mexico. The word AOXOMOXOA is a palindrome thought up by artist Rick Griffin. One of the working titles for the album was "Earthquake Country". This was one of the first recording ever made using sixteen-track tape, an Ampex MM-1000 deck at Alembic studios. According to Robert Hunter, "Cosmic Charlie" is not based on Charles "Cosmic Charlie" Bosch, one of the characters on the scene in the Haight, who was 'so cosmic'. "Calico" is based on a woman who was one (and may still be) one of the Hog Farmers. The characters and themes in "St. Stephen" do not appear to be based on any real person of the Sixties; they may all come from Hunter's deep appreciation of English poetry and imagery. In the studio on August 13, 1968, the Grateful Dead played extended versions of "Clementine", "Nobody's Fault", and "The Eleven"; these appear on "The Golden Road" box set. At Alembic Studios in December, 1968, they rehearsed "Turn On Your Lovelight", "Dark Star", "St. Stephen", and "The Eleven". The engineers on the album were Bob Matthews and Betty Cantor. The songs on the albums are: "St. Stephen", "Dupree's Diamond Blues", "Rosemary", "Doin' That Rag", "Mountains Of The Moon"; "China Cat Sunflower", "What's Become Of The Baby", and "Cosmic Charlie". The most obvious indication of the original album is the a cappella singing at the end of "Doin' That Rag". Peter Grant plays pedal steel guitar on "Doing That Rag". "Mountains Of The Moon" was written with a minuet feel to it. For "What's Become Of The Baby?", the melody was composed by Jerry Garcia, and was rather complicated to play, starting in the key of C for the first verse, chorus, and bridge part, then going up to the key of G for the second part, and then to the key of D for the last part. The effect is that the song appears to remain in the same key. The RIAA certified the album as "Gold" on May 13, 1997. The photograph on the back cover was taken by Thomas Weir at Rancho Olompali, possibly in February, 1969. It includes members of the Chosen Family commune, the Merry Pranksters, and the band: Mary McCoy, Noelle "Olompali" Barton, Siobhan Mckendrick (Passero), Sheri Jensen (Mendoza), Jerry Garcia, Phil Lesh, Maura McCoy, Mickey Hart, unknown, Ken Babbs, Simon Babbs, Vince Guaraldi, Cookie Eisenberg, Ron McKernan, Snorter (Mickey Hart's horse), Bill Kreutzmann, Rhonda Jensen, Jon McIntire, Tom Constanten, Stacy Kreutzmann, Paula Sundsten ("Gretchen Fetchin"), Bob Weir, Casa Babbs, Renee Weir (the wife of the photographer), Susila Kreutzmann, and a dog with unknown name.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. Seven Arts WS 1790) The album was also released with a white promo label. Side 1 (S39493) contains "St. Stephen" (4:25), "Dupree's Diamond Blues" (3:40), "Rosemary" (2:02), "Doin' That Rag" (5:15), and "Mountains Of The Moon" (4:15) for a playing time of 19:37. Side 2 (S39494) contains "China Cat Sunflower" (4:15), "What's Become Of The Baby" (8:30), and "Cosmic Charlie" (5:45) for a playing time of 18:30.

The 1969 Warner/Reprise Record Show - var. (Warner Bros. PRO 336) This two record sampler of Warner Brothers artists, released in 1969, was advertised on the inner sleeve of albums. It was available for a nominal two dollar amount. On side 1, track 2 is an abridged version of "Doin' That Rag" (2:20) from the original mix of "Aoxomoxoa". Inside the gatefold, the album is subtitled "The 1969 Warner/Reprise Record Show or Son of Songbook". The cover shows a stain glass stylized scene reminiscent of a movie musical dance number.

Aoxomoxoa - The Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. Seven Arts WST 1790-B) The album was released on 3 3/4 ips stereo reel to reel tape. This was manufactured by the Stereotape Division of the Greentree Electronics Corporation, a Bell & Howell company and exclusively duplicated on American recording tape. Side 1 contains "St. Stephen", "Dupree's Diamond Blues", "Rosemary", "Doin' That Rag", and "Mountains Of The Moon". Side 2 contains "China Cat Sunflower", "What's Become of The Baby", and "Cosmic Charlie". The front and back tape box covers are the same as on the LP album.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros.) Released on eight track tape.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. M5 1790) The album was released on cassette tape.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. - Seven Arts WS 1790) The album was released in Germany. The bottom of the back cover has the Warner Brothers company information for the U.S., and includes the German information in the lower right corner: "Made in Germany TELDEC Telefunken-Decca Schallplatten-Ges. mbH.", "Heussueg 25, Hamburg 19, (Western Germany)". The cover was printed by Ferdinand Bahruth. The vinyl is stamped with "Manufactured in Germany" and the matrix numbers "S-039493" (on Side A) and "S-039494" (on Side B). The label has the "stereo" logo and lists "GEMA S 39 493-REI" (on Side A) and "GEMA S 39 494-REI" (on Side B).

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. P 4529W) The record was released in Japan and includes a lyrics sheet insert. The release has an obi strip.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1790) The remix was released in Fall, 1972. The back cover states "remixed in September, 1971". Most obvious indication of the remixed album is that the a cappella finish to "Doin' That Rag" has been removed. Also dropped are some of the effects on "What's Become Of The Baby?". Stereo dubs, recorded at 7 1/2 ips on reel to reel tape, of the remixed album were made on September 22, 1971; Side One contains "St. Stephen", "Dupree's Diamond Blues", "Rosemary", "Doing That Rag", and "Mountains Of The Moon"; Side Two contains "China Cat Sunflower", "What's Become of The Baby", and "Cosmic Charlie".

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. K46027) A UK release of the album from about 1989.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. 2-1790) The remix was used for the CD, which was released in 1987. On the spine, the band's name is listed as "The Grateful Dead".

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WPCR-2644) CD released in Japan.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead (Rhino/WB 74394) This remastered version of the album, taken from the 12 CD "The Golden Road" box set, was released on CD in February, 2003.

Aoxomoxoa - Grateful Dead ( ) The original mix of the album was released as a 180 gram vinyl record in 2012.

Grateful Dead Aoxomoxoa Jigsaw Puzzle (, 2015) The album art was used on a 300 piece, double-sided (front and back album covers) jigsaw puzzle that is 16 inches by 16 inches when assembled. The puzzle came with interesting information about the album art.

Eagle Mall - Grateful Dead ( ) Robert Hunter wrote the song cycle "Eagle Mall" as a follow-on to some of the themes touched upon in "Aoxomoxoa". This album was not recorded. The lyrics do exist to "John Silver", "Invocation", "Copper", "Lay Of The Ring", "At The Pass", "Eagle Mall", and other songs. Robert Hunter performed a 17 minute long "Eagle Mall" live during his tour of February, 1980, in particular during his performances on February 5, 1980 at Kutztown State College in Kutztown, PA, on February 6, 1980 at My Father's Place in Roslyn, NY, on February 7, 1980 at the Fast Lane in Asbury Park, NJ, and a shortened version on February 22, 1980 at The Barn at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, NJ. A portion of the song cycle appeared in "Grateful Dead Comix - Issue 6" as "Eagle Mall - Part I". "Eagle Mall - Part II" appeared in "Grateful Dead Comix - Number 7", "Eagle Mall - Part III" appeared in "Grateful Dead Comix - Vol. 2, No. 1", and "Eagle mall - Part IV" appeared in "Grateful Dead Comix - Vol. 2, No. 2". All four were illustrated by Timothy Truman.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. 2WS 1830) Released on November 10, 1969. The original release had a four page song book enclosed with the album. "Dark Star" and "St. Stephen" are from February 27, 1969 at the Fillmore West; "The Eleven" and "Turn On Your Lovelight" are from January 26, 1969 at the Avalon; "Death Don't Have No Mercy", "Feedback", and "We Bid You Goodnight" are from March 2, 1969 at the Fillmore West. According to Bear, the tapes were recorded "on a sixteen track Ampex MM-1000 2-inch professional recorder, with a split of the on stage mics going directly into the preamps of the tape machine, not through any mixing desk. This was my idea to reduce the amount of amplifiers the signal went through before being placed on tape. We had special preamps made for the machine to allow enough gain. This was arranged by Ron Wickersham who had worked for the professional audio recorder division of Ampex before becoming involved with the band in mid '68." The "Eight sided whispering..." vocals are the last eight lines from the original version of Hunter's "China Cat Sunflower". Mickey Hart plays guiro, scrapers, and gongs, among other percussion instruments, on "Dark Star". According to Bob Matthews, the album was recorded and mixed to simulate the sound presence of the Avalon Ballroom. On "Dark Star", some of Bob Weir's playing, during the performance, was left off of the final mix. The inside "car" photo was taken by Rosie McGee at around 3pm in the parking lot in the back of Pinkie's Pizza in Novato, near the rehearsal hall; Jack Casady is lying face down on the ground. At the shows used to create this album, Jerry Garcia played a cherry bodied Gibson SG, at times using a Vox Crybaby wah-wah pedal. The RIAA certified the album as "Gold" on August 24, 2001. The album was pressed so that the record one contains Side 1 ("Dark Star) and Side 4 ("Death Don't Have No Mercy", Feedback", and "And We Bid You Goodnight". and record two contains Side 2 ("Saint Stephen" and "The Eleven") and Side 3 ("Turn On Your Love Light"). This allowed both records to be stacked in a record changer, sides 1 and 2 played in sequences, the records flipped over, and then sides 3 and4 played in sequence.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WST 1830 F DP) Released on 3 3/4 ips reel to reel tape. The tapes were made by the Bell & Howell Magnetic Tape Company. The tape label shows the "W7" symbol. Side 1 contains "Dark Star" and "Turn On Your Love Light". Side 2 contains "Saint Stephen", "The Eleven", "Death Don't Have No Mercy", "Feedback", and "And We Bid You Goodnight". The back cover has several black and white photos and the songs, broken down by the layout of the vinyl album sides.

Live/Dead - The Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. 8WJ-1830) The album was released on eight track tape. The label shows the front cover of the album with the album name and group name across the top and the "W7" logo on the right side. The tape body was a light color.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WB 66002) A two record album released in Germany.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WB 7599-27181-1) A two record album released in Germany. The words "The Grateful Dead" have been added to the left side of the front cover.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. P-5014/5W) A Japanese pressing. The front cover has some Japanese writing along the inside right bottom edge. The four page song book is replaced by a four page lyric sheet: page 1 contains the song listing with a photo; page 2 contains the lyrics in Japanese; pages 3 and 4 contain the lyrics in English (including full lyrics to "Turn On Your Lovelight". The lyrics suffer through a translation; e.g., "St. Stephen": "High green surely winds and windy Wings and loops around the twining Shots of lavender are crawling (more) To the sun Wonder who will water All the children's of the garden When they're sad About the barren lack of rain And troops beneath the sky Underfoot the ground is patched With climbing arms Of ivy wrapped around The mexanni of sharp and Shiney in the breeze William Tell has attacked his boat Bit it was back by burning moat And Lord it was a crying shame That nothing could before" The album was wrapped in an obi strip.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers WS1830) The record album was released in 1970 in the UK on the orange Warner Brothers label.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Brothers K66002) The two record album was released in the mid 1970's in the UK on the green Warner Brothers label. The songs are: "Dark Star" (23:15), "Saint Stephen" (6:45), "The Eleven" (9:39); "Turn On Your Love Light" (15:30); "Death Don't Have No Mercy" (10:30), "Feedback" (8:52), and "We Bid You Goodnight" (0:36).

The Big Ball - var. (Warner Bros. PRO 358) This 1970 two-record Warner Brothers sampler has, as the last track on side 4, an edited (6:30) version of "Turn On Your Lovelight" from the "Live/Dead" album. The cover features a big red ball and had a four page insert that was glued inside. The vinyl runout has "39673 PRO358D-1-B". This was released on the green Warner Brothers label. The liner notes are by Richard Goldstein.

The Big Ball - var. (Warner Bros. PRO 358) This was released in 1983 on the cream colored Warner Brothers label.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WB 1830-2) This single CD release includes a 16 page booklet with the lyrics, black and white photos, and artwork. The CD is one continuous piece, whereas the record has breaks between sides One, Two, and Three. Released on CD in 1988.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WPCR-2645) The CD release in Japan.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WPCP-4354) A promotional CD released in Japan. The CD came wrapped in an obi strip and includes a lyrics insert.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Rhino/WB 74395) This remastered version of the album, taken from the 12 CD "The Golden Road" box set, was released on CD in February, 2003. It includes a hidden track of a radio ad for the album: "Hurry, hurry, hurry, step right up...".

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Rhino RHM1 R1 74395) This album was released on two,180 gram, vinyl records on April 22, 2003, at a list price of $24.99, in a limited edition.

Live/Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner 8122736801) This is the two record album that was released in the UK in 2003.

Volunteers - Jefferson Airplane (RCA LSP-4328) Garcia plays pedal steel guitar on "The Farm". Released in November, 1969.

Deja Vu - Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young (Atlantic SD 7200) Garcia plays pedal steel guitar on "Teach Your Children", which was recorded on October 24, 1969. Released in March, 1970.

Workingman's Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WB 1869) Released on June 14, 1970. In the album's front cover drawing, Robert Hunter appears at the left; Bill Kreutzmann is sitting on the steps. The front cover photograph was taken in the Hunter's Point section of San Francisco on a very hot, almost 100 degree, day. The band members are standing in front to Beanie's Place Tavern, located at 1199 Evans Avenue, at the intersection with Keith Street. Across the street, at 1198 Evans Avenue, was the H. Moffat Company, a meat packer, and the Union Products Company, a tallow rendering works. That was an industrial area that has since undergone revitalization; neither of those buildings exist today. The smokestacks and smoke shadows were drawn in later - note that they do not match the shadows cast by the band members. The back cover is upside down on the original releases. In the back cover sketch, take a close look at Garcia's right hand. Stanley "Mouse" Miller took the cover photograph and did all the graphics, including the airbrush sketches for the back cover, which eventually ended up at the Grateful Dead offices in San Rafael. The photographs of Phil Lesh, Bill Kreutzmann, Pigpen, and Mickey Hart that were used for the graphics on the back cover were taken on the roof of a rounded front building at the corner of Castro Street and Market Street, possibly on June 14, 1970. Robert Hunter was also photographed at that location. The album was recorded at the Pacific High Recording Studio, which was located in back of the Fillmore West. Pacific High had a 50 by 50 foot recording space, with 14 foot ceilings, two isolation booths, and much of the equipment built by Ron Wickersham. The sessions started in mid-February, 1970, the album was recorded over a nine day period, and mixed in the first week or two of April, 1970. For the recording sessions, the band was arranged in a half-circle around the drums, resulting in some leakage of the instruments. The songs intended for the album were rehearsed in one to two days, then re-arranged to have a beginning of Side 1, end of Side 1, a beginning of Side 2, and a finale. "Mason's Children" was recorded for this album but was not released; it was intended to be the closing song on the album. It is included on "The Golden Road" box set. An alternate version of "New Speedway Boogie", with Weir singing falsetto, was recorded; it is included on "The Golden Road" box set. On "Cumberland Blues", David Nelson plays a Martin D-18 acoustic guitar from 1940; it had been previously owned by Garcia, who traded it for a Weymann banjo from the Lundberg music store in Berkeley. Garcia plays a Martin D-28 on "Black Peter". "Uncle John's Band" contains a fragment of a Bulgarian tune, music to which Garcia was listening at the time. "Dire Wolf" was written while Robert Hunter and Jerry Garcia were sharing a house on 271 Madrone, in Larkspur, California. The "...please, don't murder me..." lines in "Dire Wolf" were inspired by the "Zodiac Killer", who murdered over a score of people in San Francisco between 1968 and 1978. "Dire Wolf" was recorded on February 16, 1970. The "driving that train, high on cocaine, Casey Jones you better watch your speed" lines in "Casey Jones" had been written down by Hunter in his notebook; he later re-discovered the lines and used them as the hook in the song. The album was produced by Bob Matthews and Betty Cantor. The album reached the Billboard "Top 25" in July, 1970. During the recording sessions, Garcia also played a Martin D-18 acoustic guitar and a ZB pedal steel guitar. The RIAA certified the album "Gold" on July 11, 1974, and as "Platinum" on October 13, 1986. Side 2 contains "Cumberland Blues", "Black Peter", Easy Wind" and "Casey Jones". The "sniffing sound" at the start of "Casey Jones" is Jerry Garcia clearing his airways in preparation to start singing.

Vintage Dead - Grateful Dead (Sunflower/MGM SUN 5001) 1966 Avalon Ballroom performances (possibly September 16, 1966) released in October, 1970. The album contains the songs "I Know You Rider" (4:25), "It Hurts Me Too" (4:17), "It's All Over Now, Baby Blue" (4:50), "Dancing In The Street" (7:55); "In The Midnight Hour" (18:23). The poster, used for the cover of this album, came from the Dead's concert at the Avalon on September 16 and 17, 1966. The "skull and roses" image used for the poster was originally a black and white illustration by Edmund Sullivan which appeared in a 19th century edition of "The Rubiyat Of Omar Khayyam", with Quatrain XXVI. Anton Kelly and Stanley Mouse adapted it for the poster, adding colors and lettering. The album made it to number 127 on the charts. The album covers shows a bottle of "Ripple" wine.

Across the top is printed the "Serie Rock Power" "La Nueva Generacion Electrica" band and the album title and info is printed below that.

American Beauty - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WS 1893) Early releases of this record had a "Grateful Dead" sticker on the shrink-wrap. Released in November, 1970, the album reached the Billboard "Top 30" by the end of December, 1970. The album was recorded in August and September, 1970, in San Francisco, at Wally Heider's Studio, 245 Hyde Street, between Turk and Eddy Streets, with the Blackhawk Jazz Club across the street. Stephen Barncard was the engineer for this album, and mixed it. "Till The Morning Comes" and "Candyman" were recorded in Studio A, and the rest of the album was recorded upstairs in Studio C. Parts of "Friend Of The Devil" were written at Rock Scully's house in Kentfield, California: Robert Hunter brought over the beginning words and John "Marmaduke" Dawson provided the "set out running but I take my time, a friend of the Devil is a friend of mine" line. The lyrics to "Truckin'" was started by Robert Hunter in San Francisco, and finished while touring with the Dead in Florida. Hunter had many verses written for "Truckin'" with the idea that new verses would be added to the song with time. The death of Garcia's mother was the inspiration for "Brokedown Palace". "Box Of Rain" was written for Phil Lesh's father, who was dying. The "...ripples in still waters..." refrain in "Ripple" is a 17 syllable haiku. Robert Hunter wrote the lyrics to "Ripple", "To Lay Me Down", and "Brokedown Palace" in the span of one day while he was in London, England. Most of the album was recorded "live" with Jerry Garcia on acoustic guitar, Phil Lesh on bass, and Bill Kreutzmann on drums. During the recording sessions of the rhythm tracks, Weir and Garcia were sat close together, and baffles were placed around Kreutzmann's drum kit. Barncard used AKG C60 small capsule condenser microphones for the acoustic guitars, placing them in the guitar's sweet spot. On "Truckin'" and "Candyman", the acoustic guitars were routed through a United Audio Model 1176 limiter. On "Box Of Rain", David Nelson plays the electric guitar solo on a Fender Telecaster guitar with a Parsons/White StringBender, David Torbert plays bass, and Phil Lesh plays acoustic guitar. David Grisman plays mandolin on "Ripple" (where he was double tracked) and "Friend Of The Devil". "Friend Of The Devil" starts off with a descending line in G, an ascending line starts in the third bar, and Lesh adds counterpoint. Bob Weir plays a Leslie-speakered electric guitar on "Sugar Magnolia", which was then double tracked. Weir had originally envisioned "Sugar Magnolia" as having a "Cajun" feel to it. Howard Wales plays organ on "Candyman" and "Truckin'", and plays piano on "Brokedown Palace". This is the first album with Ned Lagin, who plays piano on "Candyman". Jerry Garcia plays pedal steel guitar on "Sugar Magnolia" and "Candyman". The vocals on "Attics Of My Life" are double-tracked. Also recording at Wally Heider's at this time were the Jefferson Airplane and David Crosby, recording his first solo album. The title of the album can be read off the front cover artwork, by some use of imagination, as "American Reality". "To Lay Me Down" was rehearsed and recorded, but was not included on the album; it does appear on the "So Many Roads" box set. Frankie Weir is the subject of "Sugar Magnolia". On most of the vocals, Garcia sings the melody, Lesh sings the upper voice, and Weir sings the middle voice. The vocals were recorded using Shure 67 mics, each mic run through its own limiter, and then doubled. Because they could not "double" themselves consistently, when the vocals were double tracked, sometimes the results were six voices. The sixteen basic tracks for "Truckin'" were: 1. Garcia's electric guitar; 2. piano; 3. kick drum; 4. drums left; 5. drums right; 6. snare; 7. organ; 8. bass amplifiers; 9. bass direct; 10. Weir's lead vocals; 11. Garcia's acoustic guitar; 12. Weir's acoustic guitar; 13. Weir's electric guitar; 14. Lesh back-up vocals; 15. Weir back-up vocals; and 16. Garcia back-up vocals. "Truckin'" was recorded in Studio C. Although "Truckin'" fades out on the album, it was played for a few bars more, and then Weir led the band into a 3/4 time jam and a verse of "The Frozen Logger". The album received a "Gold" record award within a year of being released. At the time, Phil Lesh was using a big amplifier for the low end bass, and a small amplifier for middle bass. During the recording sessions, Garcia also played a Martin D-18 acoustic guitar and a ZB pedal steel guitar. Some listeners find a close melodic similarity between "Ripple" and "Any Dream Will Do" from the Andrew Lloyd Webber musical "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat". The RIAA certified the album "Gold" on July 11, 1974, as "Platinum" on October 13, 1986, and as double "Platinum" on August 24, 2001. This album was to be recorded by Alembic but was not. Alembic was signed to record the Grateful Dead and the other groups that were participating in the "Medicine Ball Caravan" film project. When the Grateful Dead declined to partake in the project, the Alembic crew remained with the film project.

A version of "Tamalpais High (At About 3)" (9:03) with David Crosby, Jerry Garcia, and Jorma Kaukonen on guitars, Phil Lesh on bass, and Bill Kreutzmann on drums, was recorded during the December 13, 1970 sessions, but was never released (the version on the album is 3:28 long). The album is 37:04 long. "Cowboy Movie" (8:02) was recorded in Studio C with David Crosby singing and on the electric guitar and electric guitar (double), Jerry Garcia on lead guitar on the left and right, Phil Lesh on bass, Mickey Hart on drums, Bill Kreutzmann on tambourine, and Stephen Barncard recording. The basic tracks for "Tamalpais High (At About 3)" (3:28) were recorded by Maurice Iraci and Allan Zentz of RCA and the additional vocals and Garcia overdubs as well as mix were by Barncard. On this track, Crosby is on electric guitar and vocals, Lesh is on bass, Jorma Kaukonen on lead guitar, Garcia on lead guitar (overdubbed), and Kreutzmann on drums. "Laughing" (5:20) was recorded in Studio C with Crosby on electric and acoustic guitars and vocals, Garcia on pedal steel guitar (overdubbed), Lesh on bass, Kreutzmann on drums and tambourine, and Joni Mitchell doing the "In the Sun" vocals. "What Are Their Names" (4:09) was recorded in Studio C as one live track with Crosby on electric guitar and lead vocal, Garcia and Neil Young on lead guitars, Lesh on bass, and Kreutzmann on drums. The vocal tracks were added the next with David Crosby, David Freiberg, Jerry Garcia, Paul Kantner, Phil Lesh, Joni Mitchell, Graham Nash, and Grace Slick. "Song With No Words" (5:53) was recorded by Allan Zentz of RCA in Studio A, with vocals and Crosby on acoustic guitar recorded by Barncard. On this track, Crosby plays electric and acoustic (overdubbed) guitar and vocals, Graham Nash is on vocals, Garcia and Kaukonen on lead guitars, Greg Rolie on piano, Jack Casady on bass, and Michael Shrieve on drums.

Cross Between - Lamb (Warner Bros. WS 1920) Garcia plays on this 1971 release. On the back cover, it says "Special thanks to Jerry Garcia."

Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. 2WS 1935) Released on September 24, 1971. Merl Saunders appears (overdubbed organ on "Wharf Rat") on this live album. Also known as "Skull And Roses". "Skullf*ck" was a working title for the album, but Joe Smith of Warner Brothers nixed it. This was the band's first gold record. The early releases had a "skull and roses" sticker enclosed with the album. "Johnny B. Goode" is from the "Sufi Benefit" show of March 24, 1971 at Winterland; the first three notes of "Johnny B. Goode" are the last notes of "Greatest Story Ever Told". "Big Railroad Blues" and "Not Fade Away" > "Going Down The Road Feeling Bad" are from April 5, 1971 at the Manhattan Center, New York City. "Big Boss Man", "Mama Tried", and "Wharf Rat" are from April 26, 1971; "Bertha" and "Me And Bobby McGee" are from April 27, 1971; "The Other One" is from April 28, 1971; and "Me And My Uncle" is from April 29, 1971 at the Fillmore East (which was formerly the Loew's Commodore). The "skull and roses" illustration used for the cover of this album was originally a black and white illustration by Edmund Sullivan, which appeared in a 19th century edition of "The Rubiyat Of Omar Khayyam" with Quatrain XXVI. Alton Kelly and Stanley "Mouse" Miller adapted it for the Dead. "Wharf Rat", despite its inclusion of the four-letter "F-word", has not been censored. This album contains those famous words on the inside cover: "Dead freaks unite. Who are you? Where are you? How are you? Send us your name and address and we'll keep you informed."

Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. WST 1925 DP) Released on 3 3/4 ips reel to reel tape. The orange tape label shows the "WB" symbol. The front cover shows the head and shoulders of the rose-wearing skeleton. The back cover provides album and song information.

Garcia - Jerry Garcia (Warner Bros. BS 2582) Kreutzman and Hunter help out on this release. Early releases had a "Garcia" sticker on the shrink-wrap. Some later releases had a red/black advertising insert in the shrink-wrap to cover up the pubic hair. The "NGC" numbers (NGC 205, NGC 891, NGC 300, and NGC 253) correspond to galaxies. Released on January 20, 1972. The album was recorded at the Wally Heider Studios on 245 Hyde Street, San Francisco, in Studio D (upstairs, in the back). Most of the basic tracks were recorded over a 21 day period, with Kreutzmann on drums and Garcia on piano and bass, and Garcia overdubbing them later. "The Wheel" evolved out of a jam, and Hunter wrote the words as the jam session was being recorded. "Eep Hour" (on January 11, 1971) and "Loser" (on January 2, 1971) were practiced at Wally Heider's Studio C with the "Planet Earth Rock And Roll Orchestra". "To Lay Me Down" had been rehearsed and recorded earlier by the Grateful Dead for their "American Beauty" album, but was not included on that album. That version was included on the "So Many Roads" box set. On "Sugaree", Garcia plays a Martin acoustic guitar (probably a D-28) and the electric guitar was routed through a Leslie unit. After the first line in "Bird Song", someone can be heard screaming in the background. An approximately 25 minute long rough mix of the album was recorded at 7 1/2 ips on a seven inch reel on July 7, 1971 and included a 45 second test tone, instrumental versions of "Bird Song", "Piano Rama" (which was not released), "Spider Gawd", "Eep Hour", and "To Lay Me Down", and some studio banter between Garcia and Bill Kreutzmann.

The Whole Burbank Catalog - var. (Warner Bros. PRO 512) This two record Warner Brothers sampler was released in 1972. Mr. Love - Snooky Flowers ( ) An unreleased album by Cornelius "Snooky" Flowers. The album tracks were recorded at the Mickey Hart studio in Novato, possibly between 1972 and 1974. The tracks are: "Mr. Love" (4:05), "Instrumental 1" (3:32), "I've Got You (We've Got Each Other)" (2:29), "You Got To Stay" (2:56), "Instrumental 2" (3:27), "Fighting To Stay Alive" (2:30), "Instrumental 3" (4:31), "Love Is A Mystery" (3:21), and "What Can I Say" (7:09). Jerry Garcia is said to play electric guitar on tracks 1 and 5 and pedal steel guitar on track 8. Mickey Hart is said to play percussion on several tracks. The Days Of Wine And Vinyl - var. (Warner Bros. WB PRO 540) A two record sampler of Warner Brothers artists, released in 1972. It includes "Blind John" by Mickey Hart. The cover shows a white line drawing against a dark background of a man and woman toasting each other with a record player serving as their table. The four page insert that is glued inside has album notes by Barry Hansen ("Dr. Demento").

Fruity - var. (Warner Brothers K26006, 1972) The sampler of Warner Brothers artists was released in the UK. The last track on Side Two is "Big Railroad Blues" performed by the Grateful Dead. The track is taken from the "Grateful Dead" (i.e. the "Skull and Roses") album.

Heavy Turbulence - Merl Saunders (Fantasy Records, Tenth and Parker, Berkeley, CA 94710, Fantasy 8421) Jerry Garcia, Tom Fogerty, John Kahn, and Bill Vitt appear with Merl Saunders on this album released in 1972. Recorded in the Fall, 1971.

Joplin In Concert - Janis Joplin (Columbia, 1972) On Side 2 of this two record release, the three songs by Big Brother and the Holding Company from June 23, 1968 at the Carousel Ballroom ("Road Block" (2:59), "Flower In The Sun" (3:03), and "Summertime" (4:21) were recorded by Augustus Stanley Owsley III ("Bear").

Rambling Rose - Grateful Dead ( ) Robert Hunter had written the songs "He's Gone", "Jack Straw", "Brown Eyed Women", "Ramble On Rose", "Mr. Charlie", and "Tennessee Jed", which he intended for a third studio album that was to be a continuation of the sentiments expressed on "Workingman's Dead" and "American Beauty". This third studio album, tentatively entitled "Rambling Rose", was not recorded. Instead, these songs, recorded live, appeared on the album "Europe '72". "Ramble On Rose" was written in October, 1971, with the band working on the music, during Keith Godchaux's first rehearsals. The words to "Tennessee Jed" were composed when Hunter was in Barcelona, Spain. Hunter was walking down a narrow street, while up ahead, someone was playing a jaw's harp; the words were made up to the sound reverberating off the walls of the houses and the rhythm of the playing. There was a ragtime piano player named "Crazy Otto". In "He's Gone", the "nine mile skid on a five mile ride, hot as a pistol but cool inside" lines allude to Neal Cassady; the "steal your face right off your head" line alludes to ex-manager Lenny Hart and other "shady characters". The characters in "Jack Straw" appear to be derived from several readings, by Bob Weir, of "Of Mice And Men" by John Steinbeck.

Europe '72 - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. 3WX 2668) Released in November, 1972. This three record album includes a color booklet with photos from the tour. The album was heavily overdubbed in the studio, and includes Merl Saunders on organ. The onstage equipment setup was duplicated in the studio, to preserve the ambience, and used for the overdubs. A number of recording defects are present on the album. During the third chorus of "Ramble On Rose", as Garcia sings "...name was Ramble...", a whistling sound is heard. On "Jack Straw", one of the band members yells out. (Note: the "original" Jack Straw, along with Wat Tyler, led a peasant rebellion, which failed, against the English King Richard II (circa 1381). The term "Jack Straw" has, consequently, been used to describe a person who has no property, influence, or worth.) Several of the songs on this album ("He's Gone", "Jack Straw", "Brown Eyed Women", "Ramble On Rose", "Mr. Charlie", and "Tennessee Jed") had been intended for a third studio album which was to be a continuation of the sentiments expressed on "Workingman's Dead" and "American Beauty"; this third studio album, tentatively entitled "Rambling Rose" was not recorded. "Cumberland Blues" is from April 8, 1972. "Brown Eyed Women is from April 14, 1972. "Jack Straw", "China Cat Sunflower" > "I Know You Rider", and "Tennessee Jed" are from May 3, 1972. "Sugar Magnolia" is from May 4, 1972. "He's Gone" is from May 10, 1972. "You Win Again" and "It Hurts Me Too" are from May 24, 1972. "Truckin'" > "Epilogue" > "Prelude" > "Morning Dew" are from May 26, 1972. "One More Saturday Night" is from May 26, 1972. "Ramble On Rose" could be from May 23, 25 or 26, 1972. "Mr. Charlie" could be from May 23, 24, 25 or 26, 1972. Performances of Pigpen's "The Stranger (Two Souls In Communion)" and "Beat It On Down The Line" had been intended for the album, but were not included. The three vinyl record album was sold for $4.99. The working title for the album was "Stepping Out", based on the shoe drawing used on the cover. The RIAA certified the album as "Gold" on December 14, 1972 and as "Platinum" and then as double "Platinum" on August 24, 2001. A rough mix of the album, recorded at 7 1/2 ips on three seven inch reels, listed the song titles as: "SIDE 1: Cumberland Blues, He's Gone, One More Saturday Nite", "SIDE 2: Jack Straw, You Win Again, China Cat - I Know You Rider", "SIDE 3: Browneyed Women, It Hurts Me Too, Ramble On Rose", "SIDE 4: Sugar Magnolia, Mr. Chollee, Tennessee Jed", "SIDE 5: Truckin', Epilogue", and "SIDE 6: Prelude, Morning Dew". This rough mix was produced at Artisan Sound Recorders located in Suite 1516 on 6430 Sunset Boulevard in Hollywood.

Sunfighter - Paul Kantner/Grace Slick (Grunt/RCA FTR 1002) This December, 1971 release includes Jerry Garcia on "Million", "Holding Together", and "When I Was A Boy, I Watched The Wolves".

Be What You Want To - Link Wray (Polydor PD 5047) Garcia plays pedal steel on this 1973 release by the famed rocker. Songs include: "Be What You Want To", "All Cried Out", "Lawdy Miss Clawdy", "Tucson, Arizona", "Riverbend", "You Walked By", "Walk Easy, Walk Slow", "All The Love In My Life", "You Really Got A Hold On Me", "Shine The Light", and "Morning". Besides Link Wray on vocals and guitar and Jerry Garcia on pedal steel, also appearing on the album are Peter Kaukonen, David Bromberg, John McFee, and Commander Cody and His Lost Planet Airmen. The album was recorded at Wally Heider's in San Francisco, in 1973.

Be What You Want To - Link Wray (Phantom Import Distribution) Garcia plays pedal steel on this 1973 release by the famed rocker. Released on CD in 2005.

- Ron McKernan ( ) Pigpen recorded several songs for an album which never was released. Born on September 8, 1945, he died on March 8, 1973, at the age of 27. One song, intended for the solo album, was the Clancy Carlile song "I'm A Loving Man", which was recorded in 1969 at Pacific High Recording, located on Brady Alley, just off Market, in San Francisco. Besides Pigpen, that session included Jerry Garcia, Bob Weir, John Tenney on fiddle, Dennis Parker on bass, and Scott Morris on drums. Pigpen and Weir trade vocals on "I'm A Loving Man". An instrumental version of "Just As Long As You Love Me", with Garcia on pedal steel and Tenney on fiddle, also came from these sessions. The album was to be released, tentatively, on Mercury, or its Smash subsidiary, with Bob Serempa as the A&R person. A few songs, tentatively credited as being slated for Pigpen's solo album, circulate in tape trading circles. On these songs, Pigpen plays acoustic or electric guitar, sings, and plays harmonica and piano. It is not certain whether Pigpen plays all of the harmonica solos or whether they were overdubbed or whether they were played by someone else; the stylization does resemble Pigpen. These generally include: "C. C. Rider" (guitar, vocals, and harmonica overdubbed), "Instrumental" (guitar), "Instrumental" (bright sounding), "Instrumental" (slow tempo), "Instrumental" (slower ending tempo), "Bring Me My Shotgun" (guitar, vocals, and harmonica overdubbed), "Katie Mae" (guitar and vocals), "Bring Me My Shotgun" (guitar, vocals, and harmonica overdubbed), "I Got A Woman" (guitar and vocals), "Hitchhiking Woman" (bottleneck slide guitar and vocals), "Boogie Woogie Blues" (piano), "I Got Two Women" (first verse), "I Got Two Women (Freezing In The Heat Of The Sun)" (guitar and vocals), "When I Was A Boy (Santa Fe Queen)" (guitar and vocals), "Michael" (guitar and vocals), "When I Was Twelve Years Old (Hobo Jungle)" (guitar and vocals), "When I Was Fourteen (Train Yard)" (guitar and vocals), "Katie Mae" (guitar, vocals, and harmonica overdubbed), "Baby, Please Don't Go" > "That Freight Train, Up In The Sky" (harmonica and vocals), "The Devil Is In My Bones (I Believe)" (guitar and vocals), "She's Mine" (guitar and vocals), and "Look Over Yonder (No Tomorrow)" (piano and vocals). According to lore, "C.C. Rider" and "Bring Me My Shotgun" were recorded in 1970, and, in February, 1973, he recorded a Lightning Hopkins song, "She's Mine", as well as "I Believe", "Like A Long Time", and "Michael", at his apartment in Corte Madera, CA.

History Of The Grateful Dead, Vol. 1 (Bear's Choice) - Grateful Dead (Warner Bros. BS 2721) Recorded February 13 and St. Valentine's Day, 1970 at the Fillmore East. Released on July 13, 1973. Bob Thomas based the "marching bear" design on a 36 point lead type printer's slug of a generic bear. About recording this album, Bear said: "There were 14 mics used in all. Except for the vocals, each is in only one of the channels. I don't use any tone controls or equalization. The deck I used in those days was a Sony 770-2 running at 7.5 ips NAB, the tape was Scotch 203 on seven-inch reels.". The label lists the album title as "Bear's Choice: History Of The Grateful Dead (Vol. 1). Side one contains "Katie Mae" (4:46), "Dark Hollow" (3:30), "I've Been All Around The World" (4:40), "Wake Up Little Susie" (2:40), and "Black Peter" (7:20) with a playing time of 22:56. Side two contains "Smokestack Lightning" and "Hard To Handle".

- David Grisman ( ) Jerry Garcia played with David Grisman's group a couple of times (1972-1974?) at the now-defunct San Francisco nightclub called The Boarding House. These were recorded by Bear, but never released.

Wake Of The Flood - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GD 01) Released on November 15, 1973, possibly as early as October, 1973. The recording was mastered in September of 1973. Some of the metal mothers have a date of October 7, 1973 on them, and they were jacketed even earlier, on October 1, 1973. Betty Cantor Jackson supervised the pressing of the record, and some records were pressed in green vinyl and in speckled (green/black) vinyl. Early releases had a sticker on the back shrink-wrap listing the additional artists playing on the record. "Weather Report Suite, Part I" was co-written by Bob Weir and Eric Andersen when Andersen was living in Mill Valley, CA. "Stella Blue" was written by Hunter while the band was staying at the Chelsea Hotel in New York City. Before "Here Comes Sunshine"'s second chorus, one can faintly hear several band members talking. Doug Sahm (who died on November 18, 1999 in Taos, NM) and his bandmates Martin Fierro and Joe Ellis also play on this album. Most of the album was recorded at the Record Plant in Sausalito, California, during August, 1973, roughly between when the Grateful Dead returned from the tour that included the Watkins Glen concert and before they left for the Fall, 1973 tour. Some of the recording sessions took place on August 17, 1973. Matt Kelly plays harmonica on "Weather Report Suite". The song order on side one of the master tape box was originally listed as: "Let Me Sing Your Blue Away", "Mississippi Half Step Uptown Toodeloo", "Stella Blue", and "Row Jimmy". These were re-ordered to: "Mississippi Half Step Uptown Toodeloo", "Let Me Sing Your Blues Away", "Row Jimmy", and "Stella Blue". Side two of the master tape box lists: "Here Comes Sunshine", Eyes Of The World", "Weather Report", "Part 1", and "Part 2".

Get Off - var. (NAPRA NAPRA-1, 1973) A set of radio spots were produced by the National Association of Progressive Radio Announcers (NAPRA) as part of their participation in a "hard drugs awareness movement" anti-drug campaign headed by the Progressive Broadcasting Foundation. This album contains 47 radio spots, 30 to 60 seconds long, recorded by various musicians. The musicians, in the spots, urge listeners to "get off" hard drugs. One of the tracks is by Bob Weir: "19. GRATEFUL DEAD (BOB WEIR) From picturesque San Rafael". Another track is by Spencer Dryden: "29. NEW RIDERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE (SPENCER DRYDEN) From where the drummer sits". The record was provided to NAPRA members as a "not for sale" LP. A second record, entitled "Get Off II" (NAPRA NAPRA-2), was released in 1975, with 51 spots featuring different musicians, including Mel Blanc.

Get Off - var. (NAPRA) Possibly in 2003, a CD, limited to 500 copies, was provided by the National Association of progressive Radio Announcers (NAPRA). The CD contains the 98 spots from "Get Off" and "Get Off II", including the spots by Bob Weir (19. Grateful Dead (Bob Weir): "From picturesque San Rafael") and by Spencer Dryden (29. New Riders of the Purple Sage (Spencer Dryden): "From where the drummer sits"). These spots had been recorded between 1973 and 1975.

- Robert Hunter ( ) Hunter had heard British musician John Perry playing with Peter Perrett and with his own band Over The Hill. In 1974, Hunter recorded an album’s worth of songs with Perry. One of the tracks was “Jack Of Roses”, whose length was about one side of an album, and had a simple rhythm guitar track, many lyrics, and a lead guitar track. The musicians for these sessions would have been Robert Hunter (vocals), John Perry (guitar and vocals), Alan Platt (drums), Peter Roe (guitar and vocals), and Roy Sundholm (bass). These session recordings would have been made at Newbury Farm Mells studios. At the time, Perry’s girlfriend was Maureen, who later married Robert Hunter. None of these sessions have yet been released.

Ratbite Fever - Over The Hill (SPM WWR CD0006, 1990) This album was recorded by British musician John Perry and the same group as had worked on the 1974 sessions with Robert Hunter. It was released in 1990. Robert Hunter may be singing in the chorus on “Ratbite Fever”. The cover art was drawn John Perry’s then girlfriend Maureen, who later married Robert Hunter. On this album, the song “No More Trains”, which is a live recording, is very similar to Hunter's song "That Train Don't Run Here Anymore", which appears on "Tales Of The Great Rum Runners".

Garcia - Jerry Garcia (Round RX 102) Garcia, "Merle" Saunders, and friends appear. Also known as "Compliments Of Garcia" because the words "Compliments of" were printed above the album title on the early, complimentary, copies of the album. Released on June 21, 1974. The original releases of the album have an embossed cover.

Grateful Dead From The Mars Hotel - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GD 102) This album is also known as "Ugly Rumors" (hold the front cover upside-down in front of a mirror to see why). Early releases have 'AUTHENTIC' stamped vertically on the left side of the cover to counter the record bootlegging that was rampant at the time. Released on June 27, 1974. John McFee, of the group Clover, plays pedal steel on "Pride Of Cucamonga", which was written by Phil Lesh and Robert Petersen. Ned Lagin plays the Arp Odyssey on "Unbroken Chain"; there were two takes of his track. "Unbroken Chain" was co-written by Lesh and Petersen. The album also includes "China Doll", "Scarlet Begonias" (first performed on March 23, 1974, and recorded a few days later in the studio) and "U.S. Blues", which had long been performed by the Dead as "Wave That Flag". The Mars Hotel was a hotel for the down-and-out, located at 4th and Howard, south of Market (and near Winterland), and near the CBS recording studios. It has since been torn down; the demolition of the hotel can be seen in "The Grateful Dead Movie". Stanley "Mouse" Miller has the original 8 by 10 photograph, used for the back cover, taken of the band members sitting in the lobby of the Mars Hotel. On the back cover, where the windows show "outer space", in reality, the windows look out on the street outside the hotel. On the front cover, one can spot straws protruding from some of the windows. Jack Kerouac mentions the Mars Hotel in his book "Big Sur". On the master tape boxes, the side one songs are: "U.S. Blues", "China Doll", "Unbroken Chain", and "Loose Lucy"; the side two songs are: "Scarlet Begonias", "Pride Of Cucamonga", Money Money", and "Ship Of Fools". Side 1 of the record contains "U. S. Blues" (4:37), "China Doll" (4:09), "Unbroken Chain" (6:45), and "Loose Lucy" (3:23). The mastering was done by George Horn.

Grateful Dead From The Mars Hotel - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GD 102) After United Artists took over the distribution of Grateful Dead Records, this album was also released in the 'AUTHENTIC' jacket with a United Artists sticker on the back. This has the UA "sunshine" label but also says "1974 Grateful Dead Records. GD-102".

Blues For Allah - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records GD 103) The album was to be released on Grateful Dead records and was assigned their catalog number. The track titles listed on side one of the tape box are: "Help on the Way" / "Slip Knot!", "Franklins Tower", "Kind Solomons Marbles;", "1. Stronger than Dirt", "2. Milkin the Turkey", and "The Music Never Stopped". The track titles listed on side two are: "Crazy Fingers", "Etude", and "Blues for Allah".

Blues For Allah - Grateful Dead (UA/GD LA494G) Released on September 1, 1975. A box of crickets was miked and used throughout the basic track of the second side of the record. Ned Lagin played on the basic tracks for the album, but his tracks were not included on the released album. The songs are: "Help On The Way", "Slipknot!", "Franklin's Tower", "King Solomon's Marbles Part 1: Stronger Than Dirt", "Part 2: Milkin' The Turkey", "The Music Never Stopped", "Crazy Fingers", "Sage & Spirit", "Blues For Allah", "Sand Castles & Glass Camels", and "Unusual Occurrences In The Desert". In preparation for the album, a number of rehearsals were held between February and June, 1975 at the Bob Weir studio in Mill Valley. These sessions generally featured Jerry Garcia, Keith Godchaux, Bill Kreutzmann, Ned Lagin, Phil Lesh, and Bob Weir. On February 27, 1975, the group played "Groove #1", "Groove #2", "A To E Flat Jam", and "Proto 18 Proper". The February 28, 1975 rehearsal saw "Distorto" ("Crazy Fingers" jam), "Stronger Than Dirt" jams, "Girl From Ipanema" jam, "They Love Each Other" jams, and "The Music Never Stopped" jams. On March 17, 1975, the studio session included Ned Lagin's "Birthday" jam and a "Seastones" session with David Crosby. Ned Lagin and the group played on the David Crosby tunes "Low Down Payment" and "Homeward Through the Haze". They jammed on Ned Lagin's tunes for later "Seastones", "Make a Cat Laugh", "Running Home", "No Name", and "A Lost Soul". Additional "Blues For Allah" rehearsals took place in March, 1975, which include practice sessions for the S.N.A.C.K. concert that took place on March 23, 1975; Merl Saunders and David Crosby played at some of these sessions. At the March 21, 1975 session, Ned Lagin played with Merl Saunders, David Crosby, and the Grateful Dead on "Stronger Than Dirt" and "Blues For Allah". The "Blues For Allah" suite was performed live by the Grateful Dead with Ned Lagin on March 23, 1975 at the SF SNACK concert in Kezar Stadium, San Francisco. The March 26, 1975 rehearsal for "Blues For Allah" featured "Lazy Lightning", "Slipknot", and "Blues For Allah", and on "Proto 18 Proper". At the April 2, 1975 session, the group played "The Walk", "Blue Noodle Soup", "Staccato" jam, "Lazy Lightning", "Crazy Fingers", "The Music Never Stopped", and "Help on the Way". The April 17, 1975 rehearsal featured "C.C. Rider", multiple takes of "Stronger Than Dirt", "The Music Never Stopped", and "Tico Tico". The group also performed Ned Lagin's unnamed tunes for later "Seastones" plus songs that were also played on the March 17, 1975 at the "Birthday Jam" session. David Crosby and John Cipollina played with Ned Lagin and the group. At the April 29,1975 rehearsal, Ned Lagin played on "Swing Warm Ups" and "E-A-C" jam. The June 3, 1975 rehearsal saw multiple takes of "Stronger Than Dirt" and "Crazy Fingers". On June 4, 1975, "Franklin's Tower" and "Stronger Than Dirt" were rehearsed. On June 5, 1975, the group played "jam" > "Help On The Way" > "Slipknot". Other sessions in June, 1975 featured Ned Lagin on the Fender Rhodes electric piano playing duos with Jerry Garcia. On the master tape boxes, "Slipknot!" is listed as "slip Knot!" and "Sage & Spirit" is listed as "Etude". The album was originally slated to be released on the Grateful Dead label as "GD 103".

Seastones - Ned Lagin and Phil Lesh (Round RX 106) Released in April, 1975. This album was released in SQ-Quad. Although released on the Round label, the album was distributed by United Artists. Some of the early releases have a small, white with green print, “Ned Lagin and Phil Lesh” sticker on the front cover. Much of the album was recorded at Bob Weir’s studio in Mill Valley, California. The studio had been built by Stephen Barncard, who also recorded some of the tracks for this album. Among the guest musicians on the album is David Crosby. The last track on the album had been recorded in 1970 and 1971, and is composed of processed vocals. On Page 75 of the August 28, 1975 issue (No. 194) of “Rolling Stone” magazine is a very unflattering review of the album by Charles Perry. The tracks on the album are listed as: I (3:30), II (4:02), IIIA (4:38), IIIB (5:36), IVA (0:18), IVB (2:08), VA (0:38); VB (4:40), VI (5:36), and VII (13.34). There was a partial performance of “Seastones” on November 28, 1973 at the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco with Ned Lagin playing the Arp Odyssey, Jerry Garcia, Mickey Hart, and Phil Lesh at the “Experiments in Quadrophonic Sound” concert. The live performance of “Seastones” on June 6, 1975 at Angelico Hall of Dominican College in San Rafael, California featured Ned Lagin, Phil Lesh, Mickey Hart, and Jerry Garcia. The live performances of “Seastones” on September 19, 1975 at the Palace of Fine Arts Theater in San Francisco and on November 15, 1975 at Angelico Hall of Dominican College featured Ned Lagin, Phil Lesh, Mickey Hart, Jerry Garcia, and David Crosby. Two performances (early and late shows) of “Seastones” took place on November 22, 1975 with just Ned Lagin and Phil Lesh at the 390 seat La Paloma Theatre, located at 471 First Street in Encinitas, California. A rough mix of the album was presented on September 13, 1972 to Clive Davis, then at Columbia Records, by Ned Lagin, Phil Lesh, and Jerry Garcia; Davis turned down the album for release. The musicians on the album are: Ned Lagin (piano, clavichord, organ, prepared piano, percussion, synthesizers (Emu Modular, Arp 2500, Arp Odyssey, Electro-Comp, Buchla Modular), and computers (Interdata 7/16 Computer with high speed arithmetic logic unit, Programmable Bioelectronic I/O Microprocessor (Intel 8080, Altair 8800); David Crosby (guitar and vocals); Spencer Dryden (cymbals); David Freiberg (vocals); Jerry Garcia (guitar and vocals); Mickey Hart (gongs); Phil Lesh (bass); and Grace Slick (vocals). A number of “Seastones” sessions and electronic jams took place at Mickey Hart’s ranch in the summer of 1970, 1971, 1972, and 1973. Most of these were recorded but are presumed to be lost or not available. A rehearsal on March 17, 1975 at the Bob Weir studio in Mill Valley included Ned Lagin’s “Birthday” jam and “Seastones” session with David Crosby. Ned Lagin and the group played on the David Crosby tunes “Low Down Payment” and “Homeward Through the Haze”. They jammed on Ned Lagin’s tunes for later “Seastones”, “Make a Cat Laugh”, “Running Home”, “No Name”, and “A Lost Soul”. During the April 17, 1975 session, “C.C. Rider”, multiple takes of “Stronger Than Dirt”, “The Music Never Stopped”, and “Tico Tico” were rehearsed. The group also performed Ned Lagin’s unnamed tunes for later “Seastones” plus songs that were also played on the March 17, 1975 at the “Birthday Jam” session. David Crosby and John Cipollina played with Ned Lagin and the group. Other April, 1975 sessions featured Ned Lagin playing songs with David Crosby that would be used for “Seastones”, utilizing synthesizer, voice, and Echoplex. A number of “Seastones” sessions that took place between February and June, 1975 were recorded but these are presumed lost.

Seastones - Ned Lagin (Rykodisc RCD 40193) Released on January 22, 1991. The CD consists of two tracks. Track one is a live, previously unreleased, six section version (31:05) from December, 1975. The December, 1975 live version consisted of nine segments, six of which are included here. Track two is the original nine sections of “Seastones” (42:34) from February, 1975. This “original” version does not include much of track “IVB” and none of track “VA”, both of which are on the original vinyl release. The CD was to have been released with separate track indicators for each track; this would have allowed for a random play of the “Seastones” composition, there-by creating a new version with each listening.

Seastones - Ned Lagin (Rykodisc, 1991) The album was released on a promotional cassette. The white sleeve with black printing sleeve includes the following information: “ADVANCED CASSETTE: FOR PROMOTION ONLY”, “Ned Lagin”, “SEASTONES”, “RCD 40193”, “Side A”, “December, 1975: The pre-”, “viously unreleased version”, “containing 6 sections. 31:05”, “Side B”, “February 1975: The”, “original Round Records LP”, version containing 9 sec-”, “tions. 42:34”.

Seastones - Ned Lagin (Ryko Analogue RACS 0193-2) The album was also released on cassette, stating on the cover that it was “Compact Disc Quality CDQ”. The cassette contains the same songs as the CD release. It has a UPC of 014431019340. Side 1 is “1. December, 1975”. Side 2 is “1. February, 1975”.

Seastones - Ned Lagin ( ) A two CD release, by Ned Lagin, of the “Seastones” album, with proper tracking and with additional material. Portions of the album were mastered on August 10 and 11, 2004. Additional mastering was done in late 2006. To be released in September, 2015.

Terrapin Station - Grateful Dead (Arista AL 7001) Released on July 27, 1977. Also released as ALB-8329. “Samson And Delilah” is based on an old spiritual, and played in a style close to that of Reverend Gary Davis. “Sunrise” was written by Donna Jean Godchaux. One of the songs from the “Terrapin” suite, “Equinox”, by Phil Lesh and Robert Hunter, with Garcia on lead vocals, was recorded but never released, as there was not enough room on that side of the record to include it. Mickey Hart’s timbale solo on “Terrapin Flyer” was erased by Keith Olsen and replaced with strings. “Passenger”, by Phil Lesh, was inspired by “Station Man” by Fleetwood Mac (“Kiln House”, released September 18, 1970); the tempo has been sped up and it has some different chord changes. Garcia’s unique guitar sound on “Estimated Prophet” was achieved by utilizing an envelope filter. “Estimated Prophet” is in seven time. Jerry Garcia was practicing the music for “Terrapin Station” during the editing sessions of “The Grateful Dead Movie”. The RIAA certified the album as “Gold” on September 4, 1987. Some vinyl pressings include various engravings in the run out area, such as “Kendum III” (usually on both sides of the recording), “If it rolls sink it”, “Poco” with a heart shape, and “Where do you keep your stereo Jer?”. Side 1 of the album contains “Estimate Prophet”, “Dancin’ In The Streets”, “Passenger”, Samson & Delilah”, and “Sunrise”. The album was recorded at Sound City Studios, 15456 Cabrito Rd., Van Nuys, CA 91406, (213) 787-3722 and (213) 873-2842. Keith Olsen produced the album. The master reels were recorded at 30 ips. Master reel one contains: “Estimated Prophet”, “Dancin In Da Street”, “Passenger”, Samson & Delilah”, and “Sunrise”. Master reel two contains: “Terrapin Station”, “1. Lady With A Fan” (4:20), “2 Terrapin Station” (2:12), “3 Terrapin” (2:12), “Terrapin Transit” (:35), “At A Siding” (1:48), “Terrapin Flyer” (2:56), and “Refrain” (2:18), for a total time of 16:19.

Terrapin Station - Grateful Dead (Arista AL 7001) Released on July 27, 1977. There is a “Specially Banded For Airplay” version with the “Terrapin” side pressed with bands separating the songs. The cover features a black cat. "Midnite the Cat" was on a TV show called "Andy's Gang", which Weir had watched as a small child. Weir sketched the cat, and Victor Moscoso made the drawing on the album cover. "Haze" (5:08) was written, more or less, as a eulogy for Weir's friend Bruce Baxter. "Too Many Losers" (3:50) had several working titles, including "F*ckin' With Fire" and "Stokin' With Fire", but Weir was told by Clive Davis of Arista Records to tone down the title. It was written for a couple of Weir's friends. "Far Away" (3:34) was developed over a Matthew Kelly riff, played around with by Weir and Bobby Cochran. "Book Of Rules" (3:31) was previously recorded by The Heptones, and that version appears to be based on a poem "A Bag Of Tools" by R. L. Sharp. The lyrics to "Me Without You" (3:12) were originally written by Alphonso Johnson, then rewritten by Bob Weir, and finally by John Perry Barlow. As originally written by Bob Weir, "Josephine" (6:11) has more verses than were recorded. "(I Want To) Fly Away" (3:55) was written with Bob Marley in mind. "Carry Me" (4:27) is a simple love letter. "Festival" (4:59) was written over a span of several years.

- Go Ahead ( ) This unreleased album includes "Nobody's", written by Brent Mydland, which was broadcast on the "Grateful Dead Hour". Members included: Jerry Cortez (guitars), Bill Kreutzman (drums), Alex Ligertwood (vocals), Brent Mydland (keyboards and vocals), and Dave Margen (bass). http://members.home.net/aligertwood/news.htm

- Brent Mydland ( ) Mydland recorded and mastered a solo album, but it was never released. Intended for this album were "Tons Of Steel", with Monty Byron on guitar, a rock arrangement of "Maybe You Know", "Nobody's", "Long Way To Go", and "Dreams". Betty Cantor-Jackson did the engineering and production for this album. Other songs possibly intended for this "album" are "Inlay It In Your Heart", "See The Other Side", and "Take One". These comprise about 40 minutes of music. Some of the tapes that circulate in trading circles list a date of February 25, 1982. A tape of the original version of "Tons Of Steel" was played during the intermission of the Dead's June 21, 1984 broadcast from Toronto. Brent Mydland authored several songs, including "Fire", in 1987. Songs, in collaboration with John Perry Barlow, include "You're Still There", "Love Doesn't Have To Be Pretty", "It Doesn't Matter", and "It Is What It Is". Songs, in collaboration with Matt Kelly, include "If That's The Way", "Over And Over", and "Shining Dawn".

In The Dark - Grateful Dead (Arista AL 8452) According to Arista, released July 9, 1987. Available in stores on July 6, 1987. Only the cassette version of this release includes "My Brother Esau", inserted at the end of what is side one of the album. The "eyes" on the front cover are printed right side up. "Tons Of Steel" was originally recorded by Brent Mydland for his unreleased solo album. More that 100,000 right side up covers, in all formats, were printed. "Day Job" was intended for this album, but was not included, probably due to the poor audience response to the song when it was performed live. The album reached number seven on the charts. Much of the album was recorded "live" on stage at the Marin County Veteran's Auditorium. David Gans added a few lines of lyrics: "I had that "shipping powders" couplet in my notes for a song of my own, and I thought it would fit right into "Throwing Stones" so I gave it to Bobby, and he liked it enough to plug it in! My other contribution was changing "You imagine me kissing the toe of our boot" to "You imagine me sipping champagne from your boot." "Black Muddy River" is an examination of life at forty-five years old. "Touch Of Grey" reached number 9 on the Billboard "Hot 100 Singles" list in September, 1987. The RIAA certified the album as "Gold" on September 4, 1987, as "Platinum" on September 18, 1987, and as double "Platinum" on August 10, 1995. Among the sound effects used on "Hell In A Bucket" are a leather bullwhip, provided by one of the crew, which was used as a percussion instrument and appears in the chorus and is panned, motorcycles, and dogs. "West L.A. Fadeaway" was described by Garcia as a "blues tune", "more or less straight ahead", and "with a snakey quality". "Push Comes To Shove" was described by Garcia as "just a good old rock and roll shuffle". "Black Muddy River" was released as played at the Marin Civic Center. The vault tape box for "When Push Comes To Shove" indicates "REEL 18 #2". The original lyrics for "Black Muddy River", dated September 14, 1986, also included verses that later became part of "Silvio". To get good photographs for the cover, during the photo shoots for the "eyes", the subjects sat approximately one to two feet away from the camera and flash units. The single eye belongs to Bill Graham. On the master tapes, the songs on reel one are: "Touch Of Gray" (5:46), Hell In A Bucket" (5:38), "Push Comes To Shove" (4:04), and "West L.A. Fadeaway" (6:38). The songs on reel two are: "Tons Of Steel" (5:16), "Throwing Stones" (7:17), and "Black Muddy River" (6:01). Side 1 of the album contains "Touch Of Gray" (5:47), Hell In A Bucket" (5:35), "When Push Comes To Shove" (4:05), and "West L.A. Fadeaway" (6:39).

Built To Last - Grateful Dead (Arista AL-8575) This turned out to be the Grateful Dead's final studio album. Released on Halloween, 1989. The album was released with a sticker on the front: "The Dead stack the deck...", and a "Built To Last" merchandise order form. The album version does not include Brent Mydland's "We Can Run". "Victim Or The Crime" was written by Bob Weir and actor Gerrit Graham; the melody is a paraphrasing of a section of a work by Bela Bartok. Included is Brent Mydland's "I Will Take You Home", written for his daughters Jennifer and Jessica. Some of the album was recorded at George Lucas's Skywalker Ranch studios. "Believe It Or Not", "Gentlemen, Start Your Engines", and "Sh*t Happens" (entitled "Tough Changes" by Robert Hunter in his book "A Box Of Rain") were recorded as demos for this album, but were not released. Initially, the band recorded much of the album at Marin County Veteran's Auditorium, as was done for "In The Dark"; these recordings were not used. The album recording was started in late April, 1989. Most of the songs were developed by first determining an appropriate tempo for the song, recording an enhanced click track (with a drum machine), Weir, Mydland, Lesh, and Garcia establishing an appropriate layout and length, and then each band member worked on their parts individually. This allowed each musician to work, separately, with the same tempo and performance. On "Victim Or The Crime", numerous mechanical and industrial sound samples were used, including breaking lightbulbs on the twos and fours and different stampers being sampled on every other four of a four bar rhythm pattern. "I Will Take You Home" features only Mydland, Lesh, Hart, and Garcia, with Garcia playing a brief MIDI-guitar "horn", which is in the pocket trumpet or piccolo trumpet range. On "We Can Run", most of the background vocals are the band, tripled; on one portion, Mydland is singing melody, and he is doubled to sing the solo. Garcia's MIDI-guitar was recorded in a conventional manner, with mics placed close to and about three feet away from the amplifier. For "Foolish Heart", the vocals were downplayed to make them an element of the music. "Standing On The Moon" was written in 1988. The album was recorded using the Dolby SR noise reduction system. The RIAA certified the album as "Gold" on January 3, 1990. The album contains "Foolish Heart" (5:10), "Just A Little Light" (4:42), "Built To Last" (5:03), "Blow Away" (6:09), "Victim Or The Crime" (7:33), "We Can Run" (5:30), "Standing On The Moon" (5:20), "Picasso Moon" (6:40), and "I Will Take You Home" (3:45). As part of the promotion package sent to radio stations was a six page press pack with extensive biographical material and a 8 x 10 publicity photo, as well as a deck of the playing cards. On the master tape boxes, the song titles are listed as: "Built To Last", Just A Little Light", "To A Foolish Heart", "Picasso Moon", "I Will Take You Home", "Standing On The Moon", "We Can Run But We Can't Hide", "Victim Or The Crime", and "Blow Away".

If Six Was Nine - Alan Duffy and others (Imaginary Records COMM 18CD, Imaginary Records, 28 Hopwood Avenue, Hopwood, Heywood, Lancashire OL10 2AX England, telephone Heywood (0706)624616, and The Communion Label, P.O. Box 95625, Atlanta, GA 94117) This English album of Jimi Hendrix cover versions includes "If Six Was Nine" by The Obsequious Cheeselog, with Bob Weir on vocals and rhythm guitar, Gary Lambert on bass, Henry Kaiser and Glenn Phillips on guitars, and Mark McQuade-Crawford on drums. According to Gary Lambert: "the band's name was actually Obsequious CheeseLOG, not "Cheesecake". We actually performed around Northern California a number of times under that name with Henry, Mark and I as the nucleus and various friends joining us. "Obsequious Cheeselog" was just a name we came up with one day as we were idly kicking around parody names for a 60's psychedelic band."

Heart's Desire - The Henry Kaiser Band (Reckless RECKD 19, Reckless Records, 1401 Haight St., San Francisco, CA 94117) This live record includes Tom Constanten on a version of "Dark Star > A Love Supreme > Dark Star". Released in March, 1990. A few bars of "Dark Star" and "China Cat Sunflower" are played at the end on "Are You Experienced".

Heart's Desire - The Henry Kaiser Band (Reckless Records, 1401 Haight St., San Francisco, CA 94117) The CD has fewer selections than the double album.

A Night On The Town - Bruce Hornsby and the Range (RCA/BMG 2041-1) Jerry Garcia plays on "Barren Ground" and "Across The River". Released in June, 1990.

Without A Net - Grateful Dead (Arista AL3 8634) A live album recorded during the Spring, 1990 tour, with some vocals re-dubbed in the studio. Released September 25, 1990 as a three record, two cassette, and two CD package, this is the world's grandest, largest, best live recording (or so the sticker on the release package says). On the cassette and CD releases, "Bird Song" follows "Cassidy", while on the record, "Bird Song" precedes "One More Saturday Night". The album is deadicated to Clifton Hanger (a.k.a. Brent Mydland). The probable performance dates are: "Feel Like A Stranger" (October 9, 1989), "Mississippi Half-Step Uptown Toodeloo" (March 21, 1990), "Walkin' Blues" (October 23, 1989), "Althea" (March 15, 1990), "Cassidy" (February 25, 1990), "Bird Song" (March 25, 1990), "Let It Grow" (March 14, 1990), "China Cat Sunflower/I Know You Rider" (April 1, 1990), "Looks Like Rain" (March 28, 1990), "Eyes Of The World" (March 29, 1990) (vocals probably overdubbed), "Victim Or The Crime" (March 21, 1990), "Help On The Way > Slipknot! > Franklin's Tower" (March 30, 1990), "One More Saturday Night" (March 24, 1990), and "Dear Mr. Fantasy" (April 1, 1990). The RIAA certified the album as "Gold" on November 27, 1990.

Trios - Rob Wasserman (MCA/GRP MGD 4021) Jerry Garcia (piano) and Edie Brickell (vocals) play on "Zillionaire" and also on "American Popsicle". Bob Weir plays on "Easy Answers". Bruce Hornsby and Branford Marsalis play on "White-Wheeled Limousine". The CD was released in April, 1991. An outtake of "American Popsicle" from this album, featuring Rob Wasserman, Edie Brickell, and Jerry Garcia, was recorded on December 16, 1989 at the Club Front. On this outtake, which features Edie Brickell's voice heavily reverb-ed, Garcia plays a MIDI guitar, in organ-like and then bassoon-like tones, and quotes a "wassail" song, a round, called "A'soalin" that appears on the Peter, Paul and Mary album "Moving" from 1962. That melody is familiar to Scouts as a campfire song: "Hey, hoo, the campfire's lit, all around the fire we sit, merrily we sing this song..."

Trios - Rob Wasserman (MCA / GRP WGRM 40222, February, 1994) This promotional CD contains three tracks from the "Trios" album: "Fantasy Is Reality / Bells Of Madness" (with Brian Wilson and Carnie Wilson), "White-Wheeled Limousine (with Bruce Hornsby and Branford Marsalis), and "Easy Answers" (with Bob Weir and Neil Young).

The group includes Vince Delgado (who was in Diga), and features Ali Jihad Racy. Music For Little People is a company that sells music and musical instruments for children.

A Box Of Rain - Live 1990 - Robert Hunter (Rykodisc RCD 10214) Released on August 20, 1991. As Hunter says: "The nine live tunes are from my December '90 tour. Direct recordings were made of all the shows but audience tapes cut on Dr. Sam's DAT recorder (last night of the tour, The Warfield, S.F.) were generally juicier than the board tapes. The three board tapes I did select were "Deal" from the same night, recorded by Chris Kathman, and "Franklin's Tower" and "Space" from Boston, recorded by Bill Blaine. The three studio cuts that begin and end the album were engineered by yours truly. All cuts on the album are 2-track stereo without overdub. Joe Gastwin EQ'd, plucked some clicks and pops off the tracks and smoothed the transitions during mastering." The album contains: "Box Of Rain" (a studio version recorded for this album), "Scarlet Begonias" (studio recording), "Franklin's Tower", "Jack Straw", "Brown Eyed Women", "Reuben and Cerise", "Space", "Deal", "Promontory Rider", "Ripple", "Boys In The Barroom", and "Stella Blue" (a studio recording).

Planet Drum - Mickey Hart (Rykodisc RCD 10206) A musical companion to Mickey Hart's book "Planet Drum". Released on September 24, 1991 (official date is October 1, 1991). Mickey Hart went on a book signing tour in the Fall of 1991.

- Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead) Early in 1995, the Grateful Dead began recording their next studio album. By March, 1995, most of the basic instrumentals and working vocals tracks had been recorded. Jerry Garcia was not present for most of these sessions, although some of his guitar tracks had been recorded. The album was to consist of songs that had been performed live and were considered mature enough for album release: "Liberty", "So Many Roads", "Samba In The Rain" (written by Vince Welnick), "Long Way To Go Home" (written by Vince Welnick), "Corinna", "Days Between", "Wave To The Wind" (by Phil Lesh), "If The Shoe Fits", "Childhood's End", "Easy Answers", and other songs, possibly "Lazy River Road", "Eternity", and "So Many Roads". Phil Lesh had made a demo of "Wave To The Wind", which included drum patterns, two MIDI keyboards, horns, a bass, and a vocal. "If The Shoe Fits" had been rehearsed at Lesh's home. A rehearsal tape of "Days Between" includes Garcia on vocals. Additional studio time was scheduled for May, 1995. "So Many Roads" was written on piano by Jerry Garcia.

The Pizza Tapes - Jerry Garcia, David Grisman, and Tony Rice (Acoustic Disc ACD 41, April 25, 2000, http://www.dawgnet.com) The infamous "pizza tapes": urban-legendarily, Jerry Garcia gave a cassette recording of these sessions to a pizza delivery boy in lieu of a monetary payment for the pizza. Closer to the truth, someone illicitly acquired a copy of these recording sessions from 1992 and made copies available to the taper's community. These tapes were traded so much that the sessions were finally released. The CD includes a "hidden" track: "House Of The Rising Sun" (5:39) ends at 5:39, is followed by some studio banter (to 5:52), followed by about 30 seconds of silence, followed by some studio banter about Tony Rice and his playing style and Clarence White, followed by Garcia playing on Tony Rice's guitar, and ending at 8:03.

Pickin' On The Grateful Dead - Vol. 2 - var. (CMH 8525) A second in the series of bluegrass covers of Grateful Dead songs. Released in June of 2000.

New Train - Paul Pena (Hybrid Recordings 20019) This album was recorded in 1973 and finally released on September 26, 2000. It includes a somewhat "Bertha"-sounding "Venutian Lady" (4:43) with Jerry Garcia (on pedal steel guitar) and Merle Saunders. Paul Pena met Jerry Garcia during the Dead's show at Clark University in Worcester, Massachusetts on April 20, 1969. Paul Pena passed away in the Fall of 2005.

Might As Well - The Persuasions (Grateful Dead GDCG 4070) Released October 10, 2000. Some of the rehearsals were at the Dance Studio of Park Slope, in Brooklyn, New York, on May 19, 2000 ("Might As Well", "One More Saturday Night", "It Must Have Been The Roses", and "Brokedown Palace"). Recording sessions started on May 28, 2000, at Bay Records in Berkeley, with "I Bid You Good Night" and "Sugaree". On May 29, 2000, "Liberty" was recorded and Cynsa Bonorris (of Mary Schmary) added a harmony line. Also, Peter Rowan added his parts of "Sugaree". On May 30, 2000, the basic tracks for "It Must Have Been The Roses", "Might As Well", and "Brokedown Palace" were recorded. On May 31, 2000, "Lazy River Road", except for the Eric Thompson mandolin solo, was recorded. The basics for "Ripple" was also recorded. On June 1, 2000, the overdubs for "Ripple" were recorded, as was "Loose Lucy", with multi-tracked voices and minus the lead vocal. On June 2, 2000, Peter Grant added the steel-like Zephyr ten-string acoustic dobro overdub (in a slightly flattened F) on "It Must Have Been The Roses". The basic tracks for "He's Gone" was also recorded. On June 3, 2000, Eric Thompson recorded the mandolin solo on "Lazy River Road" and the mandolin rhythm in the last section of "Ripple". "One More Saturday Night" with Vince Welnick and "vocal percussionist" Andrew Chaikin were also recorded that day. The first take of "One More Saturday Night" was used for the album. Basic tracks for "Ship of Fools" were also recorded. On June 4, 2000, "Ship Of Fools" was recorded. Also recorded were the tracks with the members of the group Mary Schmary: "I Bid You Good Night", "He's Gone", "It Must Have Been The Roses", and human-voiced trumpet and trombones on "Might as Well". Also recorded was the six-piece "Here Comes Sunshine" intro, the end of "Ripple", and the basic tracks for "Ship of Fools". "Stella Blue" was recorded on June 5, 2000, as were Vince Welnick and Andrew Chaikin on "Bertha". On June 6, 2000, the lead vocals for "Loose Lucy" were recorded. Also recorded was "One More Saturday Night". The final version of "Loose Lucy" is the basic tracks, speeded up by 8% (a semi-tone rise in pitch). "New Speedway Boogie" was also recorded. "Stella Blue" was planned for the album, and started twice, but was not included. The disc was mastered during the last week of August, 2000. Robert Hunter's comment about the album: "You done me and Jerry proud". A program about the making of this album, "Persuading the Dead: The Persuasions Sing the Grateful Dead" was broadcast on "Lost & Found Sound" on Friday, October 20, 2000, on NPR's "All Things Considered". The fruit crate label inspired artwork is by Randy Tuten.

The live recordings were made between September 30, 1999 and October 1, 1999, at Twenty North in St. Louis.

Ladies And Gentlemen... The Grateful Dead - Grateful Dead (Arista 4075) Released on October 10, 2000. This four CD album contains selections from the Dead's April 25 to 29, 1971 shows at the Fillmore East. This release was originally planned as a 15 CD boxed set (three CDs per jewel case per show) of all five nights. During the preparations for this album, it was discovered that many songs were unusable. When the Dead were making "Skull And Roses", songs from this series of shows were considered for that album. These songs were physically removed from the master reels and placed on individual tape reels. The individual reels were then used for overdubs, etc. This resulted in several songs being partially overdubbed and not completed (i.e. the vocals may have been erased and not re-dubbed, etc. Additionally, several songs that appear on "Skull And Roses" ("Wharf Rat" from April 28, 1971, "The Other One" from April 28, 1971, and others) could not be used for this album. Of the 128 songs that were available, 41 appear on this album. From April 25, 1971: "Next Time You See Me", "Beat It On Down The Line", "Second That Emotion", "Good Loving", "Sugar Magnolia", and "China Cat Sunflower" > "I Know You Rider". "Sing Me Back Home" is from April 26, 1971. From April 27, 1971: "Casey Jones", "Uncle John's Band", "Turn On Your Lovelight". From April 28, 1971: "Me And My Uncle", "Cumberland Blues", "Me And Bobby McGee", "Bird Song", "I'm A King Bee", "Ain't It Crazy (The Rub)", "Loser", "El Paso", "Dark Star" > "St. Stephen" > "Not Fade Away" > "Going Down The Road Feeling Bad" > "Not Fade Away", and "Wharf Rat". From April 29, 1971: "Trucking", "Bertha", "It Hurts Me Too", "Minglewood Blues", "Ripple", "Dark Hollow", "Morning Dew", "Hard To Handle", "Alligator" > "Going Down The Road Feeling Bad", "Cold Rain And Snow", "In The Midnight Hour", and "And We Bid You Goodnight". The songs were mixed from the two inch, 16 track tapes, with some clean-up performed on the sound. The black and white stage photos are from Madison (March 14, 1971), Milwaukee (March 21, 1971), and Chicago (pp. 2 and 5, August 23, 1971). Bill Graham's introduction and his "tribute and tirade" speech before "In The Midnight Hour" on April 29, 1971 came from the two track master reels that were surreptitiously recorded by Buddy Miller, who had recorded most of the April, 1971 Fillmore East run. These shows were recorded by getting a feed from the soundboard, which was located in an upstairs balcony box on stage left, and running it to a nearby broom closet, where it was mixed down on two small Shure line mixers and recorded on a mid-range line Sony deck onto BASF 90 minute reels at 7 1/2 ips, with a consumer Dolby B unit used. "Beat It On Down The Line" with Duane Allman (from April 26, 1971) had been mixed for the album, but permission could not be secured to release it. The RIAA certified the album as "Gold" on January 16, 2002. The original lettering for the front cover utilized a computer based font that was not reproducing properly against the tie-dye background. This was replaced by the free form lettering done by Randy Tuten.

Here Come The Noise Makers - Bruce Hornsby (RCA 69308) This two CD collection of live recordings includes "Mandolin Rain" > "Black Muddy River" and "Lady With A Fan". Released on October 24, 2000.

This was originally intended for, but left off, the "So Many Roads" box set.), a "Terrapin Station" > "Playing In The Band" > "Terrapin Station" jam (2:54) (September 26, 1990 rehearsal at Club Front, San Rafael, CA. Recorded by John Cutler), and a David Gans produced "Greatest Story Ever Wrote" (7:53), with commentary by Mickey Hart, Robert Hunter, and Bob Weir, from February, 1985.

Dick's Picks Volume 20 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD 4040) Released January 23, 2001. This four CD release contains selections from the September 25, 1976 show at the Capital Center in Landover, Maryland and the September 28, 1976 show at the Onondaga County War Memorial in Syracuse, New York. "All Over Now" (from September 25, 1976) and "Bertha" (from September 28, 1976) were not included because of irreparable flaws in the master tapes. In keeping with the spirit of the dates, the cover features the SYF-lightning bolt superimposed over fall foliage, with a crescent moon and migrating geese in the bolt. The cover art and design are by Tina Carpenter. Available for mail order on January 17, 2001.

Don't Let Go - Jerry Garcia Band (Arista 14078) Released January 23, 2001. This album features a live recording from the May 21, 1976 show at the Orpheum Theatre in San Francisco. Dick's Picks Volume 22 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD 4042) Released on June 4, 2001. Two CDs from the February 22, 23, and 24, 1968 shows at King's Beach Bowl, a bowling alley in Lake Tahoe, California. Portions of some of the songs played at these shows were used in the making of the "Anthem Of The Sun" album. This includes "Feedback", from February 24, 1968 (on disc two), where one can listen for the siren sound heard at about 3:17. The cover features the SYF lightning bolt with "Lake Tahoe" inside of it, superimposed over a winter mountain scene. The cover art and design are by Tina Carpenter. The show had been recorded on six or seven 10-inch reels, at 15 ips, on two track, quarter-inch tape. The reels labeled "One" and "Two" were missing all the vocals and one of the drummers, probably Bill Kreutzmann, and appear to be from the February 22, 1968 show. The reels from what was felt to be the February 23, 1968 show were used for disc one. The reels from what was felt to be the February 24, 1968 were used for disc two.

The Golden Road (1965-1973): The Complete Warner Brothers Recordings - Grateful Dead (Rhino/Warner Bros. Rhino R2 74401 / Grateful Dead GDCD 4240) A 12 CD boxed set, list priced at 150 dollars. It consists of ten CDs-worth of remastered albums - the Grateful Dead's releases on the Warner Brothers label - plus two CDs of "Roots Of The Dead" with pre-Warner Brothers Grateful Dead and live Grateful Dead from that era. Released on October 16, 2001. The remasters are HDCD encoded. The remastered albums were released individually in October, 2002. Disc 1 ("Birth Of The Dead") contains material by The Emergency Crew Demo plus Scorpio sessions: "Early Morning Rain", "I Know You Rider", "Mindbender (Confusion's Prince)", "The Only Time Is Now", "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)", "Can't Come Down", "You Don't Have to Ask", "I Know You Rider", instrumental and vocal takes of "Stealin'", "Don't Ease Me In", "Tastebud", "Cardboard Cowboy (No Left Turn Unstoned)", and "Cold Rain And Snow". Also included is "Fire In The City" with Jon Hendricks. Disc 2 ("Birth Of The Dead") includes 15 live tracks from July, 1966: "Viola Lee Blues", "Don't Ease Me In", "Pain In My Heart", "Sitting On Top Of The World", "It's All Over Now, Baby Blue", "I'm A King Bee", "Big Boss Man", "Standing On The Corner", "In The Pines", "Cardboard Cowboy", "Nobody's Fault But Mine", "Next Time You See Me", "One Kind Favor", "He Was A Friend Of Mine", and "Keep Rolling By". Each of the remastered Warner Brothers albums contains additional tracks. On "Grateful Dead" are included the full length versions of "Good Morning Little School Girl", "Sitting On Top Of The World", "Cream Puff War", "Morning Dew", and "New, New Minglewood Blues", as well as: "Alice D. Millionaire", "Overseas Stomp (Lindbergh Hop)", "Tastebud", "Death Don't Have No Mercy", and an edited studio take and a live, 23 minute version of "Viola Lee Blues". On "Anthem Of The Sun" are included: "Alligator" > "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" > "Feedback" live from August 23, 1968 (which had originally been intended for the "Two From The Vault" release), and a hidden track (9) single version of "Born Cross-Eyed" (2:54). The original mix of "Anthem Of The Sun" was used for the box set. On "Aoxomoxoa" are included "Clementine Jam", "Nobody's Spoonful Jam", a 15 minute "The Eleven Jam" recorded live in studio, and a live concert version of "Cosmic Charlie". The remixed version of "Aoxomoxoa" is included in the box set because the tapes of the original mix could not be found. On "Live/Dead" are a hidden track (8) of the "Dark Star" (2.41) single and a hidden track (9) of a one minute (1:00) radio spot for the album. On "Workingman's Dead" are included: alternate mix of "New Speedway Boogie", live tracks of "Dire Wolf", "Black Peter", "Easy Wind", "Cumberland Blues", "Mason's Children", "Uncle John's Band", and a hidden track (16) of a 30 second (0:30) radio spot for the album. On "American Beauty" are included a single version of "Truckin'", and live tracks of "Friend Of The Devil", "Candyman", "Till The Morning Comes", "Attics Of My Life", "Truckin'", and a hidden track (17) of "Ripple" (2:55) and a hidden track (18) of a one minute (1:00) radio spot for the album. On "Grateful Dead (Skull And Roses)" are included live versions of "Oh Boy!", "I'm A Hog For You", and a hidden track (14) of a one minute (1:00) radio spot for the album. On "Europe '72" are included: "The Stranger (Two Souls In Communion)", "Looks Like Rain" (with Jerry Garcia playing pedal steel guitar and Lesh singing harmony), "Good Lovin'" > "Caution" > "Who Do You Love" (from April 14, 1972), and a hidden track (11) of the "Yellow Dog Story" (3:08). On "History Of The Grateful Dead, Vol. 1 (Bear's Choice)" are included more tracks from the Fillmore East shows of February, 1970: "Good Lovin'", "Big Boss Man", "Smokestack Lightnin'" (Version Two)", and "Sitting On Top Of The World". The box set comes with an 80-page book chronicling the history of the band and "The Compleat Grateful Dead Discography" of the Grateful Dead releases on the Warner Brothers label. The RIAA certified the box set as "Gold" on November 14, 2001.

Steppin' Out With The Grateful Dead: England '72 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead/Arista GDCD 14084) A four CD box set of performances from the Dead's Spring, 1972 tour of Europe. Included in the box set are some anecdotal items from the tour, etc. Released on July 9, 2002. CD One: "Cold Rain and Snow", "Greatest Story Ever Told", "Mr. Charlie", "Sugaree", "Mexicali Blues", "Big Boss Man", "Deal", "Jack Straw", "Big Railroad Blues", "It Hurts Me Too", "China Cat Sunflower" > "I Know You Rider", "Playing in the Band". CD Two: "Good Lovin'", "Ramble On Rose", "Black Throated Wind", "Sitting On Top Of The World", "Comes A Time", "Turn On Your Lovelight" > "Going Down The Road Feeling Bad" > "Not Fade Away" > "Hey Bo Diddley" > "Not Fade Away" (May 23, 1972). CD Three: "Rockin' Pneumonia And The Boogie Woogie Flu", "Black Peter", "Chinatown Shuffle", "Truckin'" > "Drums" > "The Other One" > "El Paso" > "The Other One" > "Wharf Rat" (April 7,1972), "One More Saturday Night". CD Four: "Uncle John's Band", "The Stranger (Two Souls in Communion)", "Dark Star" > "Sugar Magnolia" > "Caution" (April 8, 1972), and "Brokedown Palace". The tour was recorded using one sixteen track recorder, using 14 inch reels of 2 inch wide tape, running at 15 ips, and recording an hour of music per tape. For the recording of "Trucking" (from April 7, 1972), the mics were fed into a mic pre-amp and then into the sixteen track recording console. The sixteen tracks are: 1. bass drum; 2. tom tom and cymbal; 3. snare; 4. other drums; 5. high hat; 6. and 7. bass guitar; 8. Garcia's guitar; 9. Weir's guitar; 10. Pigpen's organ; 11. piano; 12. Garcia vocals; 13. Weir vocals; 14. Lesh vocals; 15. Pigpen vocals; 16. not recorded, but typically would have been the audience. For the mix to replicate the stage positions, the drums and bass were placed in center, Garcia was panned to the left, Weir to the right, Pigpen to the left, and Keith Godchaux to the right. Although segued together, "Going Down The Road Feeling Bad" is from the May 7, 1972 show and "Not Fade Away" is from May 23. 1972. This was done due to reel problems at the end of "Going Down The Road Feeling Bad".

Steppin' Out with the Grateful Dead: England '72 Album Sampler - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records, 2002) A single CD sampler, intended for in store play, it contains: "Trucking", "Sugaree", "Mr. Charlie", "Uncle John's Band", "The Stranger (Two Souls In Communion)", and "One More Saturday Night". The cover art was similar to the album release cover art.

Dick's Picks Volume 25 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD 4045) Released in July, 2002. Four CDs of music taken from the May 10, 1978 show in New Haven, and from the May 11, 1978 show in Springfield. The May 10, 1978 show had been recorded on reels by Bear. Due to reel changes, his recordings had some music missing. The missing portions were "fixed" by taking these sections from the reels recorded by Betty Cantor-Jackson, whose reels were missing music in different areas, also due to reel changes.

Spiral - The Non-Prophets (http://www.thenonprophets.com, July, 2003) Vince Welnick plays on three of the songs.

View From The Vault III - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD 4087) Three CDs of music from the June 16, 1990 show at Shoreline Amphitheater, with additional music from the October 3, 1987 show. Released in August, 2002.

Live From Bonnaroo - var. (Sanctuary 60768457423, September 24, 2002) This two CD release includes "Tennessee Jed" performed by Phil Lesh and Friends with Bob Weir, recorded during the three day Bonnaroo Music Festival, June 21, 22, and 23, 2002, at the Adelphia Coliseum in Manchester, Tennessee.

Dick's Picks Volume 26 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD 4046) Released on October 1, 2002. The music is highlights from April 26, 1969 (Disc One: "Dupree's Diamond Blues" through "I Know It's A Sin") and the complete April 27, 1969 show. The cover shows a brown wrapped package, the postmarks are the show dates, and the stamp providing info about the release, a motif that will be used through Dick's Picks Volume 30. The stamp design is by Bob Minkin. It is based on a 1934 Guatemala stamp, with the skeleton family in the middle taken from a photograph he took in Mexico. The reel to reel master recording of the April 27, 1969 show was missing some music. These cuts were fixed using the cassette master recording that Bear had made of that show.

Go To Nassau - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead/Arista GDCD 14085, October 22, 2002) A two CD "from the vault" compilation taken from the May 14, 15, and 16, 1980 shows at the Nassau Coliseum. The title is a play on "Go To Heaven", because six of the songs from that album, which were also played often during that tour, appear on this release. The shows were recorded on 2 inch, 24 track, analog tapes, and these were mixed and remastered in HDCD. This album includes the first live release of "Far From Me" by Brent Mydland. Some of the material released on this album may also have been broadcast on the "King Biscuit Flower Hour" in June, 1980.

Go To Nassau - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead) A single CD sampler was made available in July, 2005. This sampler was sent when one purchased the set of "Dicks Picks Volume 1" to "Dicks Picks Volume 35" from the dead.net site.

Go To Nassau - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead/Arista GDPCD-5202) This is a promotional CD with the following tracks taken from the album: "Jack Straw", "Franklin's Tower", "Lazy Lightning", "Supplication", and "Althea".

The Deep End Volume 2 - Gov't Mule (BMG/Ato Records 21507, October 8, 2002) As a tribute to bassist Allen Woody, who died in August 2000, various bass players appeared on this album, including Phil Lesh and David Grisman (on mandolin) on "Lay Of The Sunflower", which was co-written by Robert Hunter. This is the second volume; the first was released on October 23, 2001. http://www.mule.net http://www.atorecords.com 88 Keys To Tomorrow - Tom Constanten (Gaff Music 821767051124, October 22, 2002) This is a compilation of previously unreleased live and studio recordings. Track 20 is a live version of "Dark Star", recorded at the Somerville Theater in Somerville, Massachusetts, when Constanten was on tour, opening for Robert Hunter.

Tears Like Rain - Delta Wires (Delta Wires 802385, December 17, 2002) Vince Welnick plays on this release.

CoolTur - The Hellbillies (http://www.hellbillies.com, 2002) This CD, released in Norway, includes "Hinmann Og Eg" (a translated version of "Friend Of The Devil". The Norwegian translation is by A. Moslatten.

Dick's Picks Volume 27 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD 4047) Released in January, 2003, this three CD set is taken from the December 16, 1992 show at the Oakland Coliseum Arena, with four tracks ("Throwing Stones", "Not Fade Away", "Baba O'Riley", and "Tomorrow Never Knows") from December 17, 1992.

View From The Vault IV - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD xxxx) Released on April 8, 2003. This release features just the Grateful Dead at Oakland Stadium on July 24, 1987 and at Anaheim Stadium on July 26, 1987. Bob Dylan is not included on the CD release.

Dick's Picks Volume 28 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead GDCD 4048) Released in April, 2003, this four CD set is taken from the Lincoln, Nebraska show on February 26, 1973 (two CDs) and Salt Lake City, Utah show on February 28, 1973 (two CDs). On the master recording used for of one "Eyes Of The World", there was missing a portion of the music. Rather than splice the two segments and possibly cause an abrupt shift in the music, a short, approximately 30 second segment, was taken from an "Eyes Of The World" that had been recorded at a performance earlier during that week.

Birth Of The Dead - Grateful Dead (Rhino/WB 74391) This two CD release, taken from the 12 CD "The Golden Road" box set, was released on March 25, 2003.

Birth Of The Dead - Volume Two (The Live Sides) - Grateful Dead (Friday Music 217440, November 10, 2014) The album was released on two 180 gram vinyl records. Side 1 contains "Viola Lee Blues", "Don't Ease Me In", and "Pain In My Heart". Side 2 contains "Sitting On Top Of The World", "It's All Over Now, Baby Blue", and "I'm A King Bee". Side 3 contains "Big Boss Man", "Standing On The Corner", "In The Pines", and "Nobody's Fault But Mine". Side 4 contains "Next Time You See Me", "One Kind Favor", "He Was A Friend Of Mine", and "Keep Rolling By".

Ultimate Summer Rock - var. (Madacy 169, February 4, 2003) This compilation CD includes "Sugar Magnolia" from the Grateful Dead's "American Beauty" album.

Moldy Peaches 2000: Unreleased Cutz and Live Jamz 1994 - 2002 - The Moldy Peaches (Rough Trade 83217, March 18, 2003) This 55 track double CD album includes a live cover version of "Friend Of The Devil". http://www.moldypeaches.com/

Guitar Party - Henry Kaiser and Glenn Phillips (Gaff Music 4618, April 8, 2003) This album consists of fifteen tracks that were recorded during a one week period in January, 1990. Bob Weir makes an appearance on the Jimi Hendrix song "If 6 Was 9", which then transitions into the jam "Guitar Party" (10:35).

Worcester, MA 4/4/73 - New Riders Of The Purple Sage (Kufala KUF0032, http://www.kufala.com) A two CD "vault" release of the NRPS show from April 4, 1973 at Clark University in Worcester, MA. Keith Godchaux plays on all tracks and Donna Jean Godchaux sings on "Long Black Veil" and "You Ain't Woman Enough." Announced on May 23, 2003 and available for shipping on May 28, 2003.

The Road To California - The Cyrus Clarke Expedition (www.ranchrecording.com, Ranch Recording, P.O. Box 91932, Santa Barbara, California 93190, 2003) This album, recorded between December 20, 2001 and February 9, 2002, includes "Dire Wolf" (5:32).

Dick's Picks Volume 35 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records, June 17, 2005) This four CD release includes the complete August 7, 1971 show in San Diego, portions of the August 24, 1971 show in Chicago, and over an hour from the August 6, 1971 show at the Hollywood Palladium. The source of these recordings were the tapes given to Keith Godchaux so he could learn the music prior to his joining the Grateful Dead, and had been stored at his parents houseboat in Alameda, California since the late summer of 1971.

Dick's Picks Vol. 31 - 35 Sampler - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records DECD290, 2005) This sampler contains eight tracks: "Scarlet Begonias" (from August 5, 1974 in Philadelphia) and "Eyes Of The World" (August 6, 1974 in Jersey City) from "Dick's Picks Volume 31","Let It Grow" (from August 7, 1982 in Alpine Valley) from "Dick's Picks Volume 32", "Might As Well" and "Samson And Delilah" (from October 10, 1976 in Oakland) from "Dick's Picks Volume 33", "Jack Straw" (from November 5, 1977 in Rochester) from "Dick's Picks Volume 34", and "Cumberland Blues" (from August 7, 1971 in San Diego) and "Empty Pages" (from August 24, 1971 in Chicago) from "Dick's Picks Volume 35". The cover has the graphics from "Dick's Picks Volume 31", except in a more orange-yellow hue.

Truckin' Up To Buffalo - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records, July 5, 2005) A two CD release of the Grateful Dead show of July 4, 1989 at Rich Stadium in Buffalo, New York. The release is a stereo mix made from the master multitrack tapes and is mastered in HDCD.

Warner Theatre, March 18, 1978 - Jerry Garcia Band (http://jerrygarcia.com, August, 2005) A two CD release of the early and late shows at the Warner Theater Music Hall in Washington, D.C. on March 18, 1978. The late show had been broadcast on WHFS, an FM radio station in Bethesda, Maryland. The cover art shows the setlist, handwritten by Garcia. For the first pressing of this release, one coupon was inserted into one of the packages, allowing that person to redeem the coupon for the original setlist from Jerry Garcia's personal journal. This album is "Pure Jerry 6" in this series of vault releases.

The Jerry Garcia Collection, Volume 1: Legion Of Mary - Jerry Garcia (Grateful Dead/Rhino, June 28, 2005) A two CD release of selections from various Legion Of Mary performances. Playing in the band were Merl Saunders, Martin Fierro, John Kahn, and Ron Tutt.

Absolute Mary - Legion Of Mary - Jerry Garcia (Rhino, 2005) This sampler was included with pre-orders of "The Jerry Garcia Collection, Vol. 1: Legion Of Mary" made through the jerrygarcia.com website. It contains the following tracks: "Boogie On Reggae Woman" (from the Keystone in Berkeley on March 15, 1975), "Every Word You Say" (from the Keystone in Berkeley on May 22, 1975), "LOM Jam" (from the Great American Music Hall in San Francisco on February 27, 1975), "It's No Use" from the Oriental Theater in Milwaukee on April 19, 1975), "Wicked Messenger" (from the Great American Music Hall in San Francisco on May 15, 1975), and "Sittin' Here In Limbo" (from the Great American Music Hall in San Francisco on February 27, 1975).

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 1 - 4/30/77 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, April 5, 2005, http://www.gdstore.com) The first offering in the "Download Series" was the April 30, 1977 show at the Palladium in New York City. The release fits on three audio CDs. The audio files were made available in the lossily-compressed 128 KBPS MP3 and 256 KBPS MP3 formats and the losslessly-compressed FLAC format, with each download format being priced accordingly. The artwork for the front cover and the jewel case insert was also made available for download as Adobe Acrobat PDF files. Upon purchasing the download, the purchaser was provided with an access to the download web site. After starting the download, the purchaser had a 48 hour time period to complete the download, resolve download problems, etc. The MP3 files playable as downloaded. The downloaded FLAC files could be decompressed to audio WAV files and burned onto audio CDs. The downloaded cover artwork could be printed out, cut out, folded, and inserted into jewel cases. New releases in the "Download Series" are made available at http://www.gdstore.com on the first Tuesday of each month.

Out Beyond Ideas - David Wilcox and Nance Pettit www.outbeyondideas.org/, September, 2005) Bill Kreutzmann appears on this CD release produced by Ric Hordinski. The CD was retail released on September 27, 2005.

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 2 - 1/18/70 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, May 3, 2005, http://www.gdstore.com) The January 18, 1970 show at Springer's Inn in Portland, Oregon was made available for download. The release fits on one audio CD.

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 3 - 10/26/71 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, June 7, 2005, http://www.gdstore.com) The October 26, 1971 show at The Palestra in Rochester, New York was made available for download. The release fits on two audio CDs.

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 4 - 6/18/76 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, July 5, 2005, http://www.gdstore.com) This download release fits on three audio CDs. The first two CDs contain the nearly complete June 18, 1976 show from the Capitol Theater in Passaic, New Jersey. The third CD features bonus tracks from the June 21, 1976 show at the Tower Theater in Philadelphia ("Scarlet Begonias", "Lazy Lightning" > "Supplication", and "Candyman"), the June 22, 1976 show at the Tower Theater in Philadelphia ("Playing In The Band" > "Drums" > "The Wheel" > "Playing In The Band"), and the June 28, 1976 show at the Auditorium Theatre in Chicago ("High Time").

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 5 - 3/27/88 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, August 2, 2005, http://www.gdstore.com) The entire March 27, 1988 show at the Hampton Coliseum in Hampton, Virginia was made available for download. The release fits on three audio CDs. Due to technical problems with the master soundboard digital tapes, the first two songs were taken from the "Ultra-Matrix" (a mix of the soundboard and audience recording) tapes and the remainder are from the soundboard master.

Dick's Picks Volume 35 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records DECD 289, August, 2005) This three CD release includes performances from August 7, 1971 in San Diego, August 24, 1971 in Chicago, and August 6, 1971 in Hollywood.

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 6 - 3/17/68 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, September 6, 2005, http://gdstore.com) The March 17, 1968 show from the Carousel Ballroom in San Francisco was made available for download. The release fits on one audio CD. It contains "Turn On Your Lovelight", which is all that was usable from the first set, and the complete second set.

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 7 - 9/3 & 4/80 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, October 4, 2005, http://gdstore.com) This download release fits on three audio CDs. The first two CDs contain the entire September 3, 1980 show in Springfield, Massachusetts. The third CD contains only the second set from the September 4, 1980 show in Providence, Rhode Island; the first set was not available in the vault.

Pure Jerry Sampler: Vols. 1 To 6 - Jerry Garcia (Rhino Entertainment Company PJSUMSAMP05, 2005) This CD sampler contains six tracks that had been released on the first six albums of the "Pure Jerry" series. The tracks are: "Cats Under The Stars" (from "Pure Jerry 5"), "Friend Of The Devil" (from "Pure Jerry 1"), "Keystone Jam" (from "Pure Jerry 4"), "Mission In The Rain" (from "Pure Jerry 6"), "Deal" (from "Pure Jerry 3"), and "Ripple" (from "Pure Jerry 2").

The Very Best Of Jerry Garcia - Jerry Garcia (Rhino, September 26, 2006) This two CD release contains performances by Jerry Garcia that are not with the Grateful Dead. Disc one features selections from his studio albums. Disc two features live performances. All of the live performances have been previously released except for "Dear Prudence" (11:38), which comes from a 1979 performance with the band Reconstruction.

More Of The Best - Jerry Garcia (Rhino, 2005) This bonus CD was included with pre-orders of "The Very Best Of Jerry Garcia". It contains three tracks: "That's What Love Will Make You Do" (from May 21, 1975 with the Legion of Mary), "The Night They Drove Old Dixie Down" (from July 24, 1977 with the Jerry Garcia Band), and "Dire Wolf" (from June 3, 1984 with John Kahn).

Twisted Radio Waves - Jerry Garcia / Dr. Demento (Warner Bros./Rhino, 2006) This 55:11 long CD contains an interview of Jerry Garcia by Dr. Demento from 1972. Bob Weir and Barry Kearson also are heard briefly. It includes selections from the "Garcia" solo album and "American Beauty". The tracks are: "Opening", "The Wheel", "Interview Pt. 1", "Deal", "Interview Pt. 2", "Bird Song", "Interview Pt. 3", "Eep Hour", "Sugaree", "Interview Pt. 4", "Late For Supper", "Interview Pt. 5", "Loser", "Interview Pt. 6", "Truckin'", "Interview Pt. 7", "To Lay Me Down", and "Deal - Closing". This was distributed with pre-orders of the "The Very Best Of Jerry Garcia" album.

Garcia Plays Dylan - Jerry Garcia (jerrygarcia.com/Rhino, October, 2005) This two CD release showcases Jerry Garcia performing songs of Bob Dylan with the Grateful Dead, the Garcia-Saunders Band, Legion of Mary, and the Jerry Garcia Band, with performances from 1973 to 1995. Of the fifteen tracks, all except for one have not been previously released. Blair Jackson and Peter McQuaid produced the compilation.

Garcia Plays Dylan - Jerry Garcia (Warner Bro. UK, 2005) This album is a promotional release by Warner Brothers (UK). It was released as two CDs. It appears that the discs may be CDRs.

It contains three tracks: "It Takes a Lot to Laugh, It Takes a Train to Cry" performed by Jerry Garcia and John Kahn at Neighbors of Woodcraft in Portland, Oregon on June 4, 1982; "Tears Of Rage" by the Jerry Garcia Band at the Greek Theater in Berkeley on August 5, 1990; and "Going, Going, Gone" by the Legion Of Mary at the Keystone in Berkeley on May 22, 1975.

Grateful Dead Download Series: Volume 8 - 12/10/73 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Productions, November 8, 2005, http://www.gdstore.com) The December 10, 1973 show at Charlotte Coliseum in Charlotte, North Carolina was made available for download. The release fits on two audio CDs.

Solo Electric - David Gans (Perfectible PERF-05, http://www.dgans.com, 2005) This sampler CD includes "Like A Dog" (4:52), written by Robert Hunter and David Gans.

Fillmore West 1969 - Grateful Dead (Rhino/Grateful Dead Records R2 73193, November 1, 2005) This three CD compilation release is essentially a "best of" taken from the 10 CD box set released by Grateful Dead Records. The songs on this release were selected so that they would not duplicate the performances used on the "Live/Dead" album. This release includes a booklet that is similar to, but not the same as, the one included in the 10 CD box set. CD One contains: "Morning Dew", "Good Morning Little Schoolgirl", "Doing That Rag", "I'm A King Bee" (all from February 28, 1969); "Cosmic Charlie" (from February 27, 1969); and "Turn On Your Lovelight" (from February 28, 1969). CD Two contains: "Dupree's Diamond Blues", "Mountains Of The Moon" (both from March 1, 1969); "Dark Star", "St. Stephen", "The Eleven", and "Death Don't Have No Mercy" (all from February 28, 1969). CD Three contains: "That's It For The Other One", "Alligator", "Drums", "Jam", "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)", "Feedback", and "We Bid You Goodnight" (all from March 2, 1969).

Fillmore West 1969 - Grateful Dead (Rhino/Warner 8122731932) This three CD compilation was released in the UK.

Fillmore West 1969 - Grateful Dead (Rhino/Warner) This three CD compilation was also released as a promotional item in the UK.

Fillmore West 1969 - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records DECD 291, November 22, 2005) A ten CD box set release containing the February 27, 1969, February 28, 1969, March 1, 1969, and March 2, 1969 shows at the Fillmore West in San Francisco. The box set was only available by pre-order from the dead.net website, with a limited pressing of 10000 copies. The serial number "No. xxxx" was stamped with gold foil inside a white box on the back. The box set was sold out by approximately Labor Day, 2005, before the ordering deadline was met. The box set was put together and mastered by Jeffrey Norman. The source material was the 16 track Ampex analog tape recordings made by Bob Matthews and Betty Cantor. Patches from the two track reels, with a cassette back up, recorded by Augustus Stanley Owsley ("Bear") were used to patch tape flips, etc. Cassette sources were used for patching "Turn On Your Lovelight" (from March 1, 1969) and for "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" (from March 2, 1969). Some reel patches were made in "Dark Star" (from February 28, 1969) and the "Caution" jam (from February 28, 1969). Other reel patches were used for the February 28, 1969 show in "Turn On Your Lovelight", "Dark Star" (in the second verse), and "Alligator". Due to the variety of sources and slight speed variations with the sources and tape machines, most of the patches were not crossfaded but were butt spliced. The mastering approach was to mix down to 1/2 inch tape and master from that. The path would be: two track tape deck to compressor to equalization to a HDCD Model 2 for analog to 24 bit digital conversion to a Sonic Solutions audio work station. The HDCD Model 2 was initially used to perform the analog to digital conversion and then it was used to perform the HDCD process (a proprietary dithering that gets the 24 bits down to 16 bits), adding 1 to 2 dB of peak extension, etc. Included with the box set is a booklet with an essay by Dennis McNally and numerous photos by Rosie McGee, Herbie Green, Peter Simon, Michael Merritt, Baron Wolman, Amalie Rothschild, Suanne Skidd, and Sylvia Clarke Hamilton. Pre-orders for the box set also received a bonus CD containing "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" from June, 1968, three songs from June 8, 1969, and three songs from February 7, 1970. The box set was packed in a plum colored box containing the booklet "Fillmore West 1969: The Complete Recordings" and the four albums. The booklet, which is 76 pages long, is similar to, but not exactly the same as, the one included in the 3 CD compilation. The album "Grateful Dead Fillmore West February 27, 1969 CD 1 & 2" (Grateful Dead Records DECD 291-A) was packaged in a wine-colored album. Underneath the first CD (A 5813 DECD2911 C51004-01 A) tray is a photo of Bob Weir. Underneath the second CD (A 5813 DECD2912 E51004-11) tray is a photo of Mickey Hart. The album "Grateful Dead Fillmore West February 28, 1969 CD 3, 4 & 5" (Grateful Dead Records DECD 291-B) was packaged in a spruce-colored album. Underneath the third CD (A 5813 DECD2913 F51004-01) tray is a photo of Phil Lesh sitting in a chair. Underneath the fourth CD (A 5813 DECD2914 E51004-06) tray is a photo of Bill Kreutzmann sitting in the same chair. Underneath the fifth CD (A 5813 DECD2915 C51004-02) tray is a photo of Jerry Garcia sitting in a "crafts" style chair. The inside back page has a photo of Lesh sitting in the "crafts" chair with Hart standing behind him. The album "Grateful Dead Fillmore West March 1, 1969 CD 6 & 7" (Grateful Dead Records DECD 291-C) was packaged in a root beer-colored album. Underneath the sixth CD (A 5813 DECD2916 D51004-01A) tray is a photo of Tom Constanten. Underneath the seventh CD (A 5813 DECD2917 D51004-06) tray is a photo of Ron McKernan. The album "Grateful Dead Fillmore West March 2, 1969 CD 8, 9 & 10" (Grateful Dead Records DECD 291-D) was packaged in a coffee-colored album. Underneath the eighth CD (A 5813 DECD2918 E51004-01A) tray is a photo of Garcia with his eyes closed. Underneath the ninth CD (A 5813 DECD2919 E51004-07) tray is a photo of Pigpen sitting in the "crafts" chair. Under the tenth CD (A 5813 DECD29110 D51004-08) tray is a photo of Lesh sitting in the "crafts" style chair. The inside back page has four photos of Garcia, Weir in the "crafts" chair, Weir, and Lesh in the "crafts" chair.

Fillmore West 1969 Bonus Disc - Grateful Dead (Grateful Dead Records A 5813 DECD299 D51005-09, November 17, 2005, http://dead.net) Pre-orders for the "Fillmore West 1969" box set received this bonus CD containing: "(x) Turn On Your Lovelight" > "Caution (Do Not Stop On Tracks)" (from June 14, 1968); "He Was A Friend Of Mine" > "China Cat Sunflower" > "New Potato Caboose" (from June 8, 1969); and "China Cat Sunflower" > "I Know You Rider" > "High Time" (from February 7, 1970). At the end of "Caution", some of band members are introduced, with Bill Kreutzmann being introduced as "Mister Bill Sommers". The type face on this CD is the same as that used on the "Fillmore West 1969" box set, except that this CD has a "light show" background.

Note: Donna Jean Godchaux also appears on numerous albums under her maiden name, Donna Jean Thatcher. Before joining up the Dead, she was a backup singer at the famed Muscle Shoals studios in Alabama. Donna sings on Percy Sledge's "When A Man Loves A Woman". She also appears on Elvis Presley's "In The Ghetto", "Suspicious Minds", "Cold Kentucky Rain", and "Long Black Limousine" (along with members of the Allman Brothers Band and Lynyrd Skynyrd as backup musicians). She was deleted from the final mix of the Rolling Stones' "Gimme Shelter" (from "Let It Bleed") because it was felt that she took the spotlight away from Mick Jagger's singing. Donna also sings backup on Lowell George's band Little Feat song "Dixie Chicken" and on Gary Rossington's band Lynyrd Skynyrd song "Sweet Home Alabama".

Boz Scaggs - Boz Scaggs (Atlantic SD 8239) Donna Jean Thatcher sings backup on all songs except "Now You're Gone". Duane Allman plays on the album and also appears in the photo on this 1969 release. This was the second album by Boz Scaggs. The album was remixed in 1977 to enhance the presence of Duane Allman and released in 1978 as Atlantic SD-19166; that version was also released on CD. The original mix of the album was released on 180 gram vinyl LP record on the Friday Music label in 2008.

Mother Earth Presents Tracy Nelson Country - Mother Earth (Mercury SR-61230) This third album by the group was recorded in Nashville in 1969. It includes Elvis Presley sidemen guitarist Scotty Moore and drummer D. J. Fontana, and Donna Jean Thatcher on background vocals. The album was produced by Pete Drake, Scotty Moore, and Travis Rivers. It was released on CD in 1996 (Reprise Records ?946233-2 and Reprise Records 2-46233).

Note: Dan Healy produced a number of records from late 1969 to early 1972, including some for Mercury Records. Some of the records that Healy worked on include: some of the Sir Douglas Quintet, Tracy Nelson and Mother Earth, The Charlatans, Harvey Mandel's first two albums, Dr. John's second album, "Cauldron" by The Fifty Foot Hose (Limelight Records LS 86062, released around 1968, producer and engineer), and Quicksilver Messenger Service's "Fresh Air" and "What About Me" albums.
